Nature's Balance.
Getting Foreign Trade.
Another Waldorf.
A Boy's Mainspring.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IT IS dangerous to interfere with nature's balance, one thing killing others, all kept in bounds.

Yakima County, Wash., offered a bounty to exterminate hawks and owls, and thousands were killed, to protect game birds and poultry.

INVESTIGATION by government experts, examining hawk and owl interiors, found that the birds lived on snakes, grasshoppers, field mice and ground squirrels, all dangerous to man—especially the ground squirrels that spread bubonic plague.

YAKIMA has withdrawn the bounty.

Kill off coyotes and foxes and you encourage a plague of field mice and jack rabbits. Montana made that discovery. The wise plan is to destroy the objectionable creatures by scientific means. Get rid of small vermin and the bigger nuisances will disappear.

HOW to get foreign trade is an important question for American manufacturers, especially automobile makers.

General Motors' plan is to buy up important European factories, continue their output and graft Chevrolet, Cadillac, etc., on the foreign plant. Ford, on the contrary, starts Ford plants from the ground up.

NEWSPAPER publishers know that it is wise to buy a going concern. It diminishes "local resistance."

General Motors has bought the biggest automobile plant in Germany, and is supposed to have secured another plant in Italy.

If Mr. Sloan, now in Europe, could get Morris in England and Citroen in France, he might have a formidable "General Motors of Europe."

NEW YORK'S Waldorf-Astoria, soon to be torn down, will rise again, 40 stories high, with 2,000 rooms, on Park avenue. The building, planned by Schultze & Weaver, architects, will be built by L. J. Horowitz's Thompson-Starrett Company. It is proposed, as usual, to eclipse all other hotel construction.

IT IS only fair to tell Mr. Boomer, who builds the new hotel, that another is planned, 60 stories high. He should go higher than 40 stories. Americans like to live and sleep as high up as possible.

WHEN this writer built the Ritz Tower, 42 stories high, on Park avenue, it was, by far, the highest structure ever built for human habitation. Agents and builders said, gloomily, "You will hardly rent the upper stories in the tower. The height will frighten tenants."

The top stories were rented first, before the building was finished, and at a new apartment rental of $11 a square foot.

DR. H. F. CLARK, professor of education at the Teachers' College, says college education interferes with a boy's chance to earn a living. It sends him into professions overcrowded and robs him of "daring" necessary to success.

THAT will comfort parents unable to send boys or girls to college. The important thing for a human being is to think for himself and to take his mental mainspring, unbroken, into the world fight.

Any system of education, religion or society that forbids youth to think for itself is a handicap.

AT a meeting arranged by Thomas Lamont, of Morgan & Co., Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, New York's health commissioner, started a drive on diphtheria.

Forty-eight diphtheria prevention clinics were opened, and in two months diphtheria deaths had diminished by 32.3 per cent.

WITH use of antitoxin and the Schick test, diphtheria might conceivably become as slight a menace as smallpox or leprosy. The main danger is that children, when ill, play with cats and other animals. Those pets visit other pets and send disease germs to other children.

THERE will be less disease among children when parents realize that a cunning baby with its face buried in a cat's or a dog's fur may have its face buried in disease germs.

SAFE in Turkey, Trotzky writes what he thinks of Russia's government, that turned him out.

Pravda, Russian official newspaper, says Trotzky is "a living political corpse and a living renegade." It says the London Express and other capitalistic papers pay thousands for Trotzky's attacks on Communism.

THE truth is that capitalistic "bourgeoisie" is pleased to see Trotzky out of Russia, with more conservative minds leading Sovietism in the direction of capitalism.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND more tractors, 5,000,000 low priced automobiles, 10,000 busy factories turning out a few billions of rubles a year, would soon make Sovietism as mild as mother's milk.

It's sad and hard for Trotzky to understand, but money does make men conservative.

THE British General Electric Company, about one-sixth of its stock owned here, issues 2,600,000 new shares and won't let Americans buy any of them. Loud protests by American owners

Hines Renamed Head Of Veterans' Bureau

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, of Utah, has been reappointed by President Hoover as director of the Veterans' Bureau.

Gen. Hines was appointed director of the bureau by President Harding in 1923 after Charles R. Forbes had been summarily dismissed as a result of disclosures in connection with the conduct of the Veterans' Bureau.

Cunningham Arrest Appeal April 22

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court today advanced for hearing on April 22 the appeal of the Senate seeking to hold under arrest Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham, of Philadelphia, who refused to answer certain questions while a witness before the Senate committee investigating the election of William S. Vare as Senator.

HANDCAR FRUSTRATES BOY'S ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

Word had been passed among some of the school children of Treveskyn that they were to be entertained with a genuine train wreck, so when class dismissed a group gathered on the overhead railroad bridge.

A 25-pound burden of iron laid across a track of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad. A passenger train was due in 20 minutes. The boys and girls awaited its arrival with mixed awe and wonderment.

Instead of a thundering train there rattled along an unpretentious, if substantial handcar, two workmen see-sawing it along.

Mouths opened wide and there were shrieks from the weak ones as the handcar, meeting the iron, hurtled off the tracks. The workmen were cut and bruised.

Today the 13-year-old miscreant was taken from his classroom to the Juvenile Detention Home to await hearing. He told Thomas Cavanaugh, of the railroad's police, that he merely wanted to see what would happen.

REBELS RETIRE BEFORE MEXICAN LOYALISTS

PRIEST'S KILLER INSANE, BELIEF

By Al GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

CANTON, O., March 11.—"Father Riccardi's slayer was a demented woman," Bishop Joseph M. Schrembs, of the Cleveland diocese, said today after a thorough investigation of the tragedy in St. Anthony's Church here yesterday.

The Rev. Joseph A. Riccardi, 32, rector of St. Anthony's, was shot down in the corridor of the church as he talked with Mrs. Mamie Guerriere, 27. In her confession, given to County Prosecutor Henry W. Harter, Jr., the woman admitted the crime. The prosecutor declined to accept her story as to the cause of the shooting—that her daughter had been mistreated in the parochial school.

"Prosecutor Harter has interviewed several witnesses," the Bishop said today, "and took Father Riccardi's dying statement. From these statements it is my opinion that the shooting was the act of a demented woman.

"She may have been inspired to perpetrate this crime by some plot."

He amplified this statement by declaring that Father Riccardi had been active in the recent removal of the church to a new location. Several parishioners objected to the removal strenuously.

Father Riccardi was a student in University of Rome and was ordained in Rome in June, 1924.

15 Hurt in Chicago Elevated Crash

BULLETIN.

City detectives recovered a total of $77,000 of the $125,000 Canada bonds, stolen in a mail holdup in 1928, following the confession of Mannie Steinberg, the sleuths revealed.

Negotiable bonds valued at $38,000, which were part of the $125,000 loot of a mail-train robbery in Canada, were recovered in Pittsburgh today with the arrest of Mannie Steinberg, 35, a film salesman, of 7105 Penn avenue, Inspector Frank Boyd declared.

The bonds were found, detectives say, in Steinberg's auto in which they drove him to Central police station from 1018 Forbes street, where he was arrested.

SEEK MORE LOOT

Boyd said it was probable that still more of the loot would be recovered in Pittsburgh through information said to have been supplied by Steinberg.

Steinberg is the third person arrested for the robbery. "Dopey" Davis and Catherine Meyers, 26, were arrested last week in a North avenue apartment, but sleuths refused to divulge the details of the investigation then.

Davis and the Meyers woman are said to have been "the fence" for disposing of the bonds.

BUFFALO GANG

The holdup of the mail train took place in 1928 and was executed by a gang whose headquarters, Detectives Tom Morgan and Michael Carney revealed, were in Buffalo.

The sleuths still are seeking a fourth person—one Morris Hendel—in connection with the holdup.

Condition of Foch "Less Satisfactory"

PARIS, March 11. — (AP.) — The condition of Marshal Foch today was described as "less satisfactory" by his physicians. They emphasized, however, no relapse had taken place, but that their pronouncement merely reflected a fluctuation in temperature. The Marshal's customary period out of bed was canceled today, the physicians stating they were taking no chances of raising his temperature which was given as 99.6 with the pulse at 86.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—Representative Clyde Kelly, of Pittsburgh, declared here that the time was coming when foreign legations would be asked to respect the laws of the United States.

Speaking at a law and order meeting, he pointed to President Hoover's inaugural address as a "declaration of war on the outlaw liquor interests" and said he believed Washington would be made a model for the rest of the nation in prohibition enforcement.

TORREON CALLES GOAL

International News Service.

Under the pressure of the Mexican Federal drive the rebels were falling back today all along the line.

According to reports current in Mexico City the rebels have evacuated the strategically important city of Torreon on the Durango-Coahuila border.

Gen. Jose Gonzalo Escobar's rebel army that had been holding Torreon was said to have retired into Chihuahua. Gen. Calles expected to occupy Torreon during the day.

REBELS SURRENDER

A report was received at El Paso that Gen. Escobar's pioneer forces under the Yaqui chief, Gen. Francisco Urbalejo, had surrendered north of the city of Zacatecas without a fight. This defection opened the way for a drive northward against the Durango and Torreon zones.

STRATEGIC CENTER

Gen. Calles, commanding the federal expeditionary force in the north-central states, reported to Chapultepec Castle during the morning that he was approaching Torreon. He said he expected to occupy this strategic center before noon. Torreon is known as the "gateway" to the northwest.

At Torreon, Gen. Calles' force will effect a junction with a column of 6,000 federals advancing from Saltillo, in the west. This column is under command of Gen. Almazan, the dashing young federal officer who has the distinction of being the youngest general commanding a division in the army.

PLAN BIG OFFENSIVE

Gen. Calles, after this junction, will proceed to Chihuahua and Sonora.

An offensive drive will get under way towards the State of Sinaloa, where there is a rebel force under

N. Y. TO GREET WILKINS

NEW YORK, March 11.—(INS.)—One of New York's greatest greetings will be accorded Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, Antarctic explorer, when he arrives here tomorrow aboard the Pacific liner Ebro. But all the fanfare of trumpets and noisy welcome of the city will pale into not very much in comparison to the welcoming smile Sir Hubert will get from pretty Miss Suzanne Bennett, his fiancee, who will go down to the bay to meet him.

Sir Hubert is accompanied by Carl Ben Eielson, Orville H. Porter and Joe E. Crosson, who followed him through the frozen wastes.

Rosenwald Returns From Capital Ill

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP.)—Julius Rosenwald, millionaire philanthropist and head of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has returned from Washington ill, and has been ordered to bed by his physician.

HUGE CORRIDOR FEATURE PLANS FOR POSTOFFICE

Progress in the plans for Pittsburgh's new postoffice provide for a great corridor 440 feet long and 60 feet wide facing the stamp, information and general delivery windows, the parcel post counters and the registry, money order and postal savings divisions, it was revealed today.

The corridor will be on the Grant street front of the building and will extend, on the first floor, from Seventh avenue to the Liberty avenue end.

The offices of the postal officials will be on the upper floors, according to present plans.

Owing to the Grant street grade, the first floor will be practically level with Seventh avenue. At the Liberty avenue end of the building escalators, stairways and elevators will offset the lower street level.

The federal court rooms are to be situated on the ninth floor. Provision will be made for an extra courtroom for future use.

BULLETIN.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 11.—(AP.)—Maj. H. C. D. Segrave, British driver, set a new world's automobile speed record here today, at 231.36246 miles an hour.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 11.—(AP.)—Maj. H. C. D. Segrve, British sportsman, pushed his Golden Arrow racer up to 231.51125 miles an hour here today, in opening his assault on the world's automobile speed record over a measured mile course. The official record is 207 miles an hour.

Maj. Segrave brought his powerful Golden Arrow machine onto the Ocean Speedway shortly after noon.

TRIAL TEST MADE

Segrave started a preliminary test run down the beach at 1:32 p. m. He passed the grandstand at a fairly fast clip, hugging the outside of the course in order that his tire tracks would make a guiding mark for him on the two official runs he will make later. The long, low slung machine, painted a bright golden color, seemed to hold the beach well.

His time for the mile was an-

Curtis Goes South For Brief Vacation

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—Vice President Charles Curtis left Washington late yesterday for a brief vacation in Florida, the first he has taken since the strenuous campaign last fall. Hoping to remain in seclusion to get the full benefit of the opportunity for rest, Mr. Curtis did not divulge his destination. While in the best of health the Vice President told friends he was very tired. He continued at his post in the Senate until two days before his inauguration as Vice President. Mr. Curtis expects to return to Washington soon.

Stinson Fails Again To Break Air Record

BAY CITY, Mich., March 11.—(AP.)—Eddie Stinson and Randolph G. Page yesterday abandoned their third attempt within the last two weeks to better the airplane endurance flight record. Their plane, the Sally Sovereign, made a successful takeoff from the ice of Saginaw Bay, but motor trouble forced a landing two hours later.

DREW PUTS SLEUTH ON TRAIL OF 'INVALID'

Alfred W. Forney, confessed racketeer, has disappeared, and the County of Allegheny is searching for him.

The man who, the state charges, controlled a huge slot machine ring in Allegheny County, was scheduled to go on trial in Criminal Court today. Instead of Forney there was a doctor's certificate presented by his lawyer which inspired Judge James B. Drew to an indignant arraignment of the missing defendant.

After Attorney Hiram D. Hirsh had informed the court that his client was in either a hospital or a sanitarium in New York, Judge Drew instructed District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner to dispatch a detective to that city to find the missing defendant.

"ILL WITH FLU"

The certificate which Attorney Hirsh presented in the name of a New York physician attested that Forney was ill of influenza, too sick to be tried.

"The last I heard from Forney was on Friday. He was at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York," Hirsh told the court.

NOT AT HOTEL

The manager told him that Forney was not in the hotel, let alone sick in bed; that Forney had checked out on March 7 and was not ill then.

"This is the first intimation I have had of any illness," Judge Drew, obviously startled, told Hirsh. "I'm not a bit surprised. It's the usual thing in such cases. But Forney is going to come to trial. You can take it from me. If he wants to run away that's up to him.

"I have the greatest doubts of his illness. You get New York on the telephone and we will have New York doctors examine him.

HOOVER BUSY ON VARIED TASKS

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—President Hoover went into his second week at the nation's highest post today with a host of widely varying tasks claiming his attention.

Already the chief executive has taken the initial steps toward carrying out some of the plans that were uppermost in his mind during the campaign. Of these, however, many of the details remain to be worked out, and some of the phases of the work incident to the change of administration scarcely have been touched.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

The button already has been pressed which will set in motion the wheels of Congress on April 15, but there remain ahead of the President many conferences with congressional leaders and a message to be written in which he will deal specifically with the farm relief and tariff revision legislation he believes necessary to aid the farmer.

He still must determine the personnel of the law enforcement commission which is to make a study of the general abuses which have grown up to hamper the effectiveness of various laws, including the prohibition, narcotic and immigration acts.

MANY APPOINTMENTS WAIT

Beyond these major tasks, there lie the difficulties surrounding the many lesser appointments the President must make, now that his cabinet has been completed. Some 20 or 30 assistant secretaries and members of the diplomatic corps are to be selected.

Another of the changes which the President outlined in his inaugural address, but to which he has been able to devote but little time thus far, is the proposal to transfer to the Department of Justice many of the prohibition enforcement duties which now rest upon the Treasury Department.

Mr. Hoover is continuing to show great interest in the developments in the Mexican revolution and has indicated that his administration will follow the policy of supporting the present government in that country. He already has authorized the sale of surplus war materials to the Mexican government.

TORREON GOAL OF CALLES

Gen. Roberto Cruz. This is believed to be the biggest of the insurgent armies. According to reports received at Chapultepec Castle, it consists of about 5,000 men.

The prediction was made at the president's office today that, within another week, the revolution will have been completely suppressed.

PLAN OFFENSIVE

MEXICALI, Mexico, March 11.—(INS.)—Preparing for a major offensive against the revolutionary forces in Sonora, Gov. Abelardo Rordiguez, of the northern district of Lower California, today was whipping into shape an expeditionary force of 3,000 troops.

Recruited at Ensenada and Tijuana, the army of Gov. Rodriguez has been undergoing intensive training here for the past 10 days and soon will be ready to take the field, it was announced at the Governor's palace.

REBELS ON MOVE

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, March 11.—(INS.)—Additional rebel troops were pouring through Nogales today to reinforce the armies of Gen. Marcelo Caraveo in Chihuahua.

A detachment of 500 left today for Naco, Sonora, where they were to join the force of Gen. Francisco Manzo mobilizing there, as reserves for Caraveo's support.

AGUIRRE FORCE QUITS

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—(AP.)—Surrender of the troops of Gen. Jesus Aguirre, revolutionary leader who was driven out of Vera Cruz last week, was reported in a government bulletin issued here this afternoon.

The troops, whose number was not stated, surrendered at Juanta in the state of Vera Cruz. They were disarmed after surrendering.

RAISES CATERPILLARS

DOROTHY BINNS

Yes, Miss Binns raises caterpillars. Then she feeds them to wasps and studies the wasps in zoological experiments at Pitt. In the incubator before her, there are hundreds of caterpillars.

WOMAN ZOOLOGIST REARS WEE WASPS IN INCUBATOR

There are incubators for many purposes—from chicks to babies. But Miss Dorothy Binns keeps one and raises caterpillars, and then feeds them to wasps.

The idea sounds simple, but it isn't. It requires months of experiments with heat and humidity and cereals, which she feeds the caterpillars, to get them to thrive.

And objective!

Miss Binns, assistant graduate in zoology, University of Pittsburgh, is studying wasps. And to breed the several stocks necessary for her comparison — a purely scientific task—she has to keep the wasps alive and happy. And of all the delicacies in the world, the one the wasps prefer most is a fat caterpillar.

A native of Cleveland, Miss Binns is doing special research work, attempting to find out why certain wasps have short wings, and others long wings. She hopes before concluding her experiment to be able to control her charges so they will breed normal wings, or at least find out why some have long and some short ones. Her experiments are conducted in Zoology Hall, Fifth avenue, near Bellefield street.

SEAGRAVE SETS SPEED RECORD

nounced as 177 miles an hour. Upon reaching the south end of the course, Segrave made another last minute inspection of his car and prepared to make his first official run north. He will follow with a second run southward shortly afterward.

THOUSANDS LOOK ON

Segrave advised officials of the American Automobile Association that he wanted to be timed not only for the mile course, but also for the one kilometer.

A warm sun shone brightly and along the nine-mile sandy course thousands of spectators lined the dunes to witness the assault upon the record now held by the 36-cylinder triplex owned by J. M. White, of Philadelphia. The visibility was fairly good.

White was prepared to send his Triplex after a new record immediately after Segrave's trial, Lee Bible, Daytona Beach mechanic, piloting the car.

FOUR-MILE START

The grandstand, erected high on the sand dunes at the south end of the official mile, was packed long before the starting time with hundreds of spectators.

His time for the northward run was 15.15 seconds. A second run south was necessary to establish an average for a record speed.

He took a four-mile start before entering the mile stretch and flashed by the grandstand with a terrific roar.

However, British stockholders in the British company are not allowed first chance at the new stock, which is the American plan, and that hurts.

MAN STABBED IN FOLLIES GIRL'S APARTMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 11.—(INS.)—William Mahoney, 37, said to be a son of former Police Inspector Patrick Mahoney, of New York, was mysteriously stabbed early today in the apartment of Lenore Cosnova, former Ziegfeld Follies beauty, culminating an all-night drinking party, according to a police report.

While Mahoney was seriously injured, he is not expected to die. No arrests have been made.

FIST FIGHT ADMITTED

The stabbing was said to have climaxed a fist fight between Mahoney and Mitchell Harris, stage actor.

"We had an argument," Harris told police. "I don't remember what it was about. I hit Mahoney. He hit me and I faded out of the picture."

"When I woke up," the actor said, "they told me an ambulance had been there and had taken Mahoney to a hospital. They told me he had been stabbed."

WOMEN ACCUSE

Detectives who rushed to the scene reported they were confronted by the spectacle of two women accusing each other of the stabbing.

Sobbing and wringing her hands, Cora Mahoney, who said she was the wife of the wounded man, charged Miss Cosnova with the stabbing.

"She stuck him like a pig," the weeping woman shouted hysterically.

HIGH STUDENT DISAPPEARS

Edward Shields, Jr., a senior at Dormont High School, left his home at 1307 Illinois avenue, Saturday afternoon and hasn't returned, his father, Edward Shields, reported to the borough authorities. The boy did not announce his departure and his family is unable to advance a reason.

Edward, 5 feet, 10 inches tall, was wearing a black chinchilla coat, tan hat, tan shoes and a brown suit. He weighs 130 pounds.

500,000 in Church Mutiny in Rumania

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 11.—(AP.)—What was described as mutiny against the church took place in Bessarabia yesterday when 500,000 communicants of the Greek Orthodox Church announced through their spokesman they would not observe Easter Sunday on March 31, as fixed recently by the holy synod.

Archbishop Kishinev, leader of the protesting worshippers, announced they would observe Easter on May 5, in accordance with the Byzantine calendar, a custom which has prevailed for over 600 years.

War Guilt Blamed On Serbia, Russia

NEW YORK.—Ten years after the World War an American historian says he finds "the verdict of the Versailles treaty that Germany and her allies were responsible for the war is historically unsound."

Serbian nationalism was primarily responsible for starting the series of events that culminated in the conflict, says Prof. Sidney B. Fay in "The Origins of the World War." Generally, he asserts, the responsibility for the war is divided, a large share falling on Russia.

PITTSBURGHER HURT IN HOTEL BLAZE

READING, Pa., March 11.—(INS.)—Ten persons were injured when fire raged through the Belmont and Colonial hotels here shortly after midnight today. More than a score of guests leaped from the upper stories into life nets or clambered down fire extension ladders.

DAMAGE $725,000

The damage will amount to $725,000. Severe cold hampered firemen and caused much suffering among the inmates of the two hotels as they fled in their night clothing.

Among the injured were Mrs. Lillian Roth, 24, Pittsburgh, burned about the arms; Abe Selleck, 57, Cleveland, O., fractured ankle, and John Love, 28, Fremont, O., both hands burned.

They were taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

SPREADS RAPIDLY

The fire started from an undetermined cause in one of the upper floors and quickly spread over the entire structure.

Guests on the lower floors managed to reach the street safely, many of them rushing to the street in sleeping attire. On the upper floors men and women rushed about in the smoke-filled corridors, egress down the stairways being blocked by flames.

U.S. SENDS GUNS TO MEXICO

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—More encouragement over the situation in Mexico was drawn today by administration officials from the latest dispatches from that country, but they still were keeping a close watch on events south of the Rio Grande.

Acceleration of efforts to assist the Mexican government in putting down the revolution was one development of the day, the War Department assembling 10,000 Enfield rifles with large quantities of ammunition for the government in the South.

Disposition of the 300 federal troops and their families from Juarez, who were given asylum last week at Fort Bliss after they had crossed into El Paso, formed the subject of conferences between State and War Department officials. It was regarded as likely that action by the Washington government would be deferred, pending communications from Mexico City.

Notice was received from the Mexican ambassador that all of the Mexican border ports in the states of Sorona and Chihuahua and the seacoast ports of Sonora had been closed to exports and imports to prevent the rebels from coming into possession of customs duties.

$700,000,000 Moved In Chicago Streets

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP.)—For four hours a stream of gold moved down La Salle street between rows of armed guards, while traffic for two blocks was roped off. Four hundred cases of gold, currency and securities containing $700,000,000 were being moved from the Continental and Commercial National Bank to the Illinois Merchants Trust Company, one of the final moves of the consolidation of the two banks, each of the 400 cases was insured.

SALOON LEAGUE HEAD HERE TO FIGHT DAYLIGHT SAVING

The Rev. Dr. D. E. Cruea, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district of the Anti-Saloon League proposes to wage war on the daylight saving program, according to a letter received today in city council.

He "believes fathers and mothers as well as boys and girls, are unalterably opposed to any change in time," the letter states.

Dr. Cruea declared daylight saving time would be abolished if "one-tenth of the people opposed to it would write and tell" Council of their objections as the city law makers would then know public sentiment.

Dr. Cruea said he believed the best interests of the city would be served by abolishing the changed time.

Debating League Nears Final Test

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 11.—Arrangements for the concluding contests in the debating league of Washington county, in which more than a score of high schools were represented, were made public here today by the committee in charge.

Teams of Washington and Mt. Pleasant, of Hickory, will meet here tomorrow night, in a semi-final.

Monongahela High School has already reached the final, defeating Claysville.

Thursday night has been fixed as the date for the holding of the final debate in the chapel of Washington and Jefferson College. On that evening, the members of all teams, principals of schools, and coaches will be guests of Washington and Jefferson College at a banquet here.

Extra Bars Guard Biggest Elephant

NEW YORK, March 11.—Khartoum, the biggest elephant in captivity, has developed a sullen, dangerous disposition. There are extra steel bars on his cages at the Bronx Zoo. He inhabits one while a keeper cleans the other. He is 10 feet 7½ inches tall, two inches shorter than the late Jumbo, P. T. Barnum's favorite.

FORNEY SOUGHT FOR TRIAL

I feel he went to New York for other purposes."

DOCTOR MISSING, TOO

The Sun-Telegraph's efforts to locate Dr. J. R. Emery, whose name was signed to the certificate, failed. The Bell Telephone Company reported that he was not listed in any of its classifications of Greater New York and that at the Roosevelt Hotel he was not known.

The telephone company also revealed that the phone in Forney's Perrysville avenue mansion had been disconnected Thursday.

"Did Mrs. Forney go with her husband?" Judge Drew asked Hirsh.

"No."

"When did he go?"

"Ten days ago."

"What took him there?"

"I don't know."

"Produce Forney at 1 o'clock," Judge Drew ordered Hirsch. At 2 o'clock Hirsch returned with a report from Forney's wife that her husband was in either a hospital or a sanitarium—what one she didn't know—and that she hadn't heard from him since he left the Roosevelt.

"He certainly can't be lost, strayed or stolen," Judge Drew told the attorney.

"Who's the doctor who signed that certificate?"

"He's a registered physician," Hirsh replied.

"He may be," Judge Drew retorted, "but the county detectives can't find him listed as such. It's strange you don't know where your client is, especially when he's sick and alone in New York.

"There's nothing to do now but continue this case. I advise you, if you will take any advice from the court, to get in touch with your client and tell him to get home."

Even while he was in the County Jail serving a six-month sentence for confessed violation of the federal prohibition law Forney was a sick man, Hirsh declared.

"If the court doubts his illness, the jail records will speak for themselves," the attorney offered.

FACES 15 CHARGES

Forney was to have been tried on 15 charges of maintaining gambling devices—slot machines—and being a common gambler.

Forney was indicted in the county's recent probe of rackets, a probe that was ordered by Judge Drew after accusations by the rebel Republican, John J. Verona, that Mayor Kline's police force was subsidized by graft.

RACKET TRIALS APPEALED

Motions for new trials for 20 men convicted in either the North Side and South Side federal rum conspiracy cases here or for failing to file income returns on alleged racket profits, were to be argued today before Judge Nelson McVicar.

Judge McVicar, at the start of the arguments, announced that any defendant whose motion was overruled must be in court Friday for sentence.

As the arguments were made, the court announced no decision, ordering counsel to file briefs.

UNION CLUBBERS APPEAL

If the motion is denied the defendant still has the recourse of an appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The arguments today were in behalf of these men: Joseph P. H. Hilldorfer, former president; John Coney, assistant steward; Frank C. Peters, waiter; V. Przekalasa and Charles W. Botts, liquor agents, in the Union Fishing Club rum conspiracy case.

PROTECTION OF $2,000 PROVIDED

By WILLIAM I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, March 11.—Three bills requiring compulsory automobile liability insurance or the establishment of financial responsibility by surety bonds or other means will be considered by the House when it reconvenes tonight at 9 o'clock.

The three are on second reading. One was introduced by Representative Joseph C. Marcus, of Pittsburgh, the second by Edward Haws, of Philadelphia, and the third by Louis Schwartz, of Philadelphia.

$2,000 LIABILITY ASKED

The Marcus bill would require every applicant for a license to prove financial responsibility to the extent of at least $2,000 in the event of an accident in which another person is killed or injured. The responsibility could be proven by liability insurance, a surety company bond, a certificate of membership in a responsible Pennsylvania association of motor vehicle owners or by satisfying the secretary of highways as to the applicant's financial standing.

COAL POLICE BILL READY

The Fisher bill, aimed at the coal and iron police system, is scheduled to appear this week. One of the problems still unsolved as far as that measure is concerned, is the protection of payrolls. The bill, it is understood, in addition to greatly curtailing the present powers of such officers, will restrict them to company property. It was said today that as soon as some method is decided upon to guard payrolls the bill will be ready for presentation.

The bill of George F. Howe, of Clairton, that would prohibit the use of one-man cars on heavy grades is on first reading in the House.

The Mansfield bill that would permit the people of Pittsburgh to vote on the proposal to increase the pay of police and firemen, which was recalled from the Governor for amendment, is on final passage in the Senate. The Governor wants it amended to remove the clause that would require City Council to grant the increase if it is favored in the referendum.

The bill consolidating and codifying the divorce laws, which was introduced by Representative Edward B. Goehring, of Pittsburgh, is on final passage in the House.

VOTE MACHINES UP

The sub-committee of the Senate elections committee, appointed last week to decide on the voting machine bill, is scheduled to meet tonight.

The voting machine measures of Senators Frank J. Harris and Albert Davis, Scranton, still are in that committee.

The numerous measures designed to modify the Sunday Blue Laws of 1794 still are being held in the House Law and Order Committee. Mrs. Ella C. Adams, of Fayette, the chairman, has given no sign that she or her fellow members intend to let them go to the House for a vote.

Other important matters awaiting consideration this week include:

BULGARIAN KING LEAVES TO WOO ITALIAN PRINCESS

Although court officials maintain that the unmarried and handsome King is journeying only to consult specialists in Vienna and Berlin for his ear trouble, the impression persists that the ultimate object is to perfect plans for his marriage with Princess Giovanna, of Italy.

Princess Eudoxie

The departure of the King was a closely guarded secret. He left his palace in a closed limousine with drawn curtains and drove at top speed to the station. The only person to wish him Godspeed, was his warm friend, Premier Liapcheff. The public

It is considered significant that the King's trip to the West coincides with the presence in Rome of Archbishop Stehen, of Sofia, head of the Bulgarian National Church and the early arrival in the holy city of Foreign Minister Buroff who now is attending the League of Nations' sessions at Geneva.

PUBLIC LEADERS FIND WAGE EARNERS UNJUSTLY TAXED

MAYOR KLINE FAVORS REDUCED TAX

One of the first to sympathize with the wage-earner who must pay tax on rated income with no privilege of charging off losses through ill-health or accidents, Mayor Charles H. Kline favors reduction of tax on earned incomes.

SENATOR FRANK J. HARRIS SIGNING

State Senator Harris, forty-fifth district, as he signs one of the Sun-Telegraph petitions for lower tax. "The individual pays his taxes two ways," he says. "Many forms of taxes on corporations are passed along to the consumer."

DRIVE TO CUT LEVY WINS SUPPORT

Gaining momentum through the indorsement by organizations of business and professional groups, the movement for the reduction of tax on earned incomes has the almost unanimous support of men in public life.

Although the salaries of federal, state and municipal officers and employes are exempt from income tax, officials agree that professional men and women and all wage earners are unjustly burdened by the present rate of income tax.

Mayor Charles H. Kline was among the first of those to express sympathy with the wage worker who must pay a tax on a rated income and yet have no privilege of charging off extraordinary expense of losses through ill health, accident or other personal affliction.

HARRIS COMMENTS

"The individual pays his taxes two ways," said Senator Frank J. Harris, of the Forty-fifth District. "Many forms of taxes on corporations are passed along to the consumer and the individual is the ultimate consumer. As a matter of fact, he meets the tax collector every day of his life and in many guises. When he pays his rent and in nearly everything he buys he contributes to the ever-gulping maw of the taxgatherer. The whole scheme is unfair and this is now generally understood. There is every prospect that Congress will act favorably on a proposal for a reduction on all earned incomes."

Guests in Pittsburgh hotels today have opportunity to express their views on the income tax, since Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph petitions to be sent to Congress are at the desks and in charge of attractive young women who explain the details of the movement to all inquirers. This is a popular move, since individuals while traveling have more than ordinary inroads made on their purses through the heavy tax rate.

Newsdealers, chain cigar stands, confectioners and the better class restaurants are getting in line in providing petitions for their patrons to sign. In the suburbs the gasoline filling stations today were offering their patrons petitions for signing.

DRIVE NATIONWIDE

Word from other cities indicates that the countrywide movement is growing and it was estimated that the petitions with signatures of several million citizens will be ready when Congress convenes.

Individual petitioners continue to send their names on the blank forms printed in the Sun-Telegraph. It is desired that these be filled out so that all blanks may be filled. Any citizen may sign and there may be any number of signatures from one household.

A MASON builds a wall brick by brick. A wise, cautious man builds a fortune dollar by dollar. What provision have you made for the future?

Admittedly, there is a certain element of luck in a man's progress. But, don't forget, you can't depend on luck. So why not cultivate a good friend, a savings bank account?

Save as hard as you work, and when you have your first thousand dollars you will have an able and dependable helpmate who will be your best friend as long as you do not put him to work in dangerous, speculative fields.

You will have two incomes, one from your daily work and one from your savings. Some time you may be out of a job and your daily income may cease. But the dividends from your rainy day fund never can stop rolling in as long as you let it remain in the bank.

CHANCE TO BUY AUTO

You may make a good salary. Yet you may be one of those men who believe in the motto, "P · as you go." You try to economize, but you never seem to have enough cash to buy that automobile that your family has wanted for years.

If you start a savings account today, if you save about $13 a week, you will have in a year more than enough to make the down payment on your car.

In fact, you will have about enough to pay the balance after the first payment on any $1,000 car. And you cut down the financing charge. Is the effort worth the reward?

DO YOU WANT OWN HOME

Next, you may want a home of your own. Do you know that in about 10 years, if you are a tenant, you have actually "bought," for your landlord, the house you live in? You don't even own one of the door knobs.

You pay possibly $70 a month for rent. That is $840 a year, or $8,400 in 10 years. Is the house or the apartment worth more than that? Or is your $8,400 ju · gone up in smoke?

It costs $1,200 or thereabouts to make the initial payment on the average home. It's a lot of money when you haven't got it, but—

If you have a savings bank account and deposit $1" week—every week—it will be possible for you to talk business with a real estate man and move into your own home within two years.

SAVING BECOMES PLEASURE

It sounds like a hard task at first. But consider the weekly deposit as a duty to yourself and your family. Consider your own future and the comfort of your loved ones. Then that $12 weekly saving will seem a pleasure.

With money in the bank for the first payment, the financing of the balance can be arranged on mortgage and you will henceforth be your own landlord, with a deed for your own home tucked in your safe deposit box. And the same savings bank account will take care of the taxes.

Again today the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has rewarded 10 savings bank depositors for their thrift by crediting to their accounts deposits of $10 each, just as it has encouraged a multitude of other wise workers with deposits of from $5 to $50.

If you had opened a savings account before now, you might have benefited from this generosity.

ONE-ARMED WATCHMAN SAVES BOY FROM RIVER

Herbert Langsdorf, 12, son of Patrolman Clark Langsdorf, of McKeesport, was recovering from a plunge into icy waters of the Youghiogeny River today, thanks to the bravery of David Jenkins, one-armed Negro watchman.

Saturday afternoon Jenkins saw the boy slip into the river from a crumbling sand bar at the foot of Ninth street, McKeesport. Jenkins sprinted 100 yards to the water's edge, dived into the ice-flecked stream, and after four attempts managed to reach the drowning lad.

Jenkins towed the boy to shore, then carried him to Market street, where he sent him home in a automobile. With a pulmotor a physician revived the boy. Patrolman Langsdorf today was searching for Jenkins to express his thanks.

Fliers "Drop In" Through Roof, $1,000 Asked

WABASH, Ind., March 11.—(AP.)—An insult to the hospitality of her home, Mrs. Jenny Rader, of near Akron, Ind., calls the unconventional visit of two fliers. She has filed suit for $1,000 damages caused, she says, when Oscar Crabill, an aviator, and his passenger, Arthur Coblentz, crashed through the roof of her house.

The suit sets out that "these defendants paid an unexpected visit to her home by entering the same through an opening in the roof made by the defendant's airplane as it landed to discharge its passengers, although the portals of the plaintiff's home are always open to friends and guests."

MIAMI KILLING WITNESS TALKS

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—A woman witness to the fatal shooting of Thomas (Fatty) Walsh, in Miami, Fla., was located by their representative here and said the shooting was the result of a sudden quarrel between Walsh and one of his gambler associates, the New York Daily news says today.

The Daily News quotes Demaris Dore, night club hostess and entertainer, as saying she was spirited out of Miami 12 hours after the shooting and taken by auto to Palm Beach where she boarded a train for New York.

The paper says she admitted the killer was one of three of Walsh's associates in a gambling syndicate who had become angry because Walsh and Arthur L. Clarke, who was wounded, joked about his manner of speech, no one but the killer among the four was armed, the Daily News quotes the woman as saying.

COL. LINDBERGH BACK IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiance, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, were reunited again today after a separation of less than two days, during which the famous airman inaugurated air mail service between this city and Brownsville, Tex.

He negotiated the 940 miles of the round trip in 10 hours and 38 minutes on the northward journey, and 20 minutes less in returning.

On both trips he made short stops at Tampico. His tri-motored Ford plane carried nine passengers and several bags of mail each way.

Hunt for Mail Theft Suspect Is Renewed

Detectives today renewed their search for the "money man" in a $125,000 Canadian postal robbery, who, they believed, had been driven to flight by untimely publicity given the arrest of Harry Meyers, alias "Dopey Davis," and Catherine Meyers, of 204 East North avenue.

Meyers or Davis and the woman have been held for investigation with Davis at liberty in $1,000 bail, pending detectives' quest for the third man. At the hearing in Morals Court, the sleuths alleged the third suspect was one Morris Hendel.

STRAWBERRY WAY PLANS REVEAL TRAFFIC HELPS

Plans for the proposed widening of Strawberry way from Liberty avenue to Bigelow boulevard, and its connection with the projected cross-town boulevard to the entrance of the Liberty Bridge, have been placed before the City Planning Commission by the better traffic committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Drawings which were made under the direction of Director Norman F. Brown of the County Department of Public Works, contemplate a project of much greater scope than at first proposed. These plans, now made public for the first time, constitute the Better Traffic Committee's answer to the City Planning Commission's rejection of the improvement when suggested at a meeting last December.

FULL WIDTH STREET

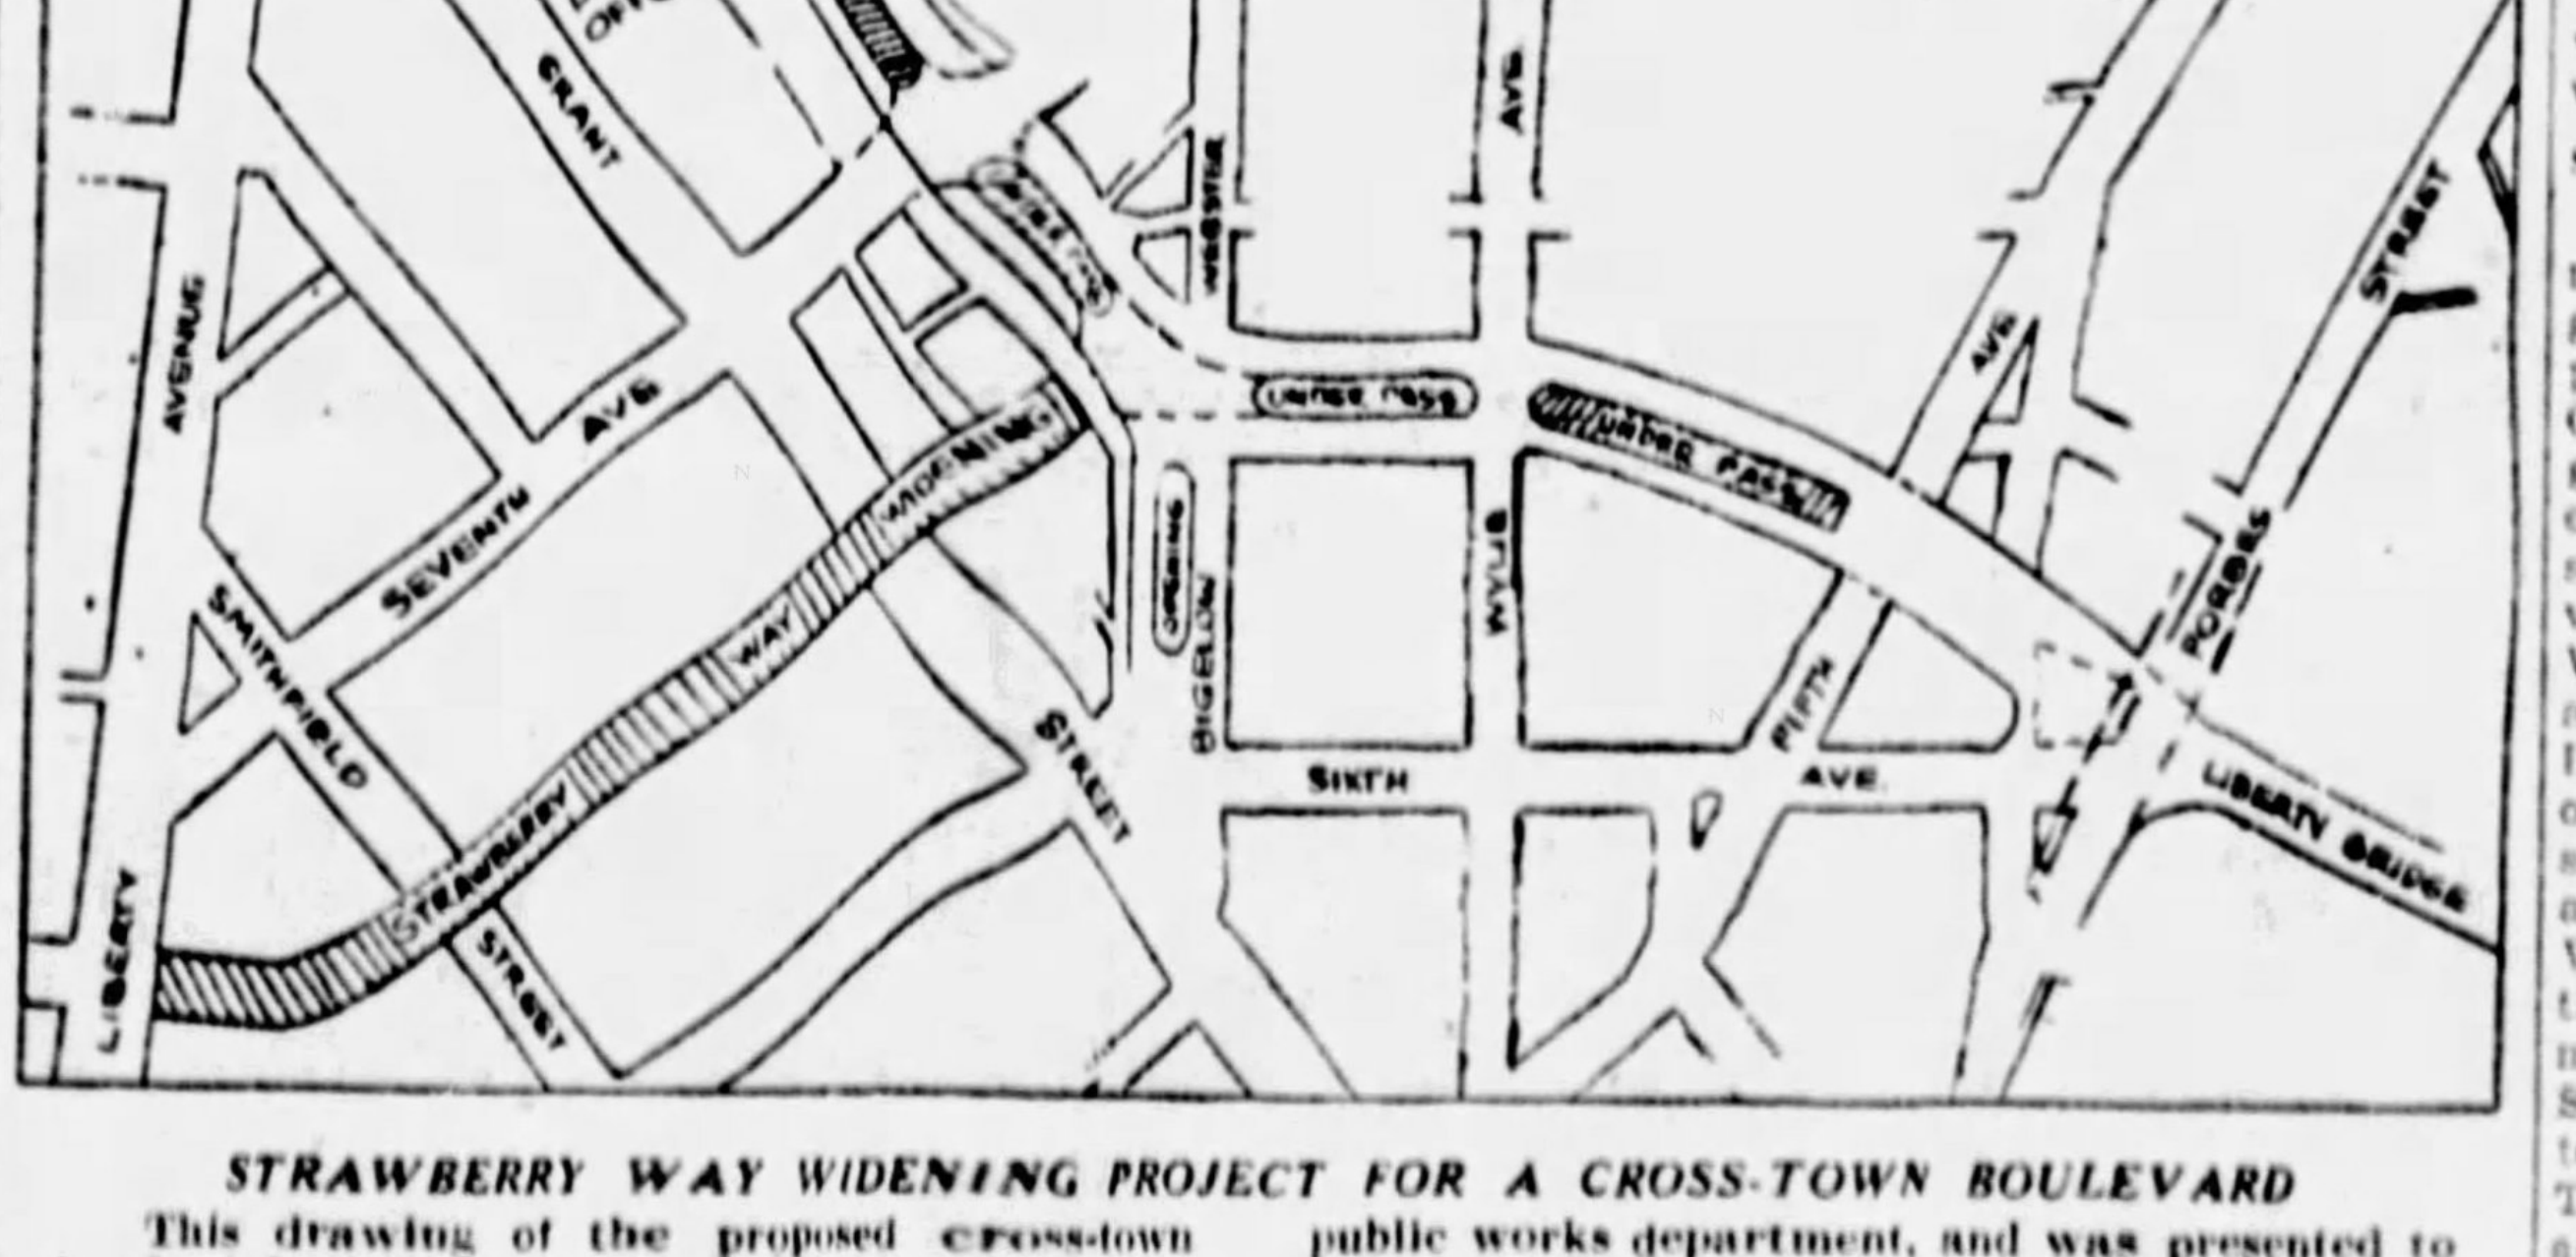
Strawberry way would be a full width street and would give direct communication between Ninth street, connecting with the North Side bridge, and Bigelow boulevard and thus, via the widened thoroughfare of Tunnel street intersecting Fifth avenue in a sweeping curve to the westward, would connect with the approach to the Liberty Bridge. A system of underpasses is proposed to relieve congestion on the crosstown roadway.

Frank L. Duggan, chairman of the committee, has urged a rehearing on the project for the consideration of the new evidence presented. The plans are declared to link in with all the proposed changes in view by the Planning Commission.

SEE TRAFFIC GLUT

It is pointed out that the great number of mail trucks constantly going back and forth from the new postoffice at Seventh avenue and Grant street will alone cause congestion at that point when the government trucks encounter the steady stream of traffic from the boulevard which uses Seventh avenue. With the Koppers Building tenanted and the Proposed Federal Reserve Bank Building in Grant street south of the Koppers Building, and a new skyscraper to be erected in Seventh avenue between Grant street and William Penn place, it is declared that traffic in this zone will increase more than 100 per cent, congesting Seventh avenue and causing an intolerable condition in Sixth avenue. The widening of Strawberry way, according to the Better Traffic Committee, is the only soluton for this situation.

PROPOSED CROSS-TOWN BOULEVARD



STRAWBERRY WAY WIDENING PROJECT FOR A CROSS-TOWN BOULEVARD

This drawing of the proposed cross-town boulevard project was prepared under the direction of Director Norman F. Brown, county public works department, and was presented to the City Planning Commission by the Better Traffic Committee.

U. S. TAX CRUSHING BURDEN ON TUBERCULOSIS VICTIM

NEW YORK, March 11.—Need for the injection of a little common humanity in the income tax law was demonstrated today by the heart-breaking case of William Wolff, tuberculosis victim, and his wife and baby girl. Yesterday a high-salaried worker, today a tuberculosis victim, Wolff suffers from a law which is blind and cold.

Although Wolff is at Saranac Lake, trying for the last eight and a half months to regain his health the income tax agents have told him there is no hope of avoiding heavy taxes. He will have to pay next Friday, money sorely needed by his wife and baby in the Bronx.

The crushing burden of the tax on Wolff, who has not worked since last May, is all the more burdensome because he got a bonus in March of last year for work done in 1927.

By a cruel irony, of which the mechanical, in human operation of the income tax law takes no account, all of this bonus went for doctors. And, under the law, doctors' bills cannot be deducted, although loss for damage to an automobile, or in a merchant's stock by reason of markdowns for changing styles, can be deducted.

As soon as Wolff got his bonus money he became the father of a baby girl, Flora Jean. But in performing the sacred duty of motherhood, which the nation assumes to value highly, Mrs. Wolff nearly lost her life. She spent months in the hospital. For weeks she hovered in pain between life and death. All the bonus money went and all of Wolff's savings besides, but now the income tax department has advised the Wolffs that he must raise somehow the cash to pay a tax on that long-spent money.

Copy of 'Mona Lisa,' Worth $50,000, Gone

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 11.—(AP.)—A "Mona Lisa" said by experts to have been one of the most perfect copies of the Da Vinci original, was stolen from the Birmingham Public Library between Saturday night and 3 p. m. Sunday. The painting, the work and property of Mrs. Elizabeth Tinker Elmore, of New York, and valued by her at more than $50,000, had been on exhibition in the fourth floor parlors of the library since Thursday.

$1,000 Up for Best "Go to Church" Ad

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—The church advertising group of the New York Advertising Club announces a prize of $1,000 for the best full page advertisement on "Why Go to Church." The prize winning advertisement is to be used in promoting a National "go to church" campaign.

MORE PLANES FOR AIR SHOW

The aircraft show sponsored by the Aero Club of Pittsburgh entered its third day at Motor Square Garden today after a week-end of throngs.

Officials were looking forward to even larger crowds, and they expected to display even a greater array of planes to the air-minded Pittsburghers who came to see aviation show its latest paces. There were 22 planes and five gliders on the floor, and eight more planes were expected to arrive today.

The huge tri-motored Ford all-metal monoplane shared interest yesterday with the Lockheed Vega monoplane being exhibited in charge of William S. Brock, Detroit pilot. The bulk and power of the Ford vied with the neat streamlines and creamy smooth finish of the Lockheed Vega for attention, and both were getting a lot.

The show was opened Saturday night with an address by Mayor Charles H. Kline, who declared that Pittsburgh soon would take a large place in aviation, and recounted some of the history of flying. County Commissioner E. V. Babcock urged greater attention to aviation by the public, and told of plans for the county's new airport.

Woman Wounded By 'Unloaded' Gun

King Madeira, 42, didn't think Pater Maria's gun was loaded when he picked it up and pulled the trigger last night in the kitchen of Maria's home at Leechburg. The bullet that emerged struck Mrs. Maria. She was taken to the Citizens' General Hospital at New Kensington. Madeira was held under bond pending her recovery.

Names French Army Man in Divorce Suit

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—Brig. Gen. George A. L. Dumont, until recently military attache of the French embassy, has been named co-respondent in a divorce suit filed by Lawrence Edward Hoover, former World War aviator, against his wife, Muriel De Vere Lyttleton Hoover. The petition recites that Hoover married his bride, an English girl, in London shortly after the armistice and came to Washington in the spring of 1919. Between 1925 and 1927, Hoover charges, his wife received attentions of the French diplomat. Gen. Dumont left Washington in August, 1928, and now is living near Paris.

"WE TOOK ALL PRECAUTIONS," DECLARES NOBILE

DENIES CARELESSNESS CAUSED 'ITALIA' CRASH

Following one of the most remarkable trials in history, during which scores of documents and hundreds of witnesses were examined behind closed doors, the Board of Inquiry appointed by Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has adjudged Gen. Umberto Nobile responsible for the loss of the airship Italia and a portion of her crew in the Arctic. It also has condemned him for permitting himself to be the first rescued by the Swedish aviator, Lieut. Einar Lundborg.

Gen. Nobile

During the trial not one word of the testimony was made public, neither in condemnation of Gen. Nobile nor in his defense.

In a series of exclusive articles obtained by the Hearst newspapers, of which this is the second, Gen. Nobile gives for the first time his own dramatic story of the disaster and the scientific achievements of the expedition as he sees them. In effect, these articles constitute his defense. The third and fourth articles will appear tomorrow and Wednesday.

GEN. UMBERTO NOBILE

Commander of the Ill-Fated North Pole Expedition of the Italian Dirigible Italia.

(Copyright, 1929 in North and South America, by New York American, Inc. All Rights Reserved. Reproduction Either in Whole or in Part Prohibited. Copyright, 1929, in Other Countries by Umberto Nobile).

ROME, March 10.—In the anxious days that followed the tragic fall of the Italia, I thought long over the cause. I made many theories. I discussed it and analyzed it to the bottom, but without arriving at any conclusion.

Nor can I say much else today, nine months have passed since he catastrophe, and during all this time I have continued to seek, but have found nothing positive. Two facts are certain:

Suddenly Became Heavy

1. The dirigible was light, and all of a sudden it became heavy.
2. The heaviness was rapid and considerable.

The first idea that came to me was that it was an atmospheric disturbance. The dirigible had, perhaps, suddenly come into a zone of rarefied air, the existence of which could be explained by the current of cold air noted by the meteorological office of Tromso precisely at the time of the catastrophe.

Ice Was Menace

The hypothesis of a heavy weight of ice can be admitted. Incrustations of ice, as I have mentioned before, were ascertained some hours before the fall.

I must, however, state that at the moment when the fall began I instinctively thought that a group of valves of gas had remained open. This was not impossible because, to eliminate an extra pressure noticed in the extreme compartment of the poop, I had had to open the valves of that compartment, and it might have happened that the ice forming on the seat of the valves had hindered their closing.

This is not a new phenomenon and could still occur, notwithstanding the measures taken by me to prevent it. This is why I had ordered Alessandrini to mount to the top of the dirigible.

Rip in Envelope?

I had also considered the hypothesis of a rip in the envelope. I pondered over this for some time—given the bad treatment that, notwithstanding all the care we have taken of it, had occurred to the envelope during the stay of the dirigible in King's Bay, where they had been obliged to sweep the snow accumulated in layers more than four feet deep.

There was also the possibility that the envelope might have been torn by a projectile of ice or a splinter from the propeller, but I discarded this hypothesis as unfeasible because such a tear would have been signalled by a noise. None was heard.

Ice Theory Logical

Today, after reflecting months and months on this subject, it seems to me that the most probable cause of the heaviness of the dirigible must be found in a combination of two phenomena: A heavy deposit of ice formed probably during the immersion of the cold dirigible into a zone of warmer damp air, and almost coincident loss of gas in the poop provoked by the spontaneous opening of some of the valves.

However, generally the disaster has been attributed to the raging of the tempest, from which arise the pretext for one of the most insistent and malevolent accusations, viz.:

That notwithstanding the unfavorable atmospheric conditions I had decided to voyage to the Pole only for the desire to arrive there exactly on May 24, the day of the anniversary of Italy's entering into the World War.

Though it may seem absurd that as head of the expedition I could subordinate the decision of a voyage of such scientific importance as that undertaken on May 23, to a simple historical anniversary, all the same it is better once and for all to show the ludicrousness of that legend.

Anxious to Succeed

I am sorry, in fact, to have to confess that when we set out from King's Bay toward the north of Greenland, if I knew the exact itinerary and program of the voyage we were undertaking, I did not think it all necessary to consult the calendar.

Nor should this surprise one. In the anxiety of waiting at King's Bay, among the continued preoccupation for the safety of the dirigible, now on account of the snow, now of the wind, the days passed without my being aware of them. Only one idea tormented me—that of fulfilling the program of the expedition as soon as possible before the summer advanced.

On one part, this was expected to reduce excessively the useful load of the ship, and on the other increasing the risks and difficulties of the voyage either on account of sudden fog, or for the melting of the pack if we should be compelled to descend and obliged to march on it till safety was reached.

Orders Simple

The word of order given by me was very simple—keep the dirigible and crew ready to start as soon as the atmospheric conditions should be favorable. On this Malmgren decided, basing himself on the reports and advice daily received from the Geophysic Institute of Tromso, with which I had made all the necessary arrangements.

The flight of May 23 was decided on receipt of a wireless from this institute, which suggested leaving as soon as possible by way of Greenland Pole as soon as the local conditions of the weather at King's Bay permitted. Malmgren had fully concurred in this.

Turns on Critics

But there was the imagination of facile critics, of those who judge without reflecting, of whom Mussolini alluded to as "reminding him of those miserable shirkers in time of war, who, in the cafes, in safety, spoke badly, without the slightest shame, of the way the war was being conducted."

There were even those who spoke of the insufficiency of the crew, without considering that at least seven of the 16 members of the expedition were tried men and used to the rigors of Arctic flights, and four were men chosen from the Italian navy.

It also has been said that I took excessive advantage of the crew without reflecting that the crew of the Norge was not more numerous, and at the return, after 69 hours of flight, to the land of Nicholas II My companions were not at all fatigued.

Matter of Choice

There were a number of IFS and BUTS. The catastrophe would not have happened if this or that had not been done.

This was the reason for my response with a smile to Malmgren when, on the third day after our fall, under the red tent, he asked me:

"Do you think, General, that everything would have been all right if you had followed your idea to direct the course toward Mackenzie River, instead of coming back to Spitzbergen?"

In fact, it was Malmgren who dissuaded me from that idea. But of what importance? The navigation might perhaps have been less stormy, but an accident might have happened just the same. Who knows if our destiny might not have been worse?

If one of the adverse probabilities should happen and our enterprise should be wrecked or a total catastrophe should overtake us—such as is possible, even having done everything to prevent its occurrence—the facile critics will come forth and tell us:

"We told you so! It could not have been otherwise."

The possibility of a disaster and the defamation that would follow with malicious pleasure, thrown over our enterprise—both of which were foreseen by me, and therefore did not surprise me.

So I assisted calmly without my heart trembling at the shipwreck of the airship. I accepted with serenity the torturing vicissitudes on the pack. My heart was not broken when human cruelty assailed me unarmed returning from the pack.

And for this I am ready to begin again.

Their fiftieth wedding anniversary will be observed Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Northrup, of 2269 Brownsville road. They have lived in Pittsburgh since their marriage, in 1879. They have three children, Mrs. A. G. Cohen, of Brentwood; Mrs. A. Cappel, of Cleveland, and William C. Northrup, of Munhall.

WAR "ANGEL" IN CRASH

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 11. (AP.) The honeymoon of Kathleen Burke Peabody, wartime "angel of France," and Col. John Reginald McLean was interrupted yesterday by an automobile accident in which the bridegroom was possibly fatally injured.

McLean received a fractured skull and his bride was slightly injured when their chauffeur, James Irwin, attempted to pass a truck on the highway and collided with an automobile driven by J. Herbert Evans, of Mather, Pa.

Mrs. McLean, the widow of Frederick F. Peabody, millionaire collar manufacturer of New York, married Col. McLean here a week ago.

Neither the chauffeur nor a maid accompanying the McLeans were injured. Mrs. Evans and her two daughters, Mary Evans and Mrs Leah Evans Comfort, of El Cerrito, Cal. were slightly hurt. Mrs. Comfort's 3-year-old daughter, Barbara Alice, was slightly injured.

Invisible Ray Used For Burglar Alarm

LONDON.—An invisible foe to burglars, infra-red rays, is being experimented with here. The rays are invisible, and can be thrown across an entire room or across a doorway. When an object passes through the rays an electric circuit is broken, causing the ringing of alarms.

MONKEYS KILL 350 BIRDS IN PET STORE RAMPAGE

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Two monkeys released themselves from their cage in a downtown animal store yesterday and before their escape was discovered they had wrung the necks of 350 canaries and a rare parakeet and killed a half dozen fantail gold fish.

A policeman who saw one of the monkeys in the act of slaying the parakeet in a display window forced the door open and saw turtles crawling on the floor through a layer of bird feathers, frantic songsters beating their wings in terror against the walls, gold fish wriggling on counters and a large baboon working hopefully on the door of his cage, which had been partly opened by the monkeys. One old parrot, the tail feathers of which had been torn out, cursed monotonously as he walked a narrow shelf.

One of the monkeys submitted peacefully and was soon back in his cage, but the other hurled bird cages at his pursuers and was taken only after he had become engrossed in the task of pulling the tail feathers from a celluloid parrot.

Henry Bartels, owner of the store said the damage would amount to several thousands of dollars.

Mann Act Fugitive From W. Va. Caught

WHEELING, W. Va., March 11.—United States Marshal Harry Weiss was notified today by officials at Pontiac, Mich., that Dr. James H. McCall, former health commissioner of Marshall County, W. Va., had been arrested there. Dr. McCall was indicted by the federal grand jury at Elkins, W. Va., several weeks ago, charged with violation of the Mann act, accused of taking a girl from Moundsville to Pittsburgh.

Beggar Slashes Man Unable to Give Nickel

WHEELING, W. Va., March 11.—(AP.)—Because he did not have 5 cents to give a man who accosted him and demanded that amount Frank Vutrano, 40, today lies in a hospital with his face badly slashed. His assailant escaped. Vutrano told police he could not identify the man. Doctors reported Vutrano's juglar vein was just missed by the knifeblade.

MEXICO TO GET PLANES HERE

NEW YORK, March 11.—(INS.)—The Mexican Federalists will shortly have an augmented air force, it was learned here today. The Vought Aircraft factory in Long Island City has been working on an order for the Portes Gil government for two weeks and will have the first group of planes ready by the end of this week.

The planes, Vought Corsairs, are two-seat biplanes equipped with machine guns and bomb racks. Brig. Gen. Juan F. Azcarate, head of the Mexican air service, contracted for the planes and, it is expected, will fly one of them to Mexico.

Rob Country Club, Refuse Man's Hoard

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 11.—(AP.)—The Country Club of Rochester, this city's most exclusive club, was robbed by a gang of bandits yesterday. John Reus, bookkeeper, was roused from bed and compelled to open the safe while the bandits watched over him with automatics.

After Reus had handed from $300 to $500 in the safe, the bandit leader noticed a cashbox. "That's my savings," said Reus.

MISSING MAN FOUND DEAD IN CAR UNDER CREEK ICE

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 11.—(AP.)—The body of J. F. Bradford, 42, manager for an insurance company here, was found in his small closed automobile which had run into Little Grave creek at a bridge between Moundsville and Wheeling. Authorities believed Bradford had either fallen asleep at the wheel, allowing the machine to miss the bridge, or had skidded from the pavement at the approach to the span.

A severe laceration was found on Bradford's head, and it was thought he was knocked unconscious as the car tumbled into the creek and drowned as it submerged in about nine feet of water. There was water in the lungs, Coroner D. B. Ealy said an autopsy revealed.

Bradford, a former resident of Middlebourne, where he served as a Tyler County deputy sheriff, had been missing since Friday. Searchers directed their attention to the creek when a woman living near the bridge said she heard a "splash" Friday evening. It was necessary to break a coating of ice over the water to get to the machine.

Bradford is survived by his widow and one son, a high school student.

Prehistoric Marble Weapons Discovered

Rough Seas Get Pilot Unwanted Trip Abroad

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—A government pilot who for 25 years has guided ocean liners in and out of the port of New York, was on the high seas today en route to Europe on a voyage he did not seek. Capt. Frank T. Egan returned from a four-week vacation and his first assignment was to pilot the North German Lloyd liner Dresden through the harbor to the open sea.

Arriving off Sandy Hook, the sea was too rough to permit him to put off the liner for the pilot ship. That night his wife, at their home in Leonia, N. J., received a radiogram announcing the captain was making an enforced trip abroad.

NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS FAMILY ORCHESTRA

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—William Dewitt Mitchell, the new Attorney-General, and his family have an orchestra all their own.

"We started it much too long ago to tell about," Mrs. Mitchell said. "It was when the boys were small. They played the banjo and 'cello, Mr. Mitchell the clarinet and I the piano. We've always kept it up, and we look forward to it whenever the boys are at home."

Mrs. Mitchell observed that she was just as much concerned over youths in danger of "going to the good" as she was over youth in danger of "going to the bad." For if she had one pet aversion, she added, it was over-righteousness.

Though she looks forward to the social activities she will enjoy in her new role, Mrs. Mitchell said she would remain at heart "just an ordinary person, interested in people and what they do—and in books and saddle horses."

On a table in her home are photographs of her friend, Grace Coolidge, and of her own two sons. One son is studying business administration at Harvard, and the other has just gone into his father's law firm in St. Paul.

Mrs. Mitchell partially supported herself, as a girl, by giving piano lessons. She was born in Boston, but grew up in St. Louis and is quick to tell you she is "a Westerner."

BROCK LIGHTS AIR BEACON

The Grant Building air beacon was officially turned on last night after the first social function of the aero show here. Pilot William S. Brock, of Detroit, pushed the button after a dinner given in the William Penn Hotel by W. J. Strassburger, president of the Grant Building Corporation, to pilots and others attending the show.

Every industrial unit in the aviation field here was represented at the dinner, which members of City Council and county officials attended. The speakers were T. P. Gaylord, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Raymond Tucker, show chairman; Robert Laedlein, Aero Club president; Capt. Thomas Voss, Rogers Field commandant; R. M. Marlier, Henry Hornbostel, Strassburger and Brock.

FIRE AND BLAST DRIVE OUT 15

Fifteen persons were driven from their apartments yesterday while firemen, endangered by explosions of alcohol, fought flames that caused $1,500 damage to the Barrett Drug store, Sixth avenue and Merchant street, Ambridge, the confectionery store of S. V. Horlick and the apartments above them.

A lighted cigaret tossed through a pavement grating caused the fire, according to firemen. The flames spread through waste paper and reached the drug store stock, which included cans of alcohol.

Trotzky Quits Russ Consulate in Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 11.—(AP.)—Leon Trotzky, former Soviet war lord, who now is in exile, and his wife and son have left the Soviet consulate, where they have been confined since their arrival from Russia and now are living in a hotel in Pera. While he now enjoys most of the privileges accorded any foreigners residing in Turkey, it appears that Trotzky has pledged himself not to organize any demonstration. The same guards attend him, and the difficulty of keeping him isolated in the crowded hotel would seem to point to departure from Turkey.

Berlin Police Club Communist Paraders

BERLIN, March 11.—(AP.)—Police yesterday used their batons freely in breaking up an attempt of Communists, who are holding an anti-Fascist conference here, to march through Berlin in close formation. Twenty-two persons were arrested, but were released.

Pianos, too, have changed!

If you own an old-fashioned piano you may be sure that people find it nearly as conspicuous, as mirth-provoking and as awkward as clothing of the same vintage. Don't let an out-of-date instrument hint that you can't keep up with the times. Trade in the old piano for a handsome J. & C. Fischer Baby Grand in the style of Duncan Phyfe. This dainty little instrument brings to your home all the delicate charm which marks the work of America's greatest furniture designer. In Queen Anne furniture, the characteristic motif of the chair back is a vase; in Hepplewhite, a shield; Duncan Phyfe chose for his, the classic Greek lyre. In the Duncan Phyfe Baby Grand, this graceful lyre motif has been used in the desk and again in the upright supports. The legs are chastely fluted. Only 5' 3", this little Baby Grand can be attractively placed even in a very small room. Come today and see how clear is the grain of its rich brown mahogany; hear how sweet and mellow is its tone. $995, plus transportation.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes, such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income, as distinguished from earnings on capital, and since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

FLYING BRICKLAYER PLANS FLIGHT TO BERLIN IN JUNE

VINELAND, N. J., March 11.—Bill Pellegrini, the "flying bricklayer," will hop off on a New York-to-Berlin and back trans-Atlantic flight early in June.

Besides Pellegrini, former Italian war ace, but now an American citizen, there will be an assistant pilot, an expert air navigator and a radio operator. The entire crew will be members of labor unions.

The flight will be made with no commercial object in view and only as a demonstration of labor's support of the American air development policy, Pellegrini said.

The "Flying Bricklayer" will carry greetings from American labor unions to European trade union organizations.

The trans-Atlantic plane will be a tri-motor Bellanca amphibian and the order for delivery in the latter part of May already has been placed.

Yacht, Once Feared Lost, Reaches Suva

SUVA, Fiji, March 11.—(AP.)—The yacht Illyria arrived here today from Raratonga Island in the Cook group. All aboard were well. The vessel will remain here 12 days.

The Illyria left Boston last October carrying a number of scientists to the South Seas. It dropped out of sight for some time and there was some anxiety about it. The ship is under charter to Cornelius Crane, of Chicago.

P. S. C. DEFENDS TRANSIT BILL ACTION

HARRISBURG, March 11.—(AP.)—The Public Service Commission today denied that there was any impropriety in the action of Commissioner James S. Benn in asking State Senator Woodward, of Philadelphia, to sponsor a bill recommended for enactment by Charles G. McChord after his survey of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit situation.

"Judge McChord requested us to have the bill introduced in the Legislature," the commission's statement said. "Two commissioners were delegated to confer with this purpose in view with the Secretary of the Senate, W. Harry Baker. The latter advised that as a matter of courtesy it should be given to a Philadelphia Senator and suggested Senator Woodward.

Accordingly, Commissioner Benn called upon Senator Woodward in Philadelphia and gave him a copy of the proposed bill exactly as it was received by the commission from Judge McChord.

The issuance of the statement by the commission, naming Benn as the commissioner who approached Senator Woodward, was regarded as the commission's answer to the statement by Senator Woodward last week that he would name the commissioner who solicited his support if the Senate desired. It had been expected that such a request would be forthcoming tonight. In a speech on the floor of the Senate, Mr. Woodward had stated that whether the Senate should "fire" the commissioner who approached him was a proper matter for its consideration.

THEFT CHARGED TO SOLDIER

William Cregan, 20, of 2220 Gray street, Homestead Park, joined the United States Army last October and is now in Hawaii. But he's coming back to Pittsburgh.

City Detective Guy Daley is going to Hawaii after him, because before Cregan left he failed to clear up his alleged connection with the robbery of George R. Cunningham's home at 1932 Beechwood boulevard. While Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham were sleeping he is alleged to have taken $107 in cash and $3,000 in jewelry from their bedroom.

After the robbery, Mrs. Cunningham went to Atlantic City to recover from the nervous breakdown it brought on. The jewelry was recovered a few days later. Cregan's father repaid the $107 and the case, because of delayed hearings, failed to reach the grand jury. It is to be submitted this month, however.

AIR TRANSPORT MILEAGE IS DOUBLED

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Air transport companies in the United States covered 10,472,024 miles on scheduled routes in 1928 with a fleet of 294 planes and carried 52,924 passengers, according to Aircraft Year Book figures made public by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. The 1928 figures embrace an increase of 420 per cent in passengers and 100 per cent in mileage over 1927.

New passenger routes totaling 6,451 miles were added during the year, and 16 mail lines were established or extended, an aggregate of 5,928 miles. Nine express lines covering 2,151 miles were launched.

The great increase was attributed by the chamber to the trebling during the year of air mail poundage, which jumped from 1,222,843 pounds in 1927 to 3,632,059 in 1928.

The total number of air miles under operation at the close of 1928, aviation's silver jubilee, was 15,128, two-thirds of which were lighted or otherwise equipped for night flying. Twenty-two companies were operating 33 air mail lines, and four new air mail routes were planned for 1929.

3 TO BE FREED IN KIDNAPING

WOOSTER, O., March 11.—Charges against three of five persons indicted for the kidnaping last December 27 of Melvin Horst, 4, will be nolle prossed when court opens tomorrow, Prosecutor Marion Crawford declared today.

Elias Arnold, 60, and his son, Arthur, 17, will go on trial before Judge George Starn. Bascom McHenry, his wife, Dorothy, the elder Arnold's daughter, and her brother, William, will be freed at the request of the prosecutor. This action will be taken, the prosecutor said, so that if testimony in the trial implicates them they can be reindicted on new charges.

No trace of the boy has been found since he disappeared from home. He last was seen near the Arnold home.

SULTAN'S SON FIDDLES FOR PEASANTS' PENNIES

BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 11.—(AP.)—Prince Abdul Kadir, favorite son of the last Sultan Abdul Hamid, who might be sitting on the throne of Turkey if the monarchy had endured, applied yesterday, hat in hand, for a job as musician in a cafe here. His fortune of $50,000,000 was gone and he had been deserted by his six former wives.

Prince Abdul

The prince, who recently sold the priceless violin which had been a birthday gift from his royal father, was dismayed to find all doors to the Budapest musical world closed to him. Gypsy musicians, who have a virtual monopoly of the orchestras, have threatened to strike, if foreign musicians are admitted. The despondent Prince then decided to join an itinerant troupe which will tour the villages to pick up what money they can from the peasants.

AMERICAN DIES IN CHINA FIRE

VICTORIA, Hongkong, March 11.—(AP.)—An American seaman, Kish, of the cruiser Memphis, was killed today in a fire which took 14 lives in destroying the King Edward Hotel.

Kish jumped from a high window to a sheet held for him by firemen and spectators, but missed and struck the pavement.

A petty officer of the U. S. S. Nashville, named Phillips, refused to make a similar jump, knotted two sheets together and lowered himself safely to the fire escape.

Gen. Chan Ming-Shu, civil governor of Kwantung, jumped with his wife to sheets held under their window. They were injured slightly

A Mrs. Robson, an English woman, jumped from the fourth floor to the ground and was killed instantly. Her husband is missing.

MINE GUARDS OPPOSED

The coal and iron police system was the target of speakers last night at a meeting held under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties Union at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House. Organizations represented were the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union, Bakers' Union, Waiters' Union, League for Industrial Democracy, Pennsylvania Socialist party, Labor party, National Slovak Society and National Bohemian Union.

Resolutions passed demanded $10,000 bonds for coal and iron policemen and the restriction of their authority to company property only, and to within 500 feet of the mine tipple in the case of a coal mine.

Blaze in Coolidge Church in Capital

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—Exactly one week after former President Coolidge withdrew his membership, the First Congregational Church of Washington was slightly damaged by fire last night. A film being used in an illustrated sermon caught fire, but the blaze was confined to the booth, and the address continued after the excitement. Mr. Coolidge was a member of the church throughout his term as president.

FOR COLDS & HEADACHES
LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE
E. W. Grove
PRICE 30 CENTS
Paris Medicine Co. St. Louis, Mo.

Quick relief for COLDS since 1889

Do beautiful movie stars have colds?

Movie directors know their psychology. They realize that practically nothing can so quickly shatter the beautiful background of romance as the ordinary symptoms attending a cold.

That is why you have never seen a movie in which the heroine was shown with a cold? Or one in which the leading man sneezed constantly and coughed.

In real life, however, the stars catch cold as millions do. But unlike many people in other professions and businesses, they take care of themselves at once. They must. Their box-office value depends on their health.

That is why it is so significant that in Hollywood, GROVE'S BROMO QUININE is the outstanding, outselling cold remedy.

Its quick results have been proved for nearly 40 years. Pleasantly laxative, it clears the digestive tract of the poisons that encourage colds. Then it tones the system and breaks up the chills. Aches vanish. Headache goes. And your cold is over, quicker than you thought possible. . . . To be sure of getting the prescription which leads in world sales as it does in Hollywood, emphasize GROVE'S, in asking for GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Price 30c.

Weather Conditions.

The high that caused the cold weather over this section Saturday and Sunday is now centered over the South Atlantic Coast and covers all the Coast states. A low pressure area of marked intensity developed southward from Alberta during yesterday and last night and is now centered over Colorado; lowest barometer, 29.28 inches, at Denver. This distribution of pressure is causing southerly winds between the Rocky and the Appalachian mountains, and, as a result, the temperatures are rising throughout that section.

The disturbance is causing cloudy weather generally everywhere west of the Mississippi River, with light snow or rain over the Rocky Mountain states and the Pacific Coast states, and thundershowers in Texas and in Missouri.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling everywhere in the district, but a slight rise at the headwaters is probable today, from melting snow. Stage at Pittsburgh is 13.8 feet; Dam No. 2, 5.3; Dam No. 6, 12.0; Dam No. 9, 13.1, and Dam No. 12, 12.4. The dams are down.

MINE INSTALLS SAFETIES

Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company, located about two miles from Parnassus on the Puckety Creek road, Westmoreland County, is the first of the company's mines to reach 100 per cent efficiency in the safety regulations recently adopted by this concern.

Approved safety appliances are used in the mine proper. On the surface the most modern equipment and hospital facilities are available. A trained nurse is kept on duty eight hours a day.

Coast Guard Told Not to Stop Liners

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP.)—Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard, instructed Capt. Phillip Scott, in charge of the coast guard in the Norfolk area, that regular passenger liners plying between Norfolk and Baltimore are not to be stopped and searched by the coast guard. Admiral Billard said that the action was not a criticism of the coast guard in stopping the passenger liner President Garfield several nights ago, but that he felt that it was an unnecessary interference to stop the regularly recognized bay liners in that vicinity.

Robbers Get $1,625 From Girl Cashiers

CHICAGO, March 11.—(INS.)—Girl cashiers were forced to hand over $1,625 in two robberies here. Two gunmen forced 16 employes of the O'Erich and Berry Company to march to the rear of the office, while they took $1,200 payroll money from Mildred Hawk, cashier. Miss Blanche Zeller, cashier at the Indiana restaurant, was beaten on the head by two men who escaped after taking a $425 payroll.

RUINS OF STORE BLAZE ANEW

Fire which swept the S. Greenblat furniture store, 634 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, Saturday night, causing damage estimated at $60,000, broke out again yesterday and firemen were called back to drench the smoldering embers.

Traffic in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, was blocked during the shopping hours Saturday night while crowds watched firemen fight the flames. The origin was not determined.

SISTER-INVENTORS JAILED FOR HOTEL BILL; ONE RICH

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Two Chicago sisters who are seeking to collect $900,000 from the government for the alleged illegal use of a patented emergency ration were held in jail under default of $1,500 bail on a charge of attempting to defraud a hotel here out of a $661.90 hotel bill.

The sisters, Dr. Grace Osborne, 45, and Mrs. Lorena Ferson, 47, were arrested on complaint of the hotel manager who said they had sneaked their clothes out of their room after promising to pay the bill. They were located in another hotel, traced largely because they carried a small black kitten with them.

The two women, once wealthy, worked for years and spent much of their money, they said, in perfecting a small biscuit, said to contain enough food to sustain a grown person for 24 hours.

The government used their invention, they charged, in perfecting its emergency ration used during the World War and they have been trying to obtain a million dollars for the alleged infringement of their patent.

They said Senator Royal S. Copeland introduced a bill last May which would direct the treasurer of the United States to pay them $900,000, but the bill had not been passed.

When the sisters appeared in court, four other hotel managers were present to testify against them and the William J. Burns detective agency said it had 25 complaints against them, charging them with "jumping" hotel bills. The magistrate set bail at $1,500 each and when they were unable to arrange it, remanded them to Jefferson Market prison to await trial in special sessions. The women only had $30 between them.

Cat Bites Rescuer, Slain by Policeman

Acting the good Samaritan to a cat he thought was caught fast in a pile of lumber, George Kepmeyer, 16, 2614 Churchview avenue, Carrick, was bitten on the left hand. Kepmeyer heard the cries of the cat in the rear of 2607 Brownsville road. Investigating, he had removed several pieces of lumber from the pile, when the feline leaped and bit him. The cat was killed by Patrolman Fred Walz. Kepmeyer's wound was cauterized.

KONJOLA ENDS VAIN SEARCH FOR RELIEF

Rheumatism, of Four Years Duration, Yields to New Remedy; Pittsburgh Man Lauds Modern Compound.

How Konjola, the medicine with a million friends, goes to the very roots of ills is shown in case after case wherein this master medicine of 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—has triumphed after all else tried has failed.

MR. J. E. BRISON

This master compound is being explained by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store, (formerly McCulloch), Penn Ave. and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting those who come to hear just why it is, and how, that this new and different medicine triumphs when hope has been abandoned. In that sentence is the answer to the question of Konjola's amazing success. This super compound is new and different. There is no substitute for Konjola, because there is no medicine like it. Konjola's goal is new, abundant and glorious health fully restored; the mere mission of temporary relief is not the aim of this real medicine. Konjola cleanses and invigorates the ailing organs; it drives impurities and poisons from the system; it opens the door, paves the way for the return of health. What cheer there is for sufferers in the experience of Mr. J. E. Brison, 2849 Sarah street, South Side, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"After I suffered for four years, I found relief in Konjola and I am making this statement because I know this medicine will benefit others as it has me. Rheumatism made my life a steady round of torture and misery. The pains settled in my left knee; it was swollen and very stiff. Walking was agony. My arms were so badly affected that I was unable to raise them to my shoulders without agonies. Constipation and kidney trouble added greatly to my suffering. During the night my sleep was disturbed two or three times by frequent bladder actions. Constantly I searched for relief but I was always disappointed—my case seemed hopeless.

"Not long ago I was told about this new medicine Konjola, how it was benefiting Pittsburgh people and what praise and acclaim it was receiving from men and women who had found health through its use. I decided to find out for myself about it—whether it had any merit or not. The wisest decision I ever made was that to give Konjola a trial, for it was exactly what I always needed. The rheumatic pains began to go away—they steadily grew less severe and finally I was free of that disease. For the first time in four years I can get around, use my arms and legs without pain. My kidneys were strengthened and invigorated; my bowels were regulated and today there isn't a trace of either ailment. Glorious, indeed, is the health I now enjoy and to Konjola I owe everything."

Konjola is not designed for fleeting, temporary relief; its goal is abundant, glorious and lasting health. This master compound welcomes every test, no matter how long the suffering; no matter what medicines and treatments have failed.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch), Penn Ave. and Sixth St., this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

CITY'S TYPICAL GIRL MAY BE NATION'S

The names, photographs and characteristics of girls in every walk of life are being submitted to the Quest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. These include society girls, working girls, home girls, athletes and students.

This search for a typical Pittsburgh girl is of a selective nature. It is not a motion picture, popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort on the part of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Smart Set Magazine to find a girl who best represents this city.

COMPETE FOR TITLE

When the "typical Pittsburgh girl" is found she will be sent, with a chaperone, to New York, where, in competition with typical girls from 19 other of America's greatest cities, she will compete for the honor and title of the "Typical American Girl," who is to receive a cash prize of $5,000 besides numerous other rewards.

Interesting discussions have been taking place both in the newspapers and magazines and at club affairs as to just what constitutes a typical girl. In the current issues of Smart Set Magzine the matter of who the typical American girl is, is most interestingly taken up, giving the viewpoint of nationally known artists and civic leaders.

The "typical Pittsburgh girl" must be proposed by an organization or individual. She cannot propose herself. When entered as a candidate, her name, address, photograph, qualifications and biographical sketch must be sent to the Quest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

WHAT IS TYPICAL GIRL?

What constitutes a "typical girl?"

Artists agree that she is a pleasing personality, morally wholesome, also never prudish and that she is a person of good taste. Definite features such as form, face and coloring may vary, but it is agreed that the arch-type of our girlhood is strikingly attractive and smart in appearance, but not necessarily beautiful.

While height, age and weight are not the important concerns of this quest, popular opinion shows the "typical girl" to be approximately 5 feet, 5 inches tall, weighing around 118 pounds, and between the ages of 18 and 24 years.

Photographs and qualifications of candidates entered for this honor should be addressed to the Quest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture, popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the girl who best represents the Typical American Girl. As used herein, the term, "Typical American Girl," means one who is representative of young American womanhood in character, intellect, appearance, etc. The quest will commence March 1 and end at midnight, March 31.

2. A National committee of judges appointed by Smart Set, will make the final decision and award the $5,000 prize in New York, at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Delmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hoff and Margaret Sangster, editor of Smart Set and a representative of the Hearst newspapers.

3. A local committee of judges appointed by each co-operating newspaper will select each newspaper's regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or some club or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the Quest Editor, who will notify her if she has been selected.

6. The girl chosen as the regional winner will be sent under proper chaperonage, to New York, at Smart Set's call.

7. The minimum age is 17.

8. In the event that the decision of the National committee of judges results in a tie vote, the full award of $5,000 will be given to each tying candidate.

9. The decision of the judges will be final. No relative or member of the household or anyone connected with this publication, or with participating newspapers, can enter the quest.

10. The Quest Editor of each co-operating newspaper will organize a process for eliminating candidates whereby each week his local committee will investigate the most likely candidates. At the end of the quest, the local committee will make a final choice by ballot.

Witness Collects $1.10 Fee After 55 Years

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 11.—A bill 55 years old was officially paid by Sheriff W. B. C[illegible]mm to John Guinn, 79, of Wilsonburg. Guinn found the bill while rummaging in old papers.

The bill was an order drawn by James H. Taylor, clerk of the Harrison County Circuit Court, under date of February 14, 1874, directing the sheriff of the county to pay Guinn $1.10 witness fee and 5 cents mileage for appearing as a witness in the case of Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, who was charged with selling whisky at a "speakeasy" in Clarksburg.

The sheriff paid the order out of personal funds and will preserve the bill in his office as a curio.

Sailing on Honeymoon

MR. AND MRS. POWELL

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY

Pittsburgh Vacationists Start Return From Southlands

VERY gradually but certainly the tide is beginning to turn, and it won't be many weeks, now, before those nomadic society folks of ours will be back in town. A few have returned already, and that is encouraging even though the majority will remain in the South or in California until after Easter, at least. These final three weeks of Lent are likely to be just as quiet as their predecessors, but after all, that is only to be expected. Lent has never had a reputation for liveliness.

One of our debutantes and her mother have come back North again after spending several weeks in the South. I am referring to Louise Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, of South Negley avenue. Mrs. Evans and Louise traveled rather extensively, visiting Palm Beach, Augusta and Pinehurst. And another who is home again is Mrs. Charles Stuart Wunder, of Kipling road, who was in Miami for several weeks.

Mrs. James G. Pontefract, of "Bagatelle," Shields, is expected home some time this week from the West. Mrs. Pontefract, you remember, went out to visit her daughter and her husband, the William S. Charnleys, of Academy avenue, Sewickley, at their winter home in Southern California. The Charnleys and their children aren't coming East before the first of May, I understand.

While I was speaking about debutantes, I forgot to tell you that one of next season' buds, Susan Potter O'Neill, daughter of the Chauncey O'Neills, of Beaver road, Sewickley, has joined her grandmother, Mrs. George Latimer Potter, of Baltimore, and together they will take a motor trip through Florida. Susan, you know, is to make her bow on Christmas night in the Allegheny Country Club.

Another of the girls who will come out next winter, Melus Rhodes, has been studying in Paris all winter, as I told you before, and it seems she is to be joined abroad by most of her family. Her mother, Mrs. James Dickinson Rhodes, and her sister, Mary, sailed on Saturday, I hear, for Spain. They plan to spend some time at the Balearic Islands, off the coast of Spain, and probably will join Melus in Paris later. Mr. Rhodes and his son, Thomas Rhodes, are to sail for Europe late in the spring.

There are others, too, who are just starting out on trips. Among them are the Junior George Harton Singers and their children, Peggy and George Harton, III, of Sewickley Heights. They are sailing for Honolulu and expect to remain there until late in the spring.

Did you know that the former Janet Scully and her husband, W. Barnet Wolfe, are coming back to Pittsburgh to live? They have been making their home in Washington, D. C., you know, ever since they were married. With their small daughter, they are staying with Mrs. Scully's parents, the Henry R. Scullys, of Lexington avenue, until their new home is ready for them. Margaret Townsend Scully, who was in Washington for six weeks with her sister and brother-in-law, came back to Pittsburgh just a few days ahead of them.

And now a word about a wedding that is of interest. Word comes from Miami that the marriage of Mildred Virginia McCloy, daughter of the Albert Walter McCloys, of the Iroquois apartments, and John T. Millikan took place there on February 28. Mr. Millikan is a son of Mrs. John T. Millikan, of St. Louis. His bride, you know, is a granddaughter of Mrs. James J. Flannery, of the Schenley apartments, who has been with the McCloys in Miami for several weeks.

* * *

MISS GRACE BURTON, worthy matron of Mosaic Chapter No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star, will give a luncheon for her officers and social chairmen Saturday afternoon in Gimbels. There will be 25 guests.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. M. J. M'MAHON, of Ingram, who have been spending the winter in Florida, are in St. Petersburg at present and are expected to return home sometime this month.

Mr. James Gilbert of 70 Hollister St., Rochester, N.Y., got a bad cough while driving his truck in wintry weather. Then his druggist suggested REM—and here's another story of quick relief:

"Try REM!"--was the good advice his druggist gave

"Driving a truck is surely a cold job in winter and I get coughs often, sometimes a bad one," says Mr Gilbert. "I had one like that last winter and wasn't getting much sleep although I had tried cough medicines of several kinds. One night I dropped into De Carlos Drug Store at North St & Skuse Park, and De Carlos said, "Why don't you try REM?" So I did. REM relieved my cough very quickly, and now I wouldn't be without it. It helped my son's cough, too, and I'm glad De Carlos told me about it."

Restless nights don't do coughs any good. Many a person has REM to thank for a good night's sleep.

The Ice Queen -:- By Fanny Darrell

Fanny Darrell 29

LIKE a darting sunbeam she flies over the ice—queen of her own particular realm! And who can deny her power and the adoration of her subjects! None will because none can, for truly is she the most regal of them all. None can compare with her easy grace and fleet, gliding motion. She's a picture of pictures and well she knows her power.

And she's not alone the Ice Queen; she's the queen of—no not hearts, just of one heart that beats for her alone, and perhaps it is for this heart that she has perfected her skill on the ice. For she knows that his heart beats high with pride and joy when he hears everyone acclaim her the Ice Queen.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Why Women Admire a Successful Man

ALL women admire a successful man.

* * *

This is not because all women are mercenary, or because they look upon a successful man as a Santa Claus, who will shower pearls and sables upon them.

* * *

It is not the dollars that have followed in the wake of Lindy's flying feats that have made him America's Prince Charming. It is not even his tooth-powder smile and blond beauty—though that helps some.

* * *

It is because he DID the brave, and daring, the glorious thing. Because he GOT THERE! And got there, first!

* * *

When the knights of old went forth to do battle or to win tournaments, it was not the knight, but the woman who pinned her favor upon his sleeve, who got the biggest thrill out of his triumphal return.

* * *

It is some atavistic instinct in woman that makes her adore the kind of man who has the grit, the power and the skill to WIN. To "get there!"

* * *

* * *

But a man's charms for women are his strength, his ability and his power to conquer and achieve. His go-getting qualities. His ability to DO things—whether it's winning a football match, a scholarship, a Carnegie medal or a fortune in Wall street.

* * *

A woman may love and marry and "mother" a lazy, ineffectual man. But even while her heart yearns over him, she secretly despises him. The very sight of six feet of masculinity lolling around the house all day revolts her soul. If he would only get up and chop down a tree, or kill a chipmunk, or rob a bank—or DO something!

* * *

A man often loves a woman whose stupidity he despises, and whose laziness he abhors. He loves her because she is kissable and cuddly, or because she is beautiful and alluring, or because she is tender and soothing.

* * *

Success doesn't get a woman much in this life—not much from men, anyway. A successful woman is often a lonely woman, because, while men may admire her brains and ability, academically, no man ever loved a woman for her achievements.

* * *

But success is a halo that glorifies a man in a woman's eyes even when it proves only that he has mere brute power. And most of man's achievements in this world have been the result of his desire to glorify and justify himself in the eyes of some women.

* * *

A successful man, be he fat or bald or old or vulgar or ignorant, is never without the adoration of women.

Horoscope

Tuesday, March 12

A CONFLICTING planetary influence threatens to make this a day of fluctuating fortunes and circumstances. While there is some indication of change, of some financial success and of personal pleasures, yet also there is a sign of stubborn obstacles, postponements and a generally upset and disagreeable state of mind. Unless these menaces and inharmonies be cleverly managed it may be difficult to choose the proper course.

Those whose birthday it is may have some alluring opportunities for success financially and for an important change, but these are subject to obstacle, delay and the menace of ill-temper and rash judgment. Only with an excellent manipulation of self and circumstances may benefits be assured.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, clever and resourceful, yet it may be hampered by extremes of temper and bad disposition, unless it be checked and disciplined in infancy.

There is everywhere the working of the everlasting law of requital; man always gets as he gives.—Foster.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Formal Clothes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to my first dinner dance at an exclusive New York hotel.

Since the dance is formal, I shall wear an evening gown. Am I correct? Can it be elaborate? May I wear gold slippers with it?

2. May I wear a raccoon coat?
3. It is not proper to wear a hat—is it?
4. At what time are these affairs usually over?

READER.

YES, you should wear an evening gown to a formal dinner dance of this kind. It need not be elaborate; indeed, in these days of simplicity, elaboration does not have very much interest. A dance frock of chiffon or lace or georgette of a becoming shade—this is the best kind of dress for this occasion. If gold blends with the shade of your frock, gold slippers will be in good form.

2. An evening coat is the correct thing to wear. A raccoon coat is too informal.
3. No, do not wear a hat.
4. You may leave at any time that you wish—but 1 o'clock usually sees at least the beginning of the departures.

Don't Invite Men

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I would like to get a little information in regard to a stork shower I would like to have for my sister. I am going to send out invitations to some of her friends. Would it be all right to invite some young men? I would like to have some, and a sort of a party with young men and young women.

READER.

I VERY much doubt the taste of inviting men to this kind of party. It would, to say the least, be indelicate. A stork shower isn't supposed to be very good form anyway, and certainly not if both men and women are invited.

Engagement Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have just recently received an announcement of an engagement. Is it proper to send a gift? Does it show poor manners in not doing so?

DAILY READER.

IT is not necessary to send a gift for such an occasion, and usually only close relatives and close friends do so. The other relatives and friends concentrate their gift giving on the wedding present.

Mother Graham Agrees to Ride in the New Car

I TRIED hard to keep my disappointment at Harry Underwood's words from showing in my face. But I knew I had failed when he whispered warningly:

"Buck up, girl. Remember you and I are simply discussing repairs to this seat."

He moved between me and the veranda as he murmured the words and held out his hand.

"Why don't you get in and test the cushion?" he said in tones which easily could have been heard by anyone on the veranda.

I stepped into the seat and mechanically went through the motions of testing the comfort of the seat, which he had pretended to have repaired in order to placate the vanity of Mother Graham. The latter was peeved because she had not been invited to take the first ride in the new car.

"It's perfectly all right now," I said, and he nodded and held out his hand to assist me down again.

"The well-known Rome wasn't built in a day, you know," he whispered. "Go slow in this and don't worry."

He gave my hand a reassuring grip as he released it, but I could not heed his injunction as we walked back to the veranda. He had accomplished such miracles of sleuthing in his time that I had counted more than I knew upon his being able to see the address upon the letter which Mary had posted at Riverhead. For I believed obsessingly that the names of the person and town written upon that letter would prove the essential clue to the mystery of the girl's checks made out to "Janet Rawdon."

No chance to dwell upon that now, however. Mr. Underwood was speaking gayly to Mother Graham, and I knew very well that "nods and becks and wreathed smiles" were the accompaniment expected of me. I must put my gloomy forebodings aside until after my doughty mother-in-law was cured of her dolor.

"We have an official verdict, Madam Graham," Mr. Underwood told her, bending over her chair with a fascinating air of deference. "Your daughter-in-law declares the repairs to the cushion are perfectly satisfactory."

"Yes, you'll be very comfortable in that seat now, I'm sure, mother," I said, and Mr. Underwood spared me any further reference to the pretended repairs.

"I'm counting on your going with me right after luncheon, Madame Graham," said Mr. Underwood.

"I shall be very glad to accompany you," my mother-in-law said primly. "May my grandson, Richard Second, come with us if Mrs. Beckett approves?"

I was exceedingly proud of my small son's self-control. He knows that the motto, "Teasing forfeits all chances," always has been rigidly enforced, but I knew that he was wild to try the new car and had to fight to keep from uttering a fervent plea for the drive. But he said nothing, though his eyes were fixed on Katherine with an appeal calculated to melt a heart of stone.

The little nurse hesitated only long enough to make the permission doubly precious.

"I did not intend you should go beyond the veranda until tomorrow," she said, "but you are really so much better today that I think we may risk it. But—I must come too, if I may."

She looked toward Mother Graham, as did the rest of us, for we feared this intimation that anyone besides herself was needed to care for her grandson would be displeasing to her. But the memory of his accident and Katherine's devoted care of him were evidently too fresh for her natural choler to conquer them, and she smiled graciously at Katherine.

"Of course," she said promptly, and then turned to Lillian.

"That still leaves an empty seat in front," she said. "Won't you come with us, too?"

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Infection May Cause Rheumatic Symptoms

DRILLED into the public mind is a respect for certain diseases, as well as a sense of conviction regarding them. It is almost impossible to change popular opinion. It becomes almost as fixed as the laws of Nature.

DR.COPELAND

"Rheumatism" is a disease of this sort. It is all but impossible to make the average man believe he is mistaken about it. He was taught in his youth that going without a warm coat, getting the feet wet, or sitting in a draught, would cause rheumatism. He hates to be disturbed in his conviction.

Our grandparents thought every baby should cut its teeth on a rind of pork. They looked upon the tomato, or "love apple," as they called it, as a dangerous fruit—eating it, they believed, would cause cancer. Sleeping in the moonlight, these ancestors of ours were sure, would bring on insanity.

But "the world do move." We must revise a lot of our old-time convictions.

As regards rheumatism, for instance, we have gone past the exposure idea of its cause. For several years the "infective theory" has held the boards. That is, according to this idea, rheumatism is due to the effects of the absorption of bodily poisons.

Of course there are other factors. We cannot disregard the lowered powers of resistance which result from underfeeding or something else that lessens the nutrition of the body. Dampness and exposure have their effects, it cannot be denied. Indeed, every broken rule of right living is a factor.

From time to time I write about the evil effects of "lime starvation." In childhood, particularly, it is vital to have an unfailing supply of lime. Without it all sorts of troubles threaten.

But there is another side to the lime question. There is such a thing as getting too much lime and, for that matter, too much phosphorus. These two minerals have an intimate relationship to bone development. Bone and joint and tendon are close relatives. What disturbs the welfare of one may cause trouble in the others. An excess of lime and phosphorus may cause deposits in the tendons or between them, as well as in the joints.

I shall say more about this on another occasion. It is an interesting problem.

But I was speaking about the infection theory. According to this teaching, if we have diseased gums, abscessed teeth, infected tonsils or chronic infection somewhere else in the body, the germs may be carried through the blood stream to one or more of the joints.

What happens then? Inflammation. Following it there are deposits and thickening of the tissue. Then nodules, nodes, lumps and deformities result.

These swellings, or tumors, or lumps, or whatever you choose to call them, are to be felt under the skin. The skin moves freely over them and they appear to be fixed in place. Any of the joints—the fingers, knuckles, elbows, knees, ankles and even the bone under the scalp, may be involved.

These are some of the present-day ideas about rheumatism. We cannot hope to find a means of overcoming the ailment unless we seek for its cause. The real factor may be a long way from the painful part.

Think over what I have said and see if your "rheumatic" pain is not due to an infection, wrong feeding, or a run-down state from any cause. There is some underlying condition which must be discovered and removed.

TOOK CATHARTICS EVERY NIGHT

Eating ALL-BRAN Relieved Constipation

Everybody who is slave to cathartics and laxatives will be interested in this letter—

"I took cathartic pills every night and enemas daily to relieve myself and take away the awful headaches I was subject to. Two months ago I started eating a large bowl of your ALL-BRAN with cream for breakfast and today I am in fine condition, better than I have been in three years. My bowels are regular every day. I have not taken one cathartic pill in two months."—Mrs. A. J. O'Connell, 52 Phelps Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Constipation gets in its deadly work when bulk is left out of the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, however, will supply this bulk. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Thousands have regained their old-time vigor and relieved constipation forever by eating ALL-BRAN. Doctors recommend it.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious recipes for muffins, breads, etc., on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars serve it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ROXY, ALBERT SPALDING, STAGE STARS ON RADIO

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

WHILE one born in 1903 might not be expected to relish "Bedelia" and "Rings on My Fingers, Bells on My Toes," nevertheless we thoroughly appreciated Blanche Ring's radio debut last night on the NBC hookup.

Blanche went over big in "Yip-I-Yaddy-I-Aye" which had heretofore been known to us only as a dusty phonograph record seldom played.

The celebrated comedienne conjured a splendid tone picture of the musical comedy stage a quarter of a century ago. The orchestra could not have done better with its "Billboard March" and weird "Hungarian Rag" which, we think, set a precedent for some of the jazz pieces popular today.

Victor Saudek took us by surprise with an extra, "Down South," in the Symphony concert. It made a good program even better.

Several programs yesterday were above par.

ALBERT SPALDING TO SING

Deviating somewhat from its set policy of presenting motion picture stars, the Vitaphone Jubilee will present Albert Spalding, famous violinist, at 9:30 through WJAS.

Sharing honors, so far as celebrities go, will be Kenneth Harlan's appearance on the Davis Jubilee program, WCAE at 11. Supporting Harlan will be Nan Halpern, Kate Smith and Freda and Palace, guitarists.

Of all the KDKA features, we think Roxy's Gang at 7:30 shows the greatest promise for entertainment. Roxy will celebrate the second anniversary of the opening of his New York Theater. And a lucky boy he is to be present after that terrible automobile smashup last week!

Poor Matt Thompkins, the Real Folks' mayor, has to make out his income tax tonight, KDKA at 9:30.

SCOTTDALE MALE CHORUS

Successful business men are good singers. Prove it! All right, tune in on KDKA at 7:01 when the Scottdale Male Chorus under the direction of A. L. McIntyre, sings the Soldiers' Chorus from "Faust" and other numbers.

The Capitol Limited Trio will greet fans from KDKA for 15 minutes starting at 6:15 while the new booking at the William Penn Hotel, Charley Straight's Orchestra, will be heard at 6:30.

A special arrangement of the "Song of India" will be offered by the Gypsies, WCAE at 8:30 p. m.

Famous artists will sing the favorites of Booth Tarkington, famous American novelist, KDKA at 9.

HISTORY OF CALIFORNIA.

Three episodes in the history of California will be the theme. The events will be dramatized with a background of appropriate music.

The first scene will be laid in San Carlos Mission, Monterey, founded, 1770, by Gaspar Portola, of the Franciscan Order. It will portray the life of that time and the work of these Spanish missionaries among the Indians of California.

The second scene will bring the Americans on the scene. The discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill brought the gold rush of '49, and Americans by thousands were coming to the new "El Dorado." Carefree indolence of the Spanish dons gave way to the tempestuous driving force of the Argonauts.

Lastly, will come modern California, with its thriving cities, picturesque beaches, forest monarchs and lofty mountains, and with this episode the radio audience will hear a short message from one of the state's leading citizens.

Baby is likely to wake you any night with that sharp cry which means just one thing—colic! Be ready. Keep a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house. A few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation comforts a colicky, fretful or feverish baby in a jiffy. In a few moments your anxiety is over and baby's sleeping soundly again. He'll tell you Fletcher's Castoria doesn't contain any harmful drug—that it's safe for the youngest infant and effective for children of all ages in cases of constipation, colic, gas, diarrhea and those upsets when you don't know just what is the matter. A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

J. N. TILLMAN DIES; 14 YEARS IN CONGRESS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., March 11.—(AP.) — Ex-Representative John Newton Tillman, 70, Democratic member of Congress from 1915 to 1929 and former president of the University of Arkansas, is dead at his home here after nine months' illness. He announced his voluntary retirement last summer and did not seek re-election.

Mr. Tillman came to his home on a visit last June and illness prevented his return to Washington. He suffered a paralytic stroke on July 4 and since that time has been confined to his home. His condition took a serious turn about a week ago.

From 1905 to 1912, Mr. Tillman served as president of the University of Arkansas, the school from which he received his A. B. degree in 1880.

He was succeeded in Congress by Claude Fuller of Eureka Springs.

Mr. Tillman gained national prominence by the long fight he had waged for the payment of Confederate pensions by the federal government.

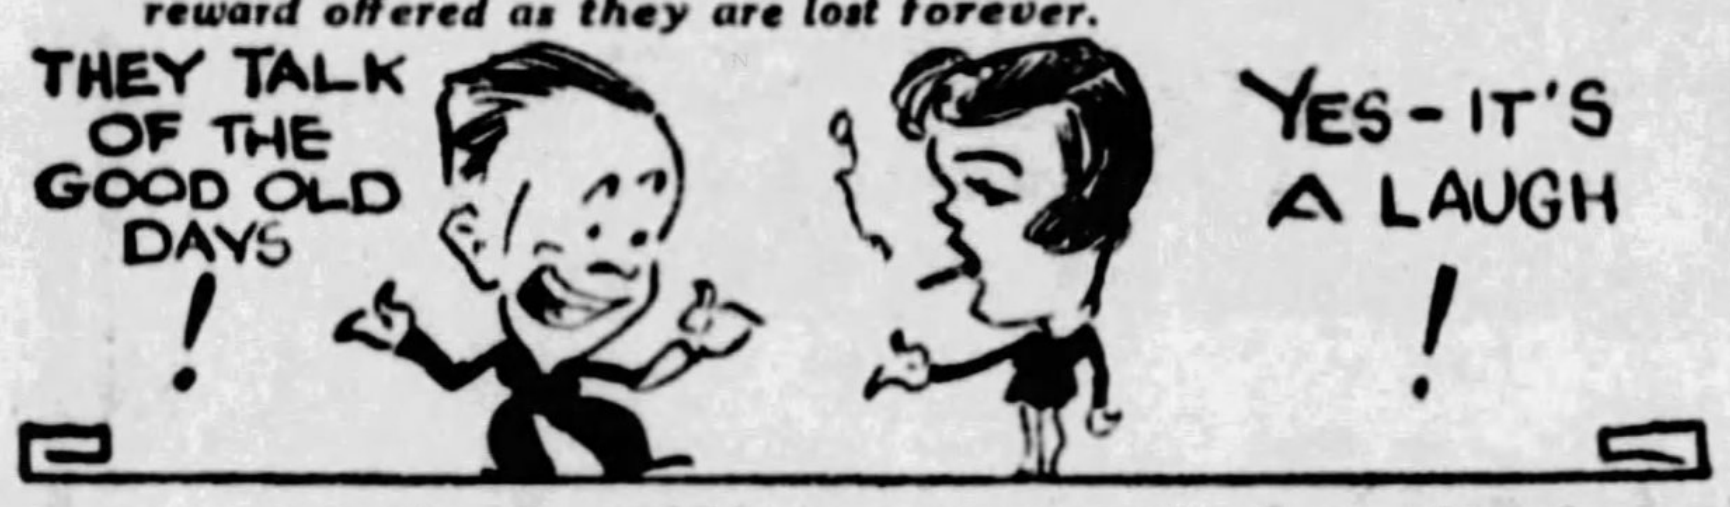
The contributor recalled in his letter the celebrated advertisement of Channing which read:

Lost—Some time yesterday between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each one set with 60 diamond minutes. No reward offered as they are lost forever.



THEY TALK OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS !
YES - IT'S A LAUGH !

And like the golden hours, so are the days when the town was young.

Things aren't like they used to be around the old home town. Youngsters snicker, but a few years from now they'll be chanting the same old refrain: "Those were the good old days."

NEW HIGHWAY INDORSED

Members of borough councils at Wilmerding, Wall and East McKeesport were present at a meeting of the Wilmerding Rotary Club at which time a resolution was passed urging the construction of portions of highways to bring about a good road from Greensburg and Wilmerding to the McKeesport-Braddock road.

The council members present were in accord with the project and declared at the meeting that at no place would the new road have more than a five per cent grade and that it had the indorsement of the county engineers.

3,500 at Holy Name Rally on South Side

A rally of the Holy Name Society, South Side district, drew more than 3,500 members to the Arcade Theater, 1917 Carson street, last night. Thomas J. McCann was chairman, and the Rev. John B. Collins, diocesan vice president, delivered the principal address. Taking part were members of St. Adalbert's, St. Casimer's, Holy Angels, Holy Cross, St. John's, St. Michael's, St. Matthews, St. Peter's, and St. Josephat's churches.

THE REV. DR. ALLEYNE C. HOWELL IN HIS PULPIT

In his pulpit at fashionable St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Sewickley, where he has been for more than 20 years, Dr. Howell does least of his preaching. In thought and deed he is a modernist.

RIDING TO HOUNDS

In the pink, Dr. Howell often rides to hounds. He's peripatetic, he says. Thus he moves about from place to place to conduct his religious teachings.

Few of any creed are ill in Sewickley Valley Hospital without a visit from Dr. Howell. And his thoughtfulness is extended to include birthday and wedding anniversary congratulatory cards for all his community.

MASS MEETING CONSIDERED TO URGE SCHOOL

Firm in the belief that a new grade school is necessary to the best interest of the district, it is announced that a mass meeting soon will be called by residents of Squirrel Hill.

The Squirrel Hill Board of Trade has indorsed the movement and adopted a resolution calling for the construction of the school at Hobart, Wightman streets and Phillips avenue. It is set forth that the site for the school has been condemned and taken over for that purpose, but no action toward building has been taken for three years.

The fast increasing population of the district and the long distances children are compelled to go to school are set forth as arguments in favor of the building. A petition to the School Board has been signed by more than 100 residents and the Board of Trade has appointed a committee to promote the plan.

ARREST NINTH IN RUM RING

The ninth of 16 defendants in an alleged rum ring operating in Fayette and Greene counties and northern West Virginia, was in custody of prohibition agents today.

He is George Gerau, of Fairmont, W. Va. Arrested there yesterday, hew as brought here today and will be turned over to the U. S. marshal. Among those previously arrested was Sheriff Arno S. McClellan, of Greene county. Another defendant sought is Albert H. Scales, former prohibition agent.

Cripple on Trial In "Crutch" Murder

Accused of a "crutch" murder, George Davis, Negro, of 208 Elm street, was placed on trial in Criminal Court today before Visiting Judge E. M. Biddle, Jr.

Spring Is Here! 55 Degrees Predicted

Springlike weather will prevail today and tomorrow, with the mercury rising to between 50 and 55 late today, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced.

Showers, predicted for tomorrow afternoon, appeared in the weather forecast today for the first time this season and is an indication, Brotzman said, that the long winter is about over.

The temperature fell to 11 degrees yesterday, making it the coldest March 10 since 1877 when a record low of 10 degrees was noted.

ROXIE APPEALS FOR POLICE AID

Roxie Long, late of Western Penitentiary, appeared in Central Police Court today in a novel role. He charged his father-in-law, Annis Riston, 58, of 1707 Cliff street, with pointing a pistol at him and attempting to "frame" him so that he will be sent back to the penitentiary for violation of parole.

Roxie, who said his father-in-law's present ire at him is because he's trying to get a parole for his wife, Virginia, serving 60 days for pointing firearms, while leaving her brother, Clarence, in jail for the same offense, insisted to Magistrate Leo Rothenberg that he's trying to "go straight." Rothenberg believed him. He held Riston for court.

Wilmerding Moves To Form Lions Club

A movement has been launched in Wilmerding for the organization of a Lions' Club in that borough. It is argued there is no Lions' Club between Wilkinsburg and McKeesport and that one is needed in Wilmerding to form a connecting link. It is reported that the move is meeting with favor and that a number of prominent persons already have signified their intention of aiding the project.

Avalon Permit For Store Granted

Capt. J. N. Arthur, borough manager, of Avalon, has granted a permit to John A. Mohr for erection of a brick and cement block store building at Jackman and McKinley avenues to cost $3,500.

AGREEMENT TO SPEED OHIO RIVER BOULEVARD ACTION

With the county commissioners acceding to the request of the North Boroughs that the county maintain the proposed Ohio River boulevard, the way is clear for final action on route ordinances in three of the four communities through which the highway will run, according to borough officials.

Bellevue, Avalon and Emsworth councils have passed the ordinances on second reading. County engineers are engaged in drafting agreement measures as a result of the decision of the commissioners last week that the county will meet all expenses of property damage and maintenance except lighting. The councils of the three boroughs are ready, it is understood, to approve these agreements.

Ben Avon has taken no step to approve the boulevard route ordinance. At the conference last week representatives of the council asked the commissioners to consider a bluff route as an alternative to that proposed by county engineers. The commissioners indicated they would consult with engineers. The latter have tentatively disapproved of the bluff location as costing $250,000 more than the Brighton road route.

Ben Avon council is scheduled to meet tonight. Action on the boulevard question is not anticipated until a final decision is received from the county authorities as to the route. Members of council and some of the citizens are anxious to preserve the beauty of the borough, they say, which they feel will be jeopardized by a highway along the route proposed by the county.

"HAIL FELLOW" AS WELL AS MINISTER

Fashionable St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at Sewickley has a peripatetic rector. He is the Rev. Dr. Alleyne C. Howell, former senior chaplain of the Army embarkation center at Le Mans, France, horseman and friend of the needy.

Riding to hounds! Visiting the sick! Playing host behind a good fat cigar in the quiet of his home or study! On the highway or byway! It is all the same with Dr. Howell. He fills the bill of "hail fellow well met" and minister to the full satisfaction of his wealthy congregation and has done it for more than 20 years.

IS MODERNIST

A decided modernist in his views as well as his mode of living and pulpit policy, so to speak, Mr. Howell's broad-mindedness and thoughtfulness has endeared him to the hearts of most everyone with whom he has come in contact even but once. His sermons have been termed delightfully refreshing and enlightening by men and women in all walks of life and many different creeds.

Of Old Testament dogma Mr. Howell says: "It is a long time since, some of us at least, received our early training, and we cannot recall to what extent there was inculcated the Old Testament dogma that the prosperity of the righteous was the sign of God's favor, and that suffering in mind, body, or estate signified His displeasure and chastening.

"Today we do not believe that God sends trouble. Without doubt much trouble in the world is man-made: as to the rest, no one can quite say. It is not our belief that God interferes with the orderly processes of Nature. In a 'Vestris' disaster or a Mt. Etna eruption, we do not see an 'act of God;' but in the universal sympathy and outpouring of relief that follows, we do see the Spirit of God made manifest."

Since the war, this remarkably modernist of the cloth points out that people are thinking more for themselves and rather than lose one of his flock who has strayed from regular worship and church attendance, he goes out to carry the thought of religion by suggestion and thought rather than preaching.

HAS MANY FRIENDS

For this reason he is found in the most select social circles mingling freely at the club or home function. So great is the regard of Sewickley's ultra fashionable that before the Sunday morning hunt answers the call of the horn the riders—both men and women—pause until St. Stephen's bells chime the hour for worship before they gallop into the field.

In keeping up with the times, Dr. Howell does not forget the lame and halt. Every day he visits parishioners confined to their homes with illness and once a week he makes his round of the wards in the Sewickley Valley Hospital.

Never a birthday or a wedding anniversary passes for St. Stephen Church members and friends of the rector that the thoughtful minister does not send a card of greeting. Last year, records of his secretary reveal, he sent more than 7,000 such greetings.

East Deer Township Commissioner Named

Joseph Limage has been appointed commissioner at large in East Deer Township for the unexpired term of Frank Holscher, who died February 7. Holscher was elected November 26, 1927, for a four-year term.

AS AN A. E. F. CHAPLAIN

Dr. Howell in the red World War days as an A. E. F. chaplain in France. He foregoes dogmatic sermons today to carry practical religion to his parishioners.

New Squirrel Hill Bus Line Planned

Another bus line for the Squirrel Hill district, to serve those residing in the outer Beechwood boulevard district, as well as to augment the present service, is being planned. The new line would leave Schenley Park to the boulevard, then to Friendship avenue and then circle back according to the present plans. The Squirrel Hill Board of Trade has named a committee to urge the granting of this additional service.

Today's Flagism

In 1832, restless Americans were already beginning to push across the western plains and mountains to find new homes in the far west. The "covered wagon days" had begun. On March 11 in that year, the first white settlers left Boston for the northwest, establishing by their journey what came later to be known as the "Oregon trail." Old Glory went with them and has since remained there as a reminder of the fighting spirit of the early pioneers who claimed the northwest for the United States.

Carnegie Freshmen To Stage 3 Plays

Wallace, head of the department of drama, will stage the plays.

LAST WEEK FOR FLAG CONTEST ENTRIES

This is the last week in which schools, clubs, boy and girl scout troops or patriotic organizations, planning to conduct Flag Contest Units may send in their applications to the Flag Contest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Applications received after March 15 cannot be accepted.

The flag contest of the United States Flag Association has received nation-wide success. Never in the history of the country has such a great patriotic movement among school children been launched.

The flag contest consists of answering 75 questions on the American flag and in writing a short essay on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory." It is open to every boy and girl between the ages of 14 and 18 who has not graduated from a high school or its equivalent.

Privilege to conduct a contest unit may be received from the Flag Contest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Instructions, materials and questions will be supplied without charge.

The lecture was the third of a series of eight illustrated nature talks Sunday afternoons of March and April.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, March 11.

Juarez has been taken over by one side or the other, But that don't mean anything. That was just like the border states going Republican last fall. They will switch back next time if the other side makes 'em a better offer, and that's the way with Juarez.

FLOSSIE MURPHY PINCH HITS FOR MINNIEHOKUS—TELLS SOME GOOD ONES

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

(Copyright 1929, Premier Syndicate.)

THE following epistle is explanatory—or am I wrong again?

"Hi:

"Your Monday squawk—not a Vitaphoner—is tooken with the flu, I mean Minnehokus. She don't want no one to know she's under a doctor's care as it might interfere with her talky racketeering. But she is. Min got a hold of some Eighteenth Amendment stuff and it didn't agree with her Injun constitushun. So she give me the jingle-berry and I come over to spill chatter and cheer her up by explaining how the other half lives.

"Min was upset, it being Monday and her disabled to write your colem. Min says you're so lazy she wonders why you don't starve to death. So to stop her temperature from burning up the thermometer, I said I'd set awhile and pinch-hit for her. You know me. I'm Flossie Murphy, the frail what retires before midnight and can't get a movie contract.

Fancies Girl .... And Her Alimony

"I WAS tellin' Minniehokus about a guy who took his heavy sweetie for a ride without her knowin.' The dame was married to a funny guy but she's got air now. Then she met up with this pain in the ankle what's also in pictures. He took a fancy to her alimony and gave her the cupid rush. Finally he popped the 'will you' and she uh-huhed. So he hader pinch her finger with a glitterer. He worked real cute and my girl friend says the dame paid some of her hard-earned alimony for the ring.

"Which ain't the half of it. After she found the sparkler what appealed to her pupils, her lollipopper took the jeweler aside and explained the girl friend had gone to two other places where she found rings she liked just as well. Now if the jeweler would give him a commission on the ring he'd grab it. So the jeweler said sure, and gave him 15 per cent. So after the frail paid for her own engagement ring the big bum grabbed off 15 per cent and kept his mouth clamped.

"Believe me, baby, I do my papa shopping on the free-lance market where air is free and only the neighbors savvy.

Flapper Clara Is Natural Girl

"I WAS tellin' Minniehokus about a boy friend of mine who used to john gilbert with Clara Bow. He says one thing he likes about that dame is she don't mistake every man for a walking delegate for Tiffany. And she ain't always throwing a party and making guests come bareback and tuxedoed. She's natural, like when the dice come seven or eleven on the first roll. I'd like it real smart if Clara went in for the hitch act if only to get an earful of Hollywood wrapping asbestos around ast-risks and broadcasting in the parlor.

"Minniehokus was just sayin' that she visited with Clara one afternoon. Guess where she keeps her dressing table" In the bath. Yeah. Min says her house is sorter small and Clara believes in takin' advantage of convenient corners. If I ever get discovered I figure to do likewise even though folks mayn't understand. They have fun not understandin' out here.

Writing Caesar Spills a Laugh

"I seen a guy at the Brown Derby the other night who was introduced as Arthur Caesar. He come out to write for Fox fillums but he's on the loose now. He cracked out with: 'It couldn't happen in any business but the movies—from Poland to polo in two generations.' Which made me answer: 'And from polo to turkey in a third.'

"I seen Charlie Chaplin pull a funny one without intenshun. Charlie was eatin' his supper in a restaurant and every time he filled his fork with food and raised it he sniffed it before eatin' it. I only mention this as Minniehokus says you'd like to know how the other half eat. Wait a minute. She wants to add a word.

"How. Catchum bad cold. Hit the springs. Run temperature. Plenty exercise. Bime by get up. Come next week. 'Slong.'

MAN IS KILLED IN CONVENTION FIST FIGHT

OGDEN, Utah, March 11.—(AP.)—Edward A. Spellman, an engineer employed in the construction of the Echo dam at Coalville, Utah, is dead and Dan Rowlands, employe of a can company, is held under $10,000 bond as a result of a midnight encounter between the two in a downtown hotel here as the annual convention of the Utah Canners' Association was coming to a close.

County Attorney Samuel E. Blackman said his investigations showed that Rowlands accused Spellman of insulting Mrs. Lawrence Russell, wife of a fellow can company employe and the accusation led to words and finally a blow on the chin, following which, a few moments later, Spellman died.

Spellman, a former Denver man, came from Coalville to Ogden Saturday and took a room at the hotel. He joined in the festivities marking the close of the canners' convention.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Dick Stuyvesant and Felicia Brett, both in Reno for divorce, meet and fall in love with each other. With Dick at the hotel is a bachelor friend, John Berkeley, usually called J. B. Felicia, with her 6-year-old son, is visiting the Hodges, old friends from the East, now permanent residents of Reno. Her husband, Alexander Brett, comes to Reno and on her refusal to return to him, threatens to take little Alex away from her. He hires detectives to watch Felicia and has two gunmen kidnap the boy. The boy is rescued by an odd character known as the Desert Rat and restored to Dick and J. B., who are out looking for him with a member of the state police. From the report of his private detective, Brett learns that the Rat was once a prosperous broker, Stephen Pierce. Brett recognizes the name and laughs exultantly. With the failure of the kidnaping attempt and no more visits from Brett, Felicia believes that her husband has abandoned his opposition. Dick notices a change in her, an interest in Reno festivities, that makes him anxious. He has to go away on a business trip, but wishes that he did not have to leave her. Restless in Dick's absence, Felicia accepts an invitation from young Peg Hodge to drive with her and two college boys. Her escort, Billy Blair, is openly admiring. When he offers her his flask, she hesitates, then takes it and drinks. Under the influence of the liquor and a spirit of devil-may-care, she permits Billy to kiss her. Then follows a bathing party at night and a separation into pairs. Billy makes love to Felicia and she returns his mad kisses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

"OH, excuse me!" Peg's voice, low and teasing, beside the couple lying on the sand, was like a dash of cold water.

Felicia and the boy sprang apart, Felicia's cheeks crimson in the moonlight. Well, she thought definitely, Peg couldn't say anything! What about her, with Joe, out there under the trees?

"It's 3 o'clock," the voice of reason spoke from Peg's laughing lips. "Are you two going to stay here all night or are you coming home with the rest of us?"

Peg was highly amused. The difference between Felicia, sober, and Felicia, not so sober, was amazing!

But Felicia was not drunk—not, at any rate, drunk with liquor. Intoxicated by the stars and the bracing mountain air, bewildered at being flung suddenly, at the age of 26, into this crowd of reckless youngsters, Peg did not know it, nor did Felicia herself realize it, but the older girl was by far the least experienced of them all in this sort of thing. She had been married, she was the mother of a child—yet she was as innocent as that child himself of this frantic seeking for pleasure, for new thrills.

"Let's all go out to the Gold Rush tomorrow night!" Billy Blair suggested as they drove back to Reno. "Felicia's never been there!"

Peg shrugged. "Might's well keep it up while we still have our youth!"

The Gold Rush entertains a heterogeneous crowd; ranchers, miners, gamblers, men from Below the Line, tourists, divorcees and the younger set of permanent residents. Some 40 miles beyond Reno, it lies on the California-Nevada state line, and a painted band bisecting the dance floor permits one to be conscious that one foot is in Nevada while the other dances gaily in California.

After midnight colonists establishing their Nevada residence have to take care where they tread, and more than once a criminal, sought by the Nevada police, has stepped six inches to the right and laughed in the helpless face of the law.

The loud laughter of dancers and the clamor of the "red hot" orchestra was exciting. Sipping her drink as nonchalantly as though she had been drinking all her life, Felicia sat watching a group of colonists making merry. There was a bitterness about their gaiety; their laughter seemed oddly forced.

She turned back to her own crowd, the university bunch. They were not pretending—masquerading, as Judge Cooper had said. Their amusement was spontaneous—they were young.

Billy Blair was going about his drinking in a thoroughly efficient manner, and he seemed intent on Felicia's doing likewise. Always there seemed to be two glasses at her place, the one she was finishing and the one awaiting her consumption. Her cheeks were flushed.

Perhaps it was the example of the older people; perhaps it was because they were confined beneath a roof, but all of them were drinking more—much more—than usual. Peg was becoming silly, giggling at nothing at all.

Billy slipped unobserved from the table; when he returned, a little unsteady on his feet, he swung Felicia out to the dance floor. The music stopped; they were near a door and he led her through it. She looked at him questioningly.

"Want to talk to you," he muttered. "Can't talk to you down there!"

"But where are we going, Billy?"

He paused, swayed. "Don't you trust me, F'licia?"

"Of course I do! But—"

"Then come along!"

He pushed open a door, led her inside, and closed the door behind them. A little room, dimly lighted, with a table, chairs, and a narrow couch. Highballs awaited them, and with an air of formality the boy pulled out a chair for Felicia.

"I'm tired of that gang!" he grumbled. "Oh, Felicia, I'm so crazy about you! You've got to let me tell you! You've got to listen!"

She sipped her drink, looking at him uncertainly over the rim of the glass, trying to bring her eyes to focus on his face. "But what'll the others think? They—"

The others thought nothing at all; they were in no condition for thinking.

Dick Stuyvesant and Sam Lanier, hiking back from the claim and halting to recover their car, parked at the Gold Rush as they explored the mountains afoot, strode into the noisy room for something to eat and drink before resuming their trip home.

Peg's giggle rose shrilly, and Dick looked at her disapprovingly. What would the Hodges think if they knew that their child was in such a place, at such an hour—and drunk? What would Felicia think?

The only vacant table was next to that which Felicia had left, and the two men sat down. Peg's hazy eyes traveled without recognition across Dick's face.

"Good Lord!" muttered Dick. "Wouldn't you think those kids—" His voice died away. His eyes were riveted upon Peg's table.

That bag, of rose and gold embroidery, lying there — Could there be more than one—more than the one he had seen Felicia carry! There were two empty chairs, pushed back, chairs which obviously had been occupied not long since!

His head whirled. Felicia couldn't be here! It was impossible! Yet memory of his apprehensions at leaving her, in that strange, drifting mood which had come over her after her child's return, was strong.

"Excuse me," he said, brusquely to Lanier, and went out of the room.. Apprehensively, he searched the grounds, returned to the dance floor and stood, uncertainly, wondering what he should do.

Just up the stairs that ascended behind him, in a closed room, Billy Blair had pushed back his chair and lifted Felicia from hers.

"Do you know how much I love you?" he was demanding, over and over. "Do you! Do you?"

Felicia stood very still beneath the storm of his kisses, wondering at a change within her heart. Last night it had all seemed so different. . . . "Billy, you mustn't! You must take me back to the rest." Did she mean it? Was she lying to herself again?

"Take you back! Not on your life!" His embrace tightened. "Take you back—when I have you here! Don't be silly!" Her eyes burned and suddenly Felicia was frightened, as she realized the depths to which she had plunged.

"Billy, I've been crazy! I don't really love you—not really. I—" It was the truth — she knew now. What a fool she had been! Dick . . .

The boy's face blazed. "Oh, you don't love me! Well, isn't that a darned shame?"

Felicia struggled, but he held her firmly. That was no moon-struck boy she had to deal with, now; it was a man, a man who had played long enough.

"Billy, if you don't let me go this minute, I'm going to scream!" she said. Fumes of her many drinks swirled from her. She was sober now, and cold with dread.

With the strength of terror Felicia pushed him away from her—and screamed, loud and shrill, a scream that went clattering down the wooden staircase, reverberating in Dick's ears.

The Best Man Wins By BERTHA R. McDONALD Daily Short Story

FREDDIE FARNUM, the nifty jewelry salesman who occupied the second floor front in Mrs. Pinckley's high-class boarding house, stood before the mirror of his golden oak dresser, adjusting his flaming red tie.

He was wondering why in the deuce two high-calibered "he-man" fellows like himself and Jim Ramsey had to fall in love with the same girl when there were so many girls, and why he should be the one who seemed to have the poorer chance of success.

Jimmie Ramsey sold hardware in the basement of Barton's Emporium; obviously not nearly so desirable a position as handling sparkling crystal, near-emeralds and art necklaces in the first floor jewelry section for the same firm.

The girl happened to be Julia Pinckley, the lovely sloe-eyed daughter of their capable landlady. A glimpse of Julia was amply sufficient to cause almost any male heart to flutter. It did more than that to Freddie and Jim. They were both mad about the girl, but she showed little favoritism among her mother's lodgers. There were a number of Barton's high-powered salesmen who call Pinckley's Parlors home, but neither Fred nor Jim seemed to fear anyone but each other, where Julia was concerned.

Over them all floated the blithe spirit of this lovely young girl, cheering them when their spirits were low, laughing with and at them. Julia was well aware of the tumult in the hearts of Fred and Jim. They had spoken to her, each in his own way and she had listened with warm attention and smiling eyes but thus far she had succeeded in evading directly answering either.

As a result of this the two men had settled down to cold distrust of each other mixed with fierce jealousies and wild alarms. They were so engrossed with darting bitter innuendoes at each other that they never even noticed the quips and jibes dropped by the other Pinckleyites. On this particular evening, however, as Freddie gave the aforesaid mentioned hectic tie a vicious yank, he was thinking of Bob Hilton's attitude during dinner and his toast, accomplished between Julia's visits to the room.

"Boys," he had said merrily, holding aloft his glass of water, "here's to our Judie and may the best man win!"

Bob was the buyer of lingerie at Barton's. He had executed that toast with eyes leveled straight at Jimmy Ramsey. Freddie was sure he had done so because he had some reason for thinking Ramsey had the inside track with Julia. There was only one way for him to find out and Freddie decided to take it that very evening.

Over in Central Park crocuses and daffodils were about to burst into bloom. A dauntless band had begun to play on warm evenings and the park was thronged with young people going about in couples. Freddie was determined to join that strolling throng with Julia on his arm and to have it out with her.

Fortune favored the art necklace salesman. He went downstairs and found Julia free for the evening. Yes, she would stroll with him. They wandered through the park and finally sat down on a rather secluded bench. Freddie immediately began to trace arabesques in the gravel with his toe and to hint of marriage.

"Do you think I'd marry a man who's as satisfied with his lot as you are?" Julia exploded. "You never even try to get any higher and besides, you never have a nickel when the week's up!"

"I—I'd change all that if I had a wife to work for. You probably don't know it but I may be buyer some day."

"Well I'm here to tell you, Fred Farnum, if you've any idea of forging ahead, there's no time like the present. You're all right in lots of ways and I like you, dear boy, but you won't do for the position of Mr. Julia Pinckley! You've got to make a name for yourself some way or another."

Freddie's whole inner being seethed with the jealous thought that Judie Pinckley was trying to let him down as easy as possible because she favored his rival.

"See here, Jude," he grumbled, rising to face her, "it's all very well to preach but why can't you say it's Jimmie Ramsey that's on your mind and be done with it?"

"Oh for heaven's sake!" muttered Julia disgustedly. "Let's go home!"

The next night neither Julia or Jimmie were about after dinner. Poor Freddie, discouraged and bitter, wandered over to the park, aching for an opportunity to pounce upon Ramsey. He felt that Ramsey had taken an unfair advantage of him. He couldn't say just how but he knew he hadn't had the right kind of a deal. He found Ramsey sitting alone in the park. Here was his chance.

"See here, Jim," he began abruptly, "why don't you do the right thing and vamoose? I was at Pinckley's before you and it just isn't fair—"

"Why you confounded little upstart!" Ramsey interrupted. "Who do you think you are anyway, to order me out of the best boarding house I ever struck? Not by a darn sight! I'm at Pinckley's to stay and as Bob Hilton says 'may the best man win'."

Freddie was sure now that Jim and Julia had come to an understanding and that Ramsey had been sitting there alone gloating over his good luck. Without another word he swung about and left him, thinking there must be some way that he could supplant Jim in Julia's regard and determined to find it.

Suddenly he thought he had it. He would jump into the river from some suitable dock and after he was rescued apparently half drowned, by persons passing, he would call brokenly for Julia, mumbling her address. They would send for her or take him to her and then he would be able to impress her with the depth, the seriousness of his great passion for her.

It was a spendid plan with no risks as Freddie was quite a swimmer. He waited until the early evening of the next day—twenty-four hours of restlessness without so much as a glimpse of the girl he adored. Then he went to the river, selected a dock and jumped when no one seemed to be looking.

Upon coming to the surface he cried lustily for help. Help arrived almost at once in the person of his hated rival, who jumped in after Fred without knowing who he was about to rescue. Fred's cry had attracted others, too, and soon a little crowd had gathered on the dock.

As soon as Freddie recognized in his rescuer the cause of all his unhappiness, he reached out involuntarily to grab at his throat. Ramsey saw him in time to dodge and remembering something to the effect that a drowning man often had to be rendered unconscious in order to save him, hit poor Fred on the top of the head.

After the rescue Freddie lay sprawled on the dock in a semi-conscious state, while Jimmie stood over him telling him with every breath how many kinds of a fool he was. Slowly, steadily, Freddie came to, growing more and more acutely alive to the fact that the very person who had stood in his way in the first place had also butted in at the most inopportune time, and had, to use Freddie's own words, "flivered the whole business."

The heat of his anger warmed his chilled body into action. He got up suddenly and dealt Jimmie a most unexpected blow and a fight was on that finally landed two of Barton's best men in the police station.

Neither of them had the price of bail on him, so Freddie finally persuaded the sergeant to let him call up Mrs. Pinckley's boarding house. He asked for Julia.

"Married!" gasped Freddie. "Who, who—to?"

"Why Bob Hilton, of course. She's been engaged to him since Christmas."

It's New! The Health Vitamin of Sunlight

put in a hot breakfast food

Irradiation of Quaker Farina by Ultra-Violet Rays important new food development

NOW a way has been found to bring you and your children at the breakfast table that "something" in sunlight which has such a tremendously beneficial effect upon health; which makes children's bones grow straight and strong; their teeth harden and become durable. Vitamin "D," scientists have named this mysterious quality.

The famous hot breakfast cereal, Quaker Farina, is now given Vitamin "D" by irradiation with Ultra-Violet Light under the Steenbock Process. When children grow up "sun starved" for lack of Vitamin "D" they are apt to show it by bow legs. Their teeth are soft. They don't eat; they are "always having colds." As high as 90% of city children show signs of Vitamin "D" deficiency say health authorities. This fact makes the need of finding new ways to get "sunshine" of prime importance.

By irradiation with Ultra-Violet Light Quaker Farina, famous hot breakfast food, is given Vitamin "D" in a form that can be easily passed on to you! An exceedingly important discovery, authorities call this. Won't you try it? Irradiated Quaker Farina is the creamy white heart of the wheat. An energy food of fine flavor. "Irradiation" doesn't change this, nor its appearance. And now it has an added health value that no other hot cereal can claim! Your grocer has irradiated Quaker Farina. NOTE: All Quaker Farina is irradiated even though some packages are not so marked.

Small danger of "sun starvation" here!

MORE BUCS FOLLOW MAHAFFEY SOON

THE news from Paso Robles that Donie Bush has begun his pruning operations by releasing Pitcher Lee Roy Mahaffey to the Portland club, of the Pacific Coast League, means more than is apparent on the surface. It means that, in the judgment of the Pirate manager, Pitcher Larry French has shown enough to give reasonable ground for the hope that he will be able to make the grade in the big show. For Mahaffey goes to Portland as part of the purchase price for French, and Bush certainly would not have completed that deal if the left-hander had not impressed him in his performances up to date as being likely to come through.

Walter Tauscher

Mahaffey's return to the minors also means a new lease of life for Walter Tauscher as a Pirate prospect, as it has been understood from the start that the Pittsburgh club would not carry both of these young right-handers. Of course, there is no assurance that Tauscher, too, will not be dropped later, but at least he has outlasted his main rival for one of the right-hand relief jobs in the hurtling department. It bears out the opinion held by most local fans from the time when the Buccaneer management began to experiment with these two flingers that Tauscher was the better bet.

THAT opinion was strengthened last year, when Mahaffey was shipped back to Columbia in the South Atlantic Association, while Tauscher managed to hang on with the Bucs throughout the season, taking part in 17 games as a relief slabman. Mahaffey surely was given more opportunities than most recruits to win a berth for himself, as the Pirate management has been trying him out annually ever since 1926.

Manager Bush probably will take no further steps immediately toward weeding out his squad, but other releases may be expected to follow that of Mahaffey in the near future. Counting the unsigned Waner brothers and Pitcher Heinie Meine, there still are 37 players on the roster, and, anticipating that the Waners will be in line eventually, it is probable that the Corsair skipper will discard seven or eight pitchers, one catcher, at least two infielders and two outfielders.

WHILE French has not yet proved his case, and still has a considerable distance to go before he may be considered as having established himself as a big league fixture, reports of his spring work continue to indicate that he has the "makings."

In spite of an unimpressive won-and-lost record with Portland, Scout Joe Devine saw signs of promise in him, and the evidence so far is that Joe has made another helpful pick-up for the Pirates, to be added to the successes he scored in the cases of Remy, Kremer, Paul Waner, Dick Bartell and others.

Larry French

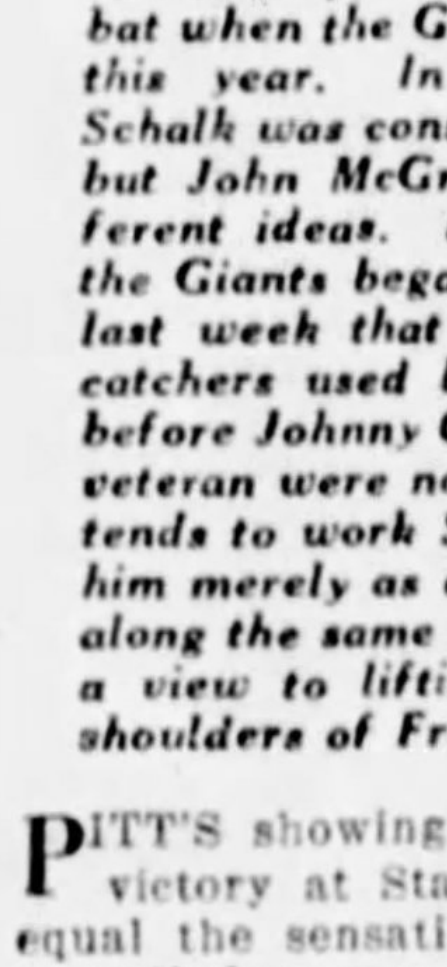
PITTSBURGH fans probably will get the first chance they have ever had to see Ray Schalk in action behind the bat when the Giants play at Forbes Field this year. In the American League, Schalk was considered done as a catcher, but John McGraw appears to hold different ideas. For it was noticed when the Giants began their exhibition games last week that Schalk was one of the catchers used by New York, that, too, before Johnny Cummings was injured and when the services of the veteran were not needed. All of which indicates that McGraw intends to work Schalk behind the bat at times instead of carrying him merely as a coach. Schalk himself is said to have ambitions along the same lines, and is training as hard as any youngster with a view to lifting part of the Giant catching burden from the shoulders of Frank Hogan.

PITT'S showing in the basketball season that ended with a 29-23 victory at State College last Saturday night, though it did not equal the sensational record of the undefeated team of 1928, was nevertheless one to keep the Panthers abreast of the foremost college teams of the country and to maintain the ranking of Dr. Cliff Carlson as one of the leading coaches in the land.

Among the high spots in the team's achievements were the crushing of the Army after West Point had won nine games in a row, the turning of the tables on West Virginia on the latter's own floor, and the administering of Penn State's first defeat in its new gym following seven straight victories for the Lions there. And to top it off, Charley Hyatt turned in a new individual scoring record of 302 points, beating his 1928 total by 10 points and setting a mark that probably will linger for a long time hereabouts unless the Pitt star himself cracks it next season in his final year of intercollegiate competition.

AFTER a sensational season with St. Paul in the American Association last year, Fred Heimach won only two games against three lost for the Yankees when he was brought back to the majors, and in view of that none too brilliant showing he has not been figured as much of a pitching factor for the world champions in 1929.

But Miller Huggins tips him as a possible dark horse in the American League twirling stakes. According to the Yankee manager, the southpaw needs only a slow ball to make him one of the best pitchers in the U. S. A., and he is confident that Heimach will develop that before the pennant race begins.



Fred Heimach

"HEIMACH requires only a change of pace to become one of the American League's best pitchers. Right now he is third fastest left-hander in the league. Only Bob Grove and Rube Walberg, of the Athletics, rank ahead of him in speed. What he'll be doing this whole training trip is practicing that change of pace. I don't care if they hit him for a hundred home runs in the exhibition games while he is polishing up his slow-ball delivery. He had a great record with St. Paul last year just on fast-ball pitching. If he can perfect his slow ball in the practice games this spring he ought to burn up our league."

ACCEPTANCE by Connie Mack and the Shibes, owners of the Philadelphia Athletics, of a proposition to purchase for the 1929 season the franchise of the Martinsburg (W. Va.) baseball club, means that no fewer than five of the six teams in the Blue Ridge League will be owned and operated as farms by major organizations.

The club in Hagerstown, Md., will be the only exception. The New York Yankees are already in control at Chambersburg, Pa.; the St. Louis Cardinals at Waynesboro, Pa.; the Detroit Tigers at Hanover, Pa., and the Cleveland Indians at Frederick, Md. The league members say they were driven to the move by financial conditions. They ran into debt in previous seasons when operating on their own hook, and when the salary limit was boosted this year they found that their only hope was big league control.

JUST as Manager Robinson, of the Dodgers, was going into ecstacies over the promise of a great season shown by Glenn Wright, he

FINAL REGULAR, YANIGAN TILT TOMORROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
(Staff Correspondent.)

PASO ROBLES, March 11.—Their pretentious two-day program canceled by rain, the big Pirate squad today was anxious for warm weather and more exercise. Manager Bush announced this morning that he would run his athletes through two spirited drills, weather permitting.

Bush and his followers were balked in their efforts to stage the contest slated for Saturday and yesterday. The heavy showers that stopped the diamond action on Saturday continued through the night and during most of yesterday.

PLAY SEALS WEDNESDAY

The game carded with the San Francisco Seals at the local park and the contemplated meeting of the Seals seconds and Pirate Yans at Monterey had to be dispensed with. The officals called the games off in time to prevent any useless traveling on the part of the interested players.

The new plans call for a game here Wednesday afternoon between the Pirates and Seals. The advance sale of seats for the contest was heavy and the local Booters are eager to run it off in the interest of the treasury.

Manager Bush stated that the second, perhaps the final, Regular-Yanigan game will be played tomorrow afternoon. This scrap will be followed by the inter-league clash of Wednesday and on Thursday the Regulars will run off their last practice at the training camp.

Late Thursday night, the first team will board pullman cars that will take them to Monterey for a Friday game with the Seals, who are in training at Monterey. The Pirate Yanigans will remain over on Friday until the arrival of the evening train. They will head toward San Francisco on this train, which will pick up the Regulars en route at the conclusion of the Monterey contest. The entire squad is due to arrive at the Golden Gate late Thursday night for a stay of nine days. Eleven games will be played with the Seals and Missions during this period.

ATHLETES IN SHAPE

Bush was tickled over the training weather that favored the camp from the day of the arrival of the second squad up to Saturday. The many workouts had the effect of getting most of the athletes close to top condition. A return of baseball weather at this time would be welcomed by all hands.

A short workout of the pitchers and catchers was enjoyed yesterday in the hotel yard. This was the only activity for the athletes in the two days. Beginning today, however, the pace will be fast in the event of the return of the sunshine.

The Pirate pilot will continue to stress batting in the daily sessions. Bush is keen for lots of practice for the boys who are supposed to score and drive in lots of runs during the championship season.

FEW SIDELIGHTS AT BUCCANEER CAMP

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 11.—It sounded as if some of the neighbors were beating a carpet, but the guests of the Paso Robles Springs Hotel learned that the familiar domestic racket was kicked up by 16 stalwart Pirate pitchers as they flung new baseballs into the big mitts of the catchers in a backyard workout of yesterday afternoon.

Manager Bush was able to get his sharpshooters some exercise between showers. Shortly after luncheon the batterymen dressed and repaired to the yard of the hotel. There they succeeded in loosening up, although they had to keep moving with a stiff, wet wind blowing up a temperature of 50.

As written before, the camp is short of sidelights. The star comedians who used to give the picture merry moments are playing elsewhere. Pie Traynor's wide-open radio adds a little pep, but there is an absence of music and that sort of fun on the part of the athletes. P. Waner and Pooch Barnhart were good for a saxaphone-mandolin duet at any time. The only musician showing to date is Adam Comorosky who is quite too bashful for public appearance. Commy played with the others in the show put on here a year ago. Adam gets a lot of music out of a ukulele.

HURLERS CAN BEAR DOWN

Each of the 16 pitchers on the Pirate staff seems able to bear down. Even Lee Meadows can get a lot of stuff on the ball. The consistent workouts held during the stretch of ideal weather had the effect of pointing veterans and recruits alike.

Roy Mahaffey, seventeenth member of the flinging corps, left last night to join up with his Portland mates, who are in training at Sant Ana, near Los Angeles. The Pirates are slated to meet the Portland club after winding up their affairs in San Francisco.

Fred Brickell is beginning to show real class as an outfielder. The Wichita whirlwind came along so fast that his career, perhaps, was harmed to a small extent. As an 18-year-old lad the sturdy sprinter looked so impressive in his Wichita work that he was pushed to the big league over night, as it were.

BRICKELL IMPROVED

When Brickell landed under the big tent he soon realized there was a lot of stuff he would have to learn before he could hope to succeed as a big timer. Now, in his twenty-second year, he has developed to such a point that he stands a chance of crowding somebody out of an outfield berth.

ADAM COMOROSKY

Manager Donie Bush's choice for the middle field assignment of the Pirates if Paul and Lloyd Waner do not report. With Grantham, Brickell and Comorosky available, the Pirates will not want for a classy first-string outfield corps, but they will be found sadly lacking in the matter of reserve material, for the only other outfielders on the roster are two recruits, Carl Frey, a Pittsburgh product, and Louis Martin, a youngster picked up in Alameda, Cal.

CLUBS IN SOUTH STAGE SPRING GAMES TODAY

ATLANTA, Ga., March 11.—(AP.)—With one exception, major league teams not staging exhibition games loafed yesterday and will swing into a stiffer grind today in preparation for the trek back to the home fields for the opening of the pennant campaign just a few weeks ahead.

The Cleveland Indians' batterymen at New Orleans took a stiff workout in preparation for the arrival of the rest of the club today, when Manager Roger Peckinpaugh will need them for mound duty during batting practice.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, after dropping three consecutive exhibition games, reversed the order at Miami, Fla., and trimmed Jack Hendricks' Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 0, with Yerkes, Beckenridge and Walberg showing fine form in mowing down the National Leaguers and limiting them to four hits.

The Philadelphia National League club made it a unanimous victory for the Quaker City by beating the Piledrivers, a semi-pro club, 14 to 1, at Winterhaven Fla.

John McGraw's New York Giants turned back the San Antonio club, 6 to 1, playing at Laredo, Tex. Hogan turned in a home run for the Giants.

YANKS TO PLAY TAMPA

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—(INS.)—The world champion New York Yankees play their first exhibition contests of the season this week. Tomorrow they meet the Tampa Florida State Leaguers in Tampa and on Wednesday begin a series here with the lowly Boston Braves.

SEEKS LEAD-OFF MAN

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—(INS.)—Uncle Wilbert Robinson is having a hard time picking an efficient lead-off man for the Brooklyn team. Three outfielders are being considered for the No. 1 position in the batting order. They are Johnny Frederick, recruit from Memphis, and two veterans, Rube Bressler and Gink Hendrick.

CUBS BACK IN CAMP

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—(INS.)—The Cubs were to return to their Catalina Island training quarters today, with the third scheduled exhibition game with the Angels unplayed on account of rain. Of the two games played, the Cubs took the first and the Angels the second.

CARDS MEET BIRDS

AVON PARK, Fla., March 11.—(INS.)—The Cardinals smarted under their first defeat of the exhibition season today, bowing to Indianapolis yesterday, 11 to 7. Holm, Delker and Pepper hit home runs for the Red Birds. The Boston Braves will oppose the cards in an exhibition game here today.

WATCH YOUNG HURLERS

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—(INS.)—That pitchers who hang up great records during their first season in the majors usually fall down badly the second year is a common belief. The Red Sox have an example in the person of Horace Lisenbee, obtained from the Senators in the Myer deal. The Sox also have the prize rookie hurler of the 1928 season in big Ed Morris. Both will be watched closely this season.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—For the second year in succession and the sixth time since the league, as now constituted, was organized in 1911, the University of Pennsylvania has won the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League championship.

The Quakers, who won the title last year only after a playoff with Princeton, successfully defended their laurels during the regular playing season this time, but it took a final game victory over Princeton at Philadelphia Saturday night to turn the trick.

Needing to turn back the cellar-dwelling Tigers to avert the necessity of a playoff with Dartmouth, the Quakers came through in fine style, 23 to 16, and thereby closed their season with a record of eight victories and two defeats. The Dartmouth Indians wound up their league competition a week ago with seven wins in 10 starts, good enough to assure them second place without dispute.

Schaaf's seven points brought his season's league total to 114, enough to assure him the individual championship for the second successive year. He established a new record of 125 points last year. The two field goals he tossed in last night gave him 44 two-pointers for the season, just one more than the record of 43 set by Orson Kinney of Yale in 1917.

'Mid the crash and crack of West Virginia's defeat at the hands of Wash-Jeff and the sounding of cymbals as Charley Hyatt set a new scoring record, the college basketball season clattered off the tri-state stage Saturday night.

Dr. Carlson.

This year's campaign, now over and done, was a hectic one, with only one of the three district titles settled prior to the playing of the final games. Pitt clinched the Big Four championship by beating Wash-Jeff last Wednesday, but had to defeat State in the finale Saturday to become certain of the lead in the district rating. Bethany led in the Conference until Friday night when the Dukes lost to Geneva and permitted the Covenanters to tie the Bisons for the league championship. Each team won eight and lost two games.

Stroner Benched; Adams to Play Third Base

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 11.—Dissatisfied with the showing of Jim Stroner at third base, Managed Donie Bush has made a change in the makeup of the Pirate infield. The young third sacker apparently has not recovered from an appendicitis operation performed last winter and Manager Bush has decided to bench him for the present. Sparky Adams, who has shown ability to play short and second, will be sent to the hot corner.

AMATEURS HOLD SWIM MEET

The annual Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. championship swimming gala will be held tonight in the Pittsburgh Natatorium pool under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club.

The entry list, which closed last Monday night, includes the leading swimmers of Western Pennsylvania and some new records are looked for by the officials.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 11.—(INS.)—A five-inning practice game was scheduled for Dan Howley's Browns today. They will inaugurate their exhibition season here Saturday, March 16, opposing Columbus of the American Association.

PAAVO NURMI REINSTATED

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Paavo Nurmi, Finland's phantom of the tracks, is back again in the official fold of the Amateur Athletic Union. After being barred from running for two weeks because of his failure to appear at the National championship meet February 23, he was reinstated to good standing Saturday, by the registration committee of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U.

The Flying Finn's reinstatement came almost as quickly as his suspension, which was imposed at an impromptu meeting of the committee on the floor of Madison Square Garden. A special meeting which was attended by only three members, put Nurmi back in good standing.

Although few explanations were given as to the reason for Nurmi's sudden reinstatement, J. J. Diegman, chairman of the committee, said Nurmi's explanations for his failure to run had been investigated and that when the "information they sought" was received, the reinstatement was made as a matter of course. The doctor's certificate affirming the Finn's illness and "other things," the nature of which were not explained, were the subjects of the investigation.

Nurmi had offered plenty of good reasons for his non-appearance at the championships, saying that he had contracted a severe cold in Detroit a few days before and had sent letters to A. A. U. headquarters withdrawing from the meet. The letters were not received until after he had been put under the ban.

NEW YORK GETS 'PIECE' OF PLADNER

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The 10 per centers of pugilism are at it again.

Schmeling, you will remember, wound up with so many managers that he had to take time out and return home to Germany to recover. This fellow had 5 per cent of him, another 2½ per cent, another 10 per cent, another one-half of 1 per cent, and so on, until he owed himself money after every fight.

Every time an European fighter or a fighter from some other land or from out of the sticks in our own country thinks of breaking into New York the word is passed along that it's tough to make the grade unless his manager "cuts in" one of the alleged big shots of the big town. They even had Jack Sharkey tied down to one of those agreements. It seems you either pay or you don't play.

Anyway, this Emile (Spider) Pladner, of France, who recently knocked out Frankie Genaro in less than a round, after having previously beaten Ernie Jarvis, Johnny Hill and Izzy Schwartz, is the latest sensation to be hooked by the New York syndicate. Word comes from Paris that Joe Jacobs, of New York, the big ticket man of Broadway, who is allied with Billy McCarney in the handling of boxers, is to be Pladner's American representative. Jacobs also is cut in on Schmeling to such an extent that Schmeling's original manager, a German, has been virtually talked out of the picture, and a number of other boxers who are very much in the limelight also are in the Jacobs-McCarney stable. Pladner, it develops, by the way, is a protege of Louis De Ponthieu, the old French featherweight and lightweight, who years ago boxed Georges Carpentier and other continental stars.

SLATTERY VS. BRADDOCK

Jimmy Slattery, the erstwhile Playboy of Buffalo, for whom the heavyweight championship of the world was predicted only a few years back, returns to the big time in New York tonight, when he meets one Jimmy Braddock in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden. Braddock is the young man who knocked the Tuff out of Tuffy Griffiths, the Western kayo king, in a few well-directed punches. Slattery has dissipated most of his early promise and probably never will go on to the heights dreamed for him, but his latter day efforts are interesting nevertheless. He is a 7-to-5 favorite to win tonight.

"CLUB FIGHTERS" BILLED

Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple Club, is one promoter who knows the value of what are generally known as "club fighters," especially to a small club. Whenever he has one of them on the bill the advance sale is heavy and the fans almost break down the doors to get in, while two clever boxers fail to arouse the customers. Flynn had to turn 'em away recently when he had Rudy Ceder in his windup against Cuddy DeMarco, and the chances are he'll face a similar situation next Friday night, when Dominick Profio, the new knockout star, of Cecil, makes his first appearance in a main bout in Pittsburgh against Tiger Joe Randall, the Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, who himself is a bit of a club fighter. Something is bound to faw down and go boom in this bout. The general opinion is that it will be Randall, but Joe also is a good socker, and Dominick has demonstrated in other bouts that he cannot take as much punishment as he deals out without visibly showing the effects.

Two more "club fights" are in prospect at McKeesport, Thursday night, when Young Rudy, of Charleroi, meets Phil Scelio, of McKeesport, and TNT Gibbons, of Cleveland, clashes with Leo Kyburski, of Swissvale, in 10-rounders that make up a double windup card.

PORTAGE WINS CUP

LORETTO, Pa., March 11.—(AP.)—Portage won the Cambria county scholastic basketball tournament Saturday, defeating Lilly, 31 to 30, in the final at St. Francis College. A silver cup was given the winner. The meet has no connection with the P. I. A. A., but is purely a county affair.

Hagen Sets New Pro Record At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., March 11.—(AP.)—Walter Hagan, British open champion, warmed up for his first round in the international four-ball matches today when he hung up a low professional score of 68 in the 18-hole pro-amateur best ball matches at the Miami Country Club yesterday.

Hagan, playing with Al Wallace, of Detroit, had a 37 for the outbound journey and a 31 for the return trip.

MIELES TO MEET KNICKERS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The Miele-Franchinas, of the Allegheny County League, will be out to even the count with the Knickerbockers, champions of the West Penn League, when the two teams meet in the second game of their series, at Columbus Temple tonight.

The Knickerbockers, one of the strongest independent clubs in this section of the state, defeated the Miele-Franchinas in the first game played at Forresters Hall, Lawrenceville, last Tuesday night, and the uptowners have hopes of avenging that setback tonight.

The appearance of the Knickers at Columbus Temple tonight will give uptown fans their first coach to see Coach Yans Wallace's smooth-working floor machine in action and judging from the interest shown by the supporters of both clubs a large crowd is expected to attend.

CLASH ON SOUTH SIDE

The Red McMahans and the Lou Gordons will resume their junior series at the South Side Market House tonight, the McMahans hopeful of ending the engagement by making it two in a row over the A. A. U. champions.

The McMahans scored an impressive victory over the Gordons in the opening contest played at Columbus Temple and another triumph tonight will end the series. In event the Gordons turn the tables on the South Siders a third game may be played to determine the winner.

The McMahans and Gordons shape up as two of the best junior quintets developed in this section in many years and if they show the same form that characterized their opening battle, when an extra period was necessary to decide the winner, fans are going to witness a great contest.

CHAMPS HARD AT WORK

Their Institutional League schedule all but completed, the Y. M. H. A. passers are hard at work for their battle with the College All-Stars at the Y. M. H. A. a week from tomorrow night. The College All-Stars will include Charley Hyatt, leading collegiate scorer of the country; Les and Milt Cohen, and Ferraro, all of Pitt; Fox, of Carnegie Tech, and Lubic and Rosenberg, of Duquesne.

The Y. M. H. A. team, winner of the A. A. U. and Institutional League titles, is entered in the national Y. M. H. A. tourney at Atlantic City and the proceeds of this game will be used to help defray expenses.

Souderton High Out Of P. I. A. A. Tourney

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 11.—(AP.)—President Taylor, of District I, P. I. A. A., announced last night from his home at Norristown, the withdrawal of Souderton High, Bux-Mont interscholastic league champion, from competition for the District 1 championship. Souderton's scheduled game with Lansdowne will be forfeited to the latter team. No explanation was given for the withdrawal.

At Pottsville, Pine Grove High and Frackville High clash in their first round game for the South Schuylkill County League title, where the league operated in two districts. Blythe Township High finished in first place in one division, but was disqualified for using ineligible players and Frackville, second place team in that district, was selected instead.

The injury forced Wright to practice at second base instead of at shortstop for a day or two, and on Saturday it gave him so much trouble that it was found necessary for Max Carey to take him to Miami from Clearwater for examination and treatment by Dr. Cecil Ferguson, former big league pitcher and now a bone setter and muscle manipulator. One of the greatest throwing arms in baseball will be impaired if Wright's ailment proves serious. While still with the Pirates, Carey once made the statement that Wright could "put more on the ball" than any other infielder he had ever seen.

Jimmy Slattery

WILL Jimmy Slattery's speed and boxing ability prove sufficient to offset the disadvantage that he will be up against in weight and hitting power when he meets James J. Braddock for 10 rounds tonight at Madison Square Garden in New York? Everything considered, the outlook appears to be none too bright for Slattery. He weighed only 169½ pounds and looked fat at that, in his bout with Len Darcy at Buffalo last Monday night. If his poundage was announced correctly, the necessity of taking off more weight in the meantime to remove the surplus and put him in the right shape for tonight's fight would mean his entering the ring with Braddock as little more than a middleweight. Slattery's own friends realize that there is little chance for any mere middleweight to beat Braddock. The latter will scale around 175, has shown that he is a strong and terrific hitter, and he will be stepping on it tonight in all probability to put himself back in the light heavyweight title running following his defeat at the hands of Leo Lomski. Slattery has twice beaten a hard hitter like Jack Delaney, but he was stopped by Dave Shade and Paul Berlenbach, and the chances appear to indicate another defeat for him tonight.

COLLEGE CAGE SEASON ENDS; PITT LEADS

against Penn State, set his 1929 point-getting total at 302, 10 points higher than the one he made in 1928. Chipper Charley is once again the leading scorer of the country and of this section. His game average for this year is a trifle short of 14½ points per game.

As was the case in 1928, Pitt and Westminster finished at the top of the district heap, the Panthers first and the Titans second. Pitt won 10 and lost one game in the section this year and Westminster copped 14 out of 16. Bethany pulled up in third position with 11 won and two lost and West Virginia slipped into fourth place with 11 and four. Geneva wound up in fifth position, a full game behind the Mountaineers and Allegheny, with a freshman team, sixth, with nine and four.

Bethany and Allegheny showed the greatest improvement over their 1928 play during the past campaign. The Bisons clambered from eighth position, where they finished in '28, to third, a gain of five. Allegheny clambered from fourteenth to sixth, eight rungs to the good.

FOUR TEAMS GAIN

Other teams that showed advanced standing this year were West Virginia, fifth to fourth; Geneva, seventh to fifth; Salem, ninth to seventh, and Carnegie, fifteenth to thirteenth. Pitt, Westminster and Waynesburg stood still, the Yellow Jackets taking eleventh position both years.

Davis and Elkins, the Dukes, Grove City and Thiel took decided drops. The Senators fell from third place to eighth; the Dukes from fourth to a tie with D. & E. for eighth; Grove City from sixth to tenth and Thiel from eleventh to fifteenth. Thiel, incidentally, followed in the footsteps of Carnegie Tech by not winning a game this season out of 13 that were played.

Wash-Jeff slid from tenth place to twelfth, and West Virginia Wesleyan from thirteenth to fourteenth. The Methodists also failed to win a district game.

Only six of the 14 teams regularly included in the district showed percentage gains. These were Bethany, West Virginia, Geneva, Allegheny, Salem and Carnegie Tech. The remainder, including the two leaders, Pitt and Westminster, fell off from 90 to 91 points.

W.-J. RUINS W. VA.

By whipping the Mountaineers so decisively on Saturday, Wash-Jeff spoiled whatever chance West Virginia supporters had to claiming a tie for the Mountaineers with Pitt in the Big Four. Because West Virginia broke even with the Panthers, some West Virginians were going to claim a tie had the Mountaineers taken the Presidents Saturday. They wanted to rule out the third Pitt-Tech game, claiming that only two of the contests should count in Pitt's favor.

There is no law to prevent West Virginia playing Pitt or Wash-Jeff three times, or Tech either, for that matter, so I do not think the Mountaineer protest would have gone very far. Pitt would have been perfectly willing to have played a third game with West Virginia had there been a possibility of a deadlock.

Pitt	1	1
Westminster	2	2
Bethany	3	8
West Virginia	4	5
Geneva	5	7
Allegheny	6	14
Salem	7	9
Duquesne	8	4
Davis-Elkins	8	3
Grove City	10	6
Waynesburg	11	11
Wash-Jeff	12	10
Carnegie	13	15
Wesleyan	14	13
Thiel	15	11

Australia at Bat In Cricket Match

MELBOURNE, Aus., March 11.—(AP.)—With England's first innings over for 519 runs, Australia went to bat today in the fifth test match and had scored 152 runs for the loss of two wickets at the close of the day's play.

W. M. Woodfull's 78, not out, was today's batting feature. Leyland, of England, ran his Saturday score of 110 up to 137 before being caught by Fairfax this morning.

Eastern Ohio Clubs Form League

MASSILLON, O., March 11—(AP.)—Eight baseball teams in eight Eastern Ohio cities were organized into the Ohio Baseball Association here yesterday. Officers will be elected and a schedule drafted next Sunday.

The teams are the Goodyears and Firestones, of Akron, Cleveland Tellings, Massillon, Canton, New Philadelphia, Coshocton and Zanesville. The Cleveland team, Massillon and Canton were former members of the Ohio-Pennsylvania League, Coshocton, New Philadelphia and Zanesville were members of the Eastern Ohio League.

The season will open early in May and the first half will close about July 4. A regular schedule will be drafted for the first half, while the second half may be played on a tournament basis with an elimination series between teams.

Harry Spencer Changes Managers

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 11.—Harry Spencer, local boxer, who for several months was under the care of Banty Reihner, manager of Battling Gizzy, Red Ryan and others, is now under training of George Tucker, of Washington, a veteran of the ring who, in his heyday, was one of the famous battlers of this district.

Spencer will open his campaign under Tucker at Wheeling tonight when he will meet Bobby Green, of Cleveland, in a semi-final. In starting his ring career, a few months ago, Spencer showed unusual promise and won a number of fights. Lack of experience proved a handicap when he was pitted against more seasoned battlers and he has lost several recent bouts. Manager Tucker predicts that Spencer will stage a comeback and win additional laurels.

The W. P. I. A. L. title series will be resumed tomorrow night in the Stadium Pavilion, when Bellevue High clashes with Uniontown High in the first semi-final round combat.

Likewise, Uniontown, always strong and formidable, has an excellent record for the competition. A lively battle is anticipated.

On Wednesday night, the second semi-final will be staged with Homestead High battling the city champions, Fifth Avenue High. The Briggs machine is thought to have a fine chance for copping the title this year, following its remarkable win over Freeport.

Several other tournaments of importance will be under way this week, while a number of schools will participate in an affair at Waynesburg. The Washington County title series begins in Washington on Friday.

Heeney-Von Porat In Big Bout Tomorrow

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP.)—Determined to regain the position he once held in the fistic sun, Tom Heeney, the Big Rock from New Zealand, clashes with Norway's heavyweight championship threat, Otto von Porat, at the Coliseum tomorrow night.

The battle, billed to go 10 rounds, to a decision or less, is the first major heavyweight card in Chicago since the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey title clash in 1927.

Although he was decisively beaten by former Champion Tunney and Jim Maloney, of Boston, in his last two starts in America, Heeney was confident of stopping the hard socking Norwegian. He will outweigh Von Porat by four or five pounds, but it is questionable whether he can hit harder or as hard as the angular Nordic. Von Porat has won most of his American bouts via the knockout route.

Georgetti-DeBaets Split $10,000 Prize Money

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.) Approximately $75,000 in guarantees, bonuses and prize money has been distributed among riders in Madison Square Garden's forty-sixth international six-day bicycle race which came to an end Saturday night.

Franco Georgetti and Gerard DeBaets, who won the forty-sixth grind by the overwhelming margin of five laps, split about $10,000 between them.

ICEMEN RESUME TITLE SERIES TONIGHT

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The West Penn Amateur Hockey Leaguers will resume their championship series at Duquesne Garden this evening, with the Hornets meeting Blawnox in the second and final game of their semi-final round set. The Hornets achieved a 5-0 triumph in the first game Tuesday, and in view of the fact that the winner is to be decided on a total-goal basis, they are overwhelming favorites to advance into the final.

The Philadelphia Company skaters as a result of finishing first in the league's race, already are in the title round. They will meet the semi-finals winner, almost certainly the Hornets, in the first of a three-game series at the Garden tomorrow evening. The second game is to be played Thursday, and a third if necessary, will be staged Saturday with the West Penn amateur crown as the prize.

In finishing first in the league race the Utilities sextet nosed out the Hornets by the very slender margin of a half-game, and the spirit of rivalry between the two clubs is both keen and bitter. Famous stars are to be found in the lineups of both clubs, and the championships should be productive of some fast, high-class hockey.

BIG TEN CAGE RACE ENDS IN TIE

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP.)—For the sixth time since 1918, the annual struggle for the Big Ten basketball championship has resulted in a stalemate. This time, Michigan and Wisconsin ended their campaigns deadlocked for the title.

Each team won 10 games and lost two, while runner-up honors fell to Purdue, co-champions in 1928 with Indiana. The Boilermakers won nine and lost three. Northwestern was next with seven victories and five losses, while Ohio State and Illinois tied for fifth and sixth with a .500 percentage.

WISCONSIN COMES BACK

Wisconsin, which lost its only games to Michigan during the race, climbed into a tie for the championship by defeating Chicago, 19 to 15, at Madison, in the solo curtain-lowering event of the conference campaign.

The 1929 race was one of the closest and hardest fought in the Big Ten's history. Michigan, which was rated by pre-season prognosticators as a fair second-division team, was the surprise package of the race. The Wolverines began their pre-championship season by playing ragged basketball, then smashed through to topple Northwestern, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio State to take undisputed lead in the race. After semester examinations they faltered again, dropping two games to Northwestern and Illinois within a week, but after that they breezed through without defeat.

M'CRACKEN SECOND

Branch McCracken, Indiana's star center, won second place in the race for individual scoring honors in the 1929 Big Ten basketball campaign. He had a total of 34 field goals and 32 free throws, or 100 points.

The championship was clinched two weeks before the season ended by Charles Stretch Murphy, of Purdue, who broke all modern conference scoring marks with 143 points.

Third place fell to George Van Heyde, another center, of Ohio State, who caged 99 points, while Bud Foster, of Wisconsin, and Johnny How, of Illinois, were deadlocked for fourth and fifth places with 95 points each.

ALL-BIG TEN FIVES NAMED

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP.)—Michigan and Wisconsin, co-champions of Western Conference basketball for 1929, also share honors in placing their hardboard artists on the all-Conference team as selected for the Associated Press by coaches, officials and experts of the game. Each placed two, while the fifth member came from Purdue, the runner-up.

Competition for berths on this all-star aggregation was just as close as the long championship campaign, a campaign replete with comebacks, thrills, upsets and some of the finest basketball ever exhibited along the circuit.

Only one member was an unanimous choice—Charles (Stretch) Murphy, Purdue's "string bean" center and ace of all Big Ten scorers. It was the second successive year that Murphy was a unanimous selection. The others won by a margin of one or two votes out of the 20 cast. Four juniors and one senior compose the first team. The team selections are as follows:

First Team.	Position.	Second Team.
Foster, Wis	F	How, Illinois
Chapman, Mich	F	Harmeson, Purdue
Murphy, Purdue	C	Tenhopen, Wis
McCoy, Mich. (C)	G	Mills, Illinois

JOE DUNDEE EDDIE MACK AL MELLO

Photo shows the meeting of Joe Dundee and Al Mello, boxing rivals, in Boston, a far different meeting than originally intended. The pair were to box the main bout of a benefit show in Boston's Madison Square Garden last Friday night, but Dundee, welterweight champion of the world, had to undergo an operation for an arm infection, so Mello visited him later at the hospital instead of in the ring.

A. A. U. FLOOR TOURNEY OPENS

The South Side Turners of Indianapolis routed the swarthy Haskell Indians, 34 to 26, after a nip-and-tuck battle, while the Pauls five from Miami, Fla., easily conquered the Monarchs, an independent court team of Humboldt, Kan.

PENN GRIDDERS REPORT TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Spring football practice at the University of Pennsylvania that starts today will continue for six weeks, according to an announcement by head coach Louis Alonzo Young.

Heretofore spring practice has lasted for three weeks, but the loss of 14 lettermen, including five men who were regulars for three seasons, makes it necessary, according to Coach Young, to lengthen the period of instruction.

The squad will progress from calisthenics during the first week to fundamentals the second and third weeks to scrimmage the fourth and fifth weeks and to games the sixth week. The coaching staff plans to weed out from the squad of 60 which is expected to report, those who will not be varsity timber for the preliminary practice in the fall. Practice will start at 4 o'clock and continue until 6.

College Youths Get By on $30 a Month

PULLMAN, Wash.—(AP.)—You can be collegiate and get an education on $1 a month and still not miss a thing—if you know how. Three students of Washington State College do just that. Carl Ellingsen, varsity three-sport athlete; Ralph Carlton, frosh basketball star, and Kenneth Kadow are the three musketeers who bag a cheap education together. They get free room, light and heat for caring for a furnace. Food and incidentals total $30. Carlton and Ellingsen earn $20 by working in the college gymnasium, while Kadow's job as stage electrician in the school auditorium nets the other third of the expenses.

W. & J. Substitute To Captain '30 Varsity Five

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 11.—With the basketball season ended with an unexpected victory over West Virginia at Morgantown, Washington and Jefferson is confronted with an unprecedented situation in the election of a captain for next year. Every man who started the game against the Mountaineers comprising the first string regulars—Gilchrist, Robinson, Sanders, McMunn and Hoskins, will graduate next June.

McKissock, rated about on an equal footing, is also a senior, leaving no one for the captaincy next year, but a substitute. So far as is known, the Presidents have never before graduated their entire first string in an athletic sport in one year.

Deb Secrist, first string substitute, is a junior and has one more year of competition and it is regarded as likely that he will be made captain without serious opposition.

STOCKS UNEASY, MOVEMENTS ERRATIC

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Growing uneasiness over the credit situation was reflected in the erratic price movements in today's stock market, which was featured by another series of bullish demonstrations in the Radio Corporation issues. The general list appeared to be under pressure, declines in a long list of active issues ranging from 1 to 7 points.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent, as against an opening rate of 10 on Friday, dropped to 8 and then to 7. Persistent but unconfirmed rumors that the New York Federal Reserve Bank would increase its rediscount rate this week, or next, and that a further increase would be made in the Bank of England rate probably inspired much of the day's selling. Higher margin requirements put into effect by several commission houses today also may have been a selling factor.

NEWS BULLISH

The day's business news was largely bullish in character. The American Woolen Company reported a large loss for last year, but this was more than offset by a series of favorable statements, the Murray Corporation showing net of $3.33 a share as against 97 cents in 1927. Several large railroad equipment orders were announced during the day.

Radio (old stock) opened 3 points lower at 458, dropped to 446, rallied to 473, fell back to 461 and then soared to a new high record at 475. The new stock, after selling down to 89½, rallied to a new high record at 95½. Buying of these issues was based on expectations of a large expansion in earnings as a result of the recent acquisition of the Victor Talking Machine and Radio-Keith-Orpheum properties, and the purchase of the Marconiphone Company by the Gramophone Company in which Radio has a 51 per cent interest. Victor Talking Machine common advanced 3 points to a new high at 175 and the certificates jumped 5 points to a new top at 176.

SHOW STRENGTH

Paramount-Famous-Lasky, Follansbee, Foundation Company and General American Tank also showed independent strength.

On the other hand, Johns Manville broke 7 points, Warren Bros. 6, General Electric and Western Union 5½ each and Wright Aeronautical, American Railway Express, American Radiator, Curtiss Aeroplane, Chrysler, United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Colorado Fuel, Anaconda Copper and Lambert sold 3 to 5 points under last week's closing quotations.

Lower call money rates stimulated the buying of a select assortment of public utility, chemical, drug and railroad equipment shares in the late trading. Peoples Gas ran up nearly 7 points to a new high record at 277. The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 3,500,000 shares.

Radio (old) droped more than 20 points when the whole market weakened in the final trading.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 11.—High winds in Western Oklahoma and Kansas, together with reports of crop damage there, turned wheat values upward today after an early setback. Advances failed to hold well, however, in the face of announcement of 505,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply total. Besides export demands today for wheat from Northern America was next to nothing, whereas world shipments of wheat for the last week were the largest on record, 22,668,000 bushels, comparing with 18,568,000 bushels a year ago.

Wheat closed nervous, ¼c to ½c net lower. Corn ⅝ to ¾c to ⅞ to 1c down. Oats ¼c to ⅜c off, and provisions showing 2 to 22c advance.

Big Argentine shipments of wheat to Europe had a continued bearish effect today, pulling down Liverpool wheat quotations and thus exercising at times an evident repressing effect on the wheat market here. In this connection, notice was taken that the aggregate of wheat stocks afloat had enlarged to 73,575,000 bushels, against 70,032,000 bushels last week and 68,760,000 bushels a year ago. Considerable buying here, though, with consequent price rallies, resulted from advices that more or less crop damage in the Southwest was resulting from high winds blowing the soil, which was reported loose at present.

According to dispatches today from Kansas points, wheat was short of root growth, thin on the ground, and poorly stooled, making it unusually susceptible to blowing. Messages were also at hand today from Canada, telling of deficiency of rain-fall in the last four months. It was pointed out that nevertheless the shortage in the last two months taken together was less than in the corresponding months of the two preceding years.

Ohmer Recapitalization.

The Ohmer Fare Register Company, largest manufacturer of taximeters in the world, has decided for an increase in the authorized capital stock of the company from 15,000 shares of the par value of $100 per share, to 504,922 shares, of which 4,922 shares, known as preferred stock, will have a par value of $100 per share, 100,000 shares, known as Class A stock, will have no par value, and 400,000 shares known as Class B stock will have no par value. It is contemplated that the 4,922 shares of preferred stock, which are temporarily carried over from the old capitalization, will be retired out of the proceeds of the sale of Class A stock by the company, and that there will presently be outstanding 100,000 shares of the Class A stock and 270,000 shares of the Class B stock. Holders of present common stock will receive in exchange for each share held 2 7-9 shares of the new Class A stock and 25 shares of the new Class B stock. The company has authorized the sale of a large block of its Class A stock to F. J. Lisman & Co., 44 Wall street, and will use the proceeds of such sale to provide for the retirement of all or substantially all of its preferred stock and for expansion purposes, particularly in the field of recording and registering machines. The company has also authorized the issue of 20,000 shares of the Class B stock in exchange for certain valuable patents.

Foreign Security Offerings.

Increasing confidence in the future of foreign business is indicated by the growing volume in the American market of foreign corporation offerings which crossed the $1,000,000,000 mark for the first time last year and a wider recognition of profitable foreign business built up by certain American corporations, according to Gage P. Wright, New York economist and president of the Business Economic Digest. "Foreign corporation offerings in United States market before the war were negligible," Mr. Wright points out. "They reached a total of $328,000,000 for 1924, as shown by Dow, Jones & Co. figures, and climbed to a record of $1,143,000,000 in 1928 when, for the first time, they exceeded the offerings of foreign governmental loans. That trend is a natural sequel to the education of investors as to the progress of many foreign-managed corporations. A natural by-product is the growing interest in American-managed corporations during an international business. The outstanding common stocks of 10 such corporations alone (all listed on the New York Stock Exchange) have a current market value of $8,380,000,000."

Poland's Foreign Trade.

Poland's foreign trade during January, 1928, according to a cable report received today from the central statistical office in Warsaw, increased 13 per cent in value as compared with December. Foreign shipments were valued at 509,876,000 zlotys, of which 294,042,000 zlotys represented imports and 215,834,000 represented exports. As compared with December imports increased 55,647,000 zlotys and exports 6,661,000 zlotys. The relatively small increase of exports is a result of greater domestic sales of coal, which usually is one of the most important items of Poland's foreign trade. The increase of domestic sales of coal is a result of the exceptionally severe weather, which, moreover, paralyzed railroad transportation and shipping on the Baltic Sea, curtailing thereby transport to foreign countries.

Higher Profits For Industry.

An analysis of 900 corporations in 40 different industries indicates that net profits last year showed a 14.8 per cent gain over 1927, according to this week's United Business Service report. This momentum of good business has been carried forward into the first quarter of the current year and may be expected to continue throughout the spring months. Among the industries which have made substantial gains, the automotive stands out as the leader, with output running about 50 per cent over a year ago, and reported inability to keep up with orders in a number of cases. Other particularly favored lines are the machine tool industry, the steel industry, the electrical equipment and railway equipment industries, and more recently the shipbuilding industry.

Finance Firms Draw Capital.

The field of finance attracted more than twice as much new capital in the New York market during the first two months of 1929 than was attracted to any other field of enterprise, according to an analysis of new public offerings made by Clarence Hodson & Co. Of the $1,550,180,202 invested during January and February, 1929, $606,703,632 of new money found its way to financial companies. The nearest to this figure was the $281,538,000 absorbed by public utilities. Manufacturing was third with $162,673,445; foreign issues fourth with $118,749,000, and transportation fifth with $117,862,000. The grouping of financial companies includes investment companies, investment trusts, banking companies, insurance companies, etc., or roughly all of those enterprises which deal in the dollar as their stock in trade.

Forbes

Business Still Improves; Money and Stocks Alarm.

By B. C. FORBES

BUSINESS is on the up grade. Stock prices lost ground early last week, but later rallied. Money rates are the highest in years. Commodity prices have tended upwards, including a sharp rise in cotton. Banking sentiment is apprehensive because of another marked increase ($140,000,000) in brokers' loans, but industrial and other business leaders express confidence in the general outlook. President Hoover's inaugural address had little effect.

IN THE highest circles chief interest centers in the money market. An outspoken statement by Paul M. Warburg, the first vice governor of the Federal Reserve Board and now a noted international banker, against the abnormal happenings in Wall street has attracted attention. For months and months leading bankers, almost without exception, have expressed acute alarm over the phenomenal speculation in stocks, the rapid inflation in brokers' loans, the enormous inflow of non-bank loans into Wall Street and the disparity between interest rates for speculation and for commercial purposes. But invariably these bankers have refused to be quoted. Mr. Warburg has courageously voiced the prevailing bank sentiment. Thus:

"STOCK exchange operators have now for many months governed the flow of money, not only in the United States, but in the principal parts of the world. . . . If orgies of unrestrained speculation are permitted to spread too far, the ultimate collapse is certain not only to affect the speculators themselves, but also to bring about a general depression involving the entire country.

"When we consider that the market value of 50 industrial stocks, 20 public utility stocks and 20 railway shares has grown within two years from approximately $17,500,000,000 to $33,000,000,000, we find an accretion of approximately $15,500,000,000 an accretion, in the majority of cases, quite unrelated to respective increases in plant, property or earning power.

"WHEN the savings of the masses are deposited as margins for stock exchange speculations, and when the extravagant use of funds for speculative purposes absorbs so much of the nation's credit supply that it threatens to cripple the country's regular business, then there does not seem to be any doubt as to the direction in which the Federal Reserve System ought to exercise its influence quickly and forcefully.

"FOR approximately the last six months we have had, in effect, a bank rate of 7 or 8 per cent; for it is that rate which during that period has directed the flow of gold to our shores and which has exercised a decisive influence in the fashioning of our domestic rate structure. When commercial paper commands 5¾ per cent, and when bankers' acceptances sell at 5⅝ per cent, rediscount rates of 4½ per cent and 5 per cent seem grotesquely impotent and out of line."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—The specter of a higher Federal Reserve rediscount rate, following reports the New York bank's board will meet tomorrow, cast its shadow over the curb market today, and unsettled prices generally. Selling was in face of a drop from 9 to 8 per cent in call money rates.

Ford Motor of Canada ran contrary to the general list, advancing from 715 to 748 and losing only a point of its 24-point gain at midday. Checker Cab yielded 2 points and Firestone Tire 5.

Alexander Industries again was the strong spot of the aviation group, moving up a point to above 22. Aviation Corporation of the Americas extended its decline of last week to 6 points to sell below 67.

Sellers were active in the utilities. Electric Bond and Share (new) lost a point, and the old stock ranged from 264 to 261. Electric Investors yielded 2 points, and American Foreign Power warrants sold down 3 points.

Trading in Tonapah Extension Mining stock was suspended by the curb market. It was understood after a receivers' sale of the company's assets by order of Federal Court in Nevada, nothing was left for common shareholders following payment of bonds and receivers' charges.

NEW YORK CURB—

OHIO ST. STORE HELD UP

Two robbers, with revolvers and adhesive tape, held up the Newark Shoe Store, 529 East Ohio street, today and escaped with $30.

The holdupmen forced C. A. Berney, of Crafton, the manager, and John Harley, of Jacksonia street, a clerk, to lie down in a rear room and bound their hands and feet with the tape. They took $25 from Berney's pockets and $5 from a till.

STEINER FOUND GUILTY, HOLD WITNESS

Emil Steiner, described as "one of Al Forney's men," was found guilty of maintaining gambling devices by a jury in Criminal Court today after a commonwealth witness had been arrested on a perjury charge.

James Matthews, Freeport road restaurant proprietor, was arrested as he left the witness stand on order of Assistant District Attorney Earl Jackson. Matthews testified someone had placed slot machines in his place, who, he could not remember. Jackson called for the records of the grand jury probe and showed that when Matthews was before that body he had named Steiner as the man who had installed the machines.

Mrs. Catherine Matthews, hotelkeeper, of the Three-Degree road, testified Steiner had placed a 25-cent slot machine in her place on a 50-50 basis.

Steiner was acquitted on counts charging him with being a common gambler and with maintaining gambling devices at a place in the 1800 block, East street, on motion of the Commonwealth.

Four other defendants in the grand jury probe were placed on trial before Judge Elder W. Marshall, charged with maintaining gambling devices. They are Mack, Dale and Lawrence McCarthy, brothers, and Lloyd McCrory.

IRREGULARITY SHOWN BY STOCKS ON LOCAL BOARD

Allegheny Steel reacted 3 points to 85 in the early sales on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. This followed a sensational advance in which the stock climbed 28 points in two weeks. The announcement on Saturday by a large stockholder of the West Penn Steel Company that Allegheny's offer for their stock has not been accepted and that the merger negotiations are over so far as West Penn is concerned is believed to have been responsible for the decline today.

The remainder of the list of local stocks was irregular, coinciding with the action of the leading stocks on the New York Stock Exchange in the early trading today.

Witherow Steel, when issued gained ⅛ of a point to 70⅛. D. L. Clark also advanced ⅛ from Saturday's close in the first sale at 18½. Western Public Service warrants were off fractionally. The temporary certificates were unchanged at 27¼ at the opening.

Stronger support was given to the local stocks later in the morning. Lone Star Gas reached 78, a gain of a point over Saturday's close. After showing no change at the opening, Western Public Service temporary certificates advanced to 28¼, up a point.

United Engineering and Foundry appeared at 43, a loss of a point from the last sale. Other stocks showed only minor changes.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Raw sugar was quiet early today. Prices were unchanged at 3.71c for spots, duty paid. No sales were reported.

Raw futures opened unchanged to 1 point higher on covering and a little trade buying, but met increased hedge selling and reacted. The list at midday was 1 point net lower on active positions. Trading was not very active. Operators as a rule were inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments. In refined there was good withdrawal demand, but no new business. Prices were unchanged to 4.90c for fine granulated.

GAS KILLS BOY, OVERCOMES 3 ONFARM

BRADFORD, Pa., March 11.—(AP.)—A youth was found dead and three other persons unconscious, victims of carbon monoxide fumes, in a farmhouse 10 miles from Bradford, on the Rock City road, yesterday.

Eugene Cornell, 17, of Duke Center, was the one who died. His uncle, Floyd Cornell, and Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy, are in the Olean (N. Y.) General Hospital, expected to recover.

A neighbor entered the house after part of the day had passed without a sign of life at the McCarthy home. The house was filled with fumes, the result of a gas fire.

The occupants apparently had been overcome after they had retired for the night. The Cornell boy and his uncle were spending the week-end with the McCarthys.

The boy was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cornell.

DIED

BRADDOCK—On Sunday, March 10, 1929, JAMES S. BRADDOCK, aged 73. Funeral services at his late residence, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., Wednesday at 2 p. m. Interment at the convenience of the family.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

BUSINESS HERE SPEEDS SINCE JANUARY 1

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

Business activity in the Pittsburgh district has been at an accelerating pace since the biginning of the new year. The heritage of volume from 1928 was large and since then there has been a steady tendency towards improvement.

The steel industry in particular is having a far better than normal first quarter. Ingot production is close to 90 per cent of capacity. Although some types of finishing plants are working at lower rates, the general average is high.

The complaint is still heard that, while the large corporations have prosperity, many of the smaller businesses are not making large profits. This is particularly true of retail lines.

A high rate of automobile production and a revival in the buying of railroad cars have been important factors in bringing about the expansion of industrial activity here.

CAR ORDERS LARGE

The placing of orders for about 37,000 freight cars this year, a large share of which has gone to Pittsburgh builders, has helped the district both by giving new activity to car shops which have been almost idle during the last year, and by giving Pittsburgh mills very attractive orders for materials. The large output of automobiles has increased the orders of makers of steel sheets, bars, strips and tubes.

The earnings of most steel companies in the present quarter are expected to exceed the final parter of 1928. Although results in that period were very satisfactory, operations tapered off slightly over the year end. The higher rate of activity during most of January, February and the present month indicate a good margin of profit for most producers.

Prices of steel have continued firm. The advances announced recently will not have any effect on profits until the second quarter of the year since most consumers ordered their requirements before the new quotations were announced. The new prices have not yet been tested by large sales. Should they become effective the prospects for the second quarter of the year would be exceptionally bright for the steel industry.

PIPE EARNINGS FALL

The earnings of pipe makers in the present quarter may not be quite as large as in the final three months of 1928, since there have been fewer large pipe line orders placed recently and the general level of activity of both welded and seamless tube plants has shown a slackening tendency.

The coal industry continues in the depressed state which has prevailed for the last year. Prices remain too low for the average operator to work at a profit. There are no signs of immediate improvement in sight. Most of the operators have made progress in lowering costs in the two years since the strike began. It seems likely that further progress along this line is the only hope for the coal operators.

The extent to which coal mines in Western Pennsylvania will share in the lake business of the coming season is still in doubt. The division of the tonnage between this field and others depends to a great extent on freight rates. No one knows just what rates will prevail for the coming season. The Pittsburgh and West Virginia is expected to announce a cut in its rates. The other carriers have not announced their intentions since the Supreme Court failed to take a definite stand on the lake cargo case.

Tighter margin requirements were put into effect today by a number of leading New York Stock Exchange brokerage houses. They are expected to be of value in holding down reckless speculation. One large house is requiring a minimum cash equity of $2,000 in margin accounts at all times and refuses to carry lots of less than 25 shares of stock selling at less than $100 a share on margin.

General Cigar Earnings.

Increased sales and earnings during the current quarter are being recorded by the General Cigar Company, reflecting the sharp upward trend of the company's operations demonstrated in the final period of 1928. Sales are understood to be running approximately 20 per cent ahead of the corresponding period of 1928, which is ordinarily a dull period in the cigar industry. First quarter earnings will undoubtedly exceed those of last year when the company reported net income of $393,571, after all charges, equal after allowance for dividends on the preferred stock to 75 cents a shre on the 407,570 shares of no-par common stock outstanding.

Net income for the full 1928 year, was slightly under the 1927 showing, due only because of record earnings during the fourth quarter. After all charges, profits were $3,140,459, equal to $6.84 a share on 407,570 common shares, compared with $3,366,136 or $7.12 a common share earned in 1927. In the final quarter of last year the General earned $3.08 a share, compared with net for the first nine months of $3.77 a share.

Curtiss Dividend Policy.

There will be no change in present dividend policy of Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company in near future, although earnings are running more than four times dividend requirements, says C. M. Keyes, president. Company is still in an era of expansion in which character of industry is constantly changing, and for that reason it is deemed advisable to continue a conservative dividend policy. However, President Keyes intimates that stockholders will again this year receive valuable "rights" as further financing will be necessary to carry out expansion plans now under contemplation. Twice during 1928 stockholders rights were offered, once new stock was issued at $50 a share and later at $100 a share. Earnings in first six months of 1929 are expected to run at levels closely corresponding to first half 1928 due to fact new plant facilities will not be entirely available until next summer. During this period new models both in planes and motors will be brought out, and in last six months 1929 a substantial increase in earnings is anticipated.

Kennecott Possibilities.

It is confidently expected that when Kennecott Copper directors meet in May capital stock will be placed on at least $6 annual basis, against $4 prevailing rate. This would be equal to $12 on old stock, which was split two-for-one bringing present outstanding issue to approximately 9,106,000 shares. Providing copper metal strength continues throughout the year and all indications are it will, it is believed, another split up will be ordered. During past several weeks it is learned conferences have been held between dominating interests in Kennecott and American Smelting and Refining Company with respect to merging two companies. There appears, however, to be some diversity of opinion as to basis of an exchange of stock and for time being negotiations are in abeyance. If the consolidation does take place it is reported it will be on an equal basis of exchange, share for share. With production at a new peak and output of its mines sold virtually through June, combined with pronounced strength of the red metal, it is assured Kennecott will report in 1929 a new record in point of income. An average price obtained of 18 cents a pound for copper would mean income including its equity in Nevada equal to approximately $9 a share on increased capital or about $18 a share on old shares.

Youngstown Steel Corporation.

The Youngstown district steel industry is maintaining a high operating rate of 86 per cent this week, holding almost without exception to mill schedules set into force a week ago. Forming of prices together with the unusually high rate of production after a busy winter is expected here to bring a sharp increase in earnings of valley producers for the first quarter of 1929. Manufacturers believe the end of March will show many new records in different phases of the steel industry have been established in the quarter. Furnace welded pipe units in the district are producing for a market which is weaker than that for any other steel product. Valley tube mills for independents are continuing at 45 per cent of capacity, several per cent lower than the average for the remainder of the country. Steel ingot production is above 95 per cent for independents and more than 80 per cent for the steel corporation mills here. Forty-nine openhearths are making steel for independent manufacturers, out of 51 available. Sheet production is near capacity with a shortage of steel in some cases preventing an increase in output. Forced production in sheet mills of the valley has partly succeeded in satisfying the demands of insistent consumers.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Minus signs dominated the bond market list today, although a few convertible issues started the new week with advancing prices. Time money was firm.

Activity in the foreign list was on the selling side. Kreuger & Toll 5s, which were marketed last week at 98, sold at 98¾, fractionally under Saturday's closing. Chile Republic 6s declined fractionally at 93⅝, placing the issue on a slightly higher yield basis than the new $10,000,000 loan which was oversubscribed today at 92½.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

GREAT LAWYER FORETOLD DRY EVILS 25 YEARS AGO

By FRANCIS J. TIETSORT.

Many lawyers of note in the United States, as well as other professional men, have called pointed attention, in letters to the editors of the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest, to the prohibition views of the late Dr. James Coolidge Carter, one-time professor of law at Harvard University, and one of the oldest and most eminent attorneys at the New York bar when he died nearly a quarter century ago.

In lecture No. 8 of Prof. Carter's great book, "Law; It's Origin, Growth and Function," (Putnam's) which comprised an entire course of lectures prepared for the Harvard law school, the great barrister made the point of showing the uselessness of legal enactments which come in contact with deep-seated customs which are in themselves not criminal.

He told how the English Parliament passed legislation against certain business practice between 1552 and 1706, but since these "came in contact with large general customs and the freedom of contract, and utterly failed of enforcement, by the act of 1772 they were all repealed in penitential shame."

Prof. Carter then went on to say:

"The multitude of laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks, being designed to restrict their use, come in contact not indeed with universal custom, but with very common and widespread practice It has been found impossible to enforce these, except in small rural communities, and but partly there."

'Tyranny'

Before reverting again to prohibition in the sense it is used in forbidding people to drink any sort of alcoholic beverage, or handle or traffic in it, Prof. Carter laid down vital principles which ardent prohibitionists have been disinclined to heed. He said:

"The principal danger lies in the attempt often made to convert into crimes acts regarded by large numbers, perhaps a majority, as innocent; that is to practice what is, in fact, tyranny.

"When a law is made declaring conduct widely practiced and wisely regarded as innocent to be a crime, the evil consequences which arise upon attempts to enforce it are apt to be viewed as the consequences of the forbidden practice, and not of the attempt to suppress it: and it is believed that the true method of avoiding, or doing away with, these consequences is to press the efforts at enforcement with increased energy."

True of Today

As one lawyer-commentator on Prof. Carter's words has observed to the Hearst newspapers, the foregoing paragraph, written 25 years ago, might have been uttered yesterday to express the views of millions of Americans concerning the Jones act, which asks jurymen either to put their compatriot violators of the Volstead act in prison for five years or fine them $10,000.

Prof. Carter pursues his subject:

"Take, for instance, the case of laws prohibiting the manufacture or sale of intoxicating drinks The evils of drunkenness are so manifest that great numbers of excellent people are impressed with a conviction that some measures must be taken to repress them.

"But men forget that their acts, whether in enacting and attempting to enforce written laws, or of whatever other nature, are subject to the great law of causality and will draw after them their inevitable consequences. It requires the active interposition of man to put it in force.

Evil Effects

"Evidence must be found and prosecutions set in motion, and as this is a task in which good men are commonly found to be unwilling, or too indolent to voluntarily engage, others must be sought for who will undertake it. The spy and informer are hired, but their testimony is open to much impeachment, and is met by opposing testimony often false and perjured.

"The trials become scenes of perjury, and juries find abundant excuses for rendering verdicts of acquittal or persisting in disagreements, contrary to their oaths. The whole machinery of enforcement fails, or, if it succeeds at all, it is in particular places only while in others the law is violated with impunity. Attempts are made to insure a more general and effective execution of the law by imposing the duty of detection upon the ordinary policemen, and giving them summary powers.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

	Authorized
Common Stock (No Par Value)	10,000,000 shs.*

The number of shares of Common Stock presently to be outstanding will consist of the 2,000,000 shares being publicly offered and any shares presently issued in connection with the acquisition of interests in other companies.

*Including 1,250,000 shares reserved for sale at $20 per share under options, granted or to be granted to the organizers, bankers and management, exercisable January 1, 1930 to December 31, 1936, inclusive, the number of shares deliverable upon exercise of these options being subject to increase in case of stock dividends on outstanding Common Stock. A part of these options is to be reserved for executive and technical personnel not yet in the Corporation's employ.

PURPOSE

"The Aviation Corporation has been organized primarily as a holding and development company for the aviation industry. The Corporation aims to make available to its subsidiary and affiliated companies technical and management cooperation, as well as financial resources beyond those which would be at the command of any single unit. While it is anticipated that its holdings will consist largely of the majority of the common stocks of other companies, it may also own interests in companies not controlled. In either case, such companies may be established concerns or new organizations created for experimentation, development, investment, manufacture, sales, or operation of aircraft.

TECHNICAL STAFF

Although commercial aviation is already a substantial industry and a factor in the transportation system of the country, experimental and developmental work is still of great importance. It is hoped that this Corporation will play a significant part in the technical and commercial advancement of aviation in this country. It intends therefore to maintain a staff of experts versed in all important aspects of the industry. This staff will cooperate with the active managements of the companies in which the Corporation is interested as well as investigate aviation and related projects, and carry on experimental and development work directly for the Corporation. A part of the options on Common Stock will be reserved for the members of this technical division, which, it is expected, will be headed by Col. Thurman H. Bane, who served in a similar capacity as Chief of the Engineering Division of the Army Air Service, and will include, among others, at the outset Col. V. E. Clark, formerly Chief Aeronautical Engineer, U. S. Army, and C. Fayette Taylor, M.E., (in consulting capacity).

ORGANIZATION

The Aviation Corporation is at present negotiating for substantial interests in several large established companies in the field representing various phases of the industry. These acquisitions, it is expected, will be effected in the near future largely through the issuance of Common Stock of the Corporation and, in some instances, options to purchase Common Stock. The Corporation will receive $35,000,000 in cash as the proceeds of the present financing.

The officers of the Corporation will include W. A. Harriman as Chairman of the Board of Directors, Graham B. Grosvenor as President, Robert Lehman as Chairman of the Executive Committee, and George R. Hann as Vice Chairman of the Executive Committee.

In addition to the above officers it is expected that the Board of Directors will include, upon completion of the present financing, the following: Frank Andrews, Attorney, Houston, Tex.; L. W. Baldwin, Pres., Missouri Pacific Railroad Company; Harold O. Barker, Jesup & Lamont; William G. Beckers, Director, Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation; C. K. Boettcher, Boettcher & Co., Denver; D. K. HAZARDS OF INDUSTRY

Although the future of aviation as a manufacturing and transportation industry appears assured, there is no doubt that it will experience many vicissitudes before becoming thoroughly established and stabilized. Many individual companies will probably fail to fulfil the promise now held out for them, whereas new organizations, as yet obscure or not yet in existence, will become strong units in the industry. Moreover, many aviation companies are at present sacrificing the opportunity for immediate profits to the endeavor to prepare their organizations, in personnel, equipment and product, for what they may regard as the future demands to be met. It is believed that a company, such as The Aviation Corporation, with large resources of capital and personnel, will be able to be of constructive assistance to many aviation enterprises in developing their strength and earning power. However, any investment in the industry is hazardous, and must be regarded in the light of a speculation."

LIQUOR COSTS GUARDS JOBS

DETROIT, March 11.—(AP.)—Eleven inspectors of the immigration border patrol here resigned after they had been warned by John L. Zurbrick, district director of immigration, that unless they resigned charges would be preferred against them for consorting with down river liquor runners.

In announcing the resignations Zurbrick said that all were accepted "with prejudice" and none of the men would be reinstated.

The inspectors had been confronted individually with evidence gathered within the last three months by special investigators.

The immigration patrol is principally concerned with alien smuggling, but occasionally is called upon to aid the customs border patrol in apprehending rum runners and Zurbrick said he had issued orders to his men that they were not to be friendly with rum runners.

JAIL HOLDS NEW BRIDEGROOM

Harry Whitney, 28, is spending a delayed honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo in Allegheny County jail. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in Central Police Court today, ordered him sent there until a score of house robberies in Sewickley and Glen Osborne have been investigated.

Whitney, who married Ruth L. Watt, of 95 Climax street, Beltzhoover, Saturday was packing to catch a train when Detectives Robert Best and William Cryster took him to police station instead. At the girl's home they say they found a valuable toilet set stolen from a Sewickley home. He had presented it to his wife as having belonged to his sister. The girl, a telephone operator whose family, it is said, strenuously objected to the marriage, is at her parents' home, having suffered a nervous breakdown.

BRIBERY TRIAL POSTPONED

The trial of Alderman Patrick Cawley, of the South Side, and Charles W. Collins, investigator for the Children's Service Bureau, who were scheduled to be arraigned today on charges of extortion, was postponed at the request of Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk.

Clunk asked Judge James B. Drew that the trial be delayed until arguments are heard on the plea for a new trial for Collins, who was convicted in a previous trial.

Cawley also is charged with malfeasance in office. He and Collins were indicted in the county probe following testimony that they had dropped prosecution against numerous slot machine operators upon payment of the costs.

BUGS BAER Says

"Bugs" Baer

While being inaugurated in the rain he turned to Justice Taft and asked:

"What am I, Bill? A President or a bathing beauty?"

Mr. Coolidge is back home again and glad of it. He doesn't have to look at a Senator for breakfast every morning.

Neither does he have Congressmen barking outside his door.

After you have been President of the recalls and the stubborn minorities for seven years, you must train an owl to hoot you to sleep in the evening.

How would you like to tip your hat continuously for seven long years?

It's a terrific job. Mr. Coolidge's first official act as a private citizen will be to buy a sun-bonnet and knot the strings under his chin.

A sun-bonnet may not be beautiful. But nobody expects you to tip it.

Another nice thing about not being President any more is that you can take a bath without having secret service men in the tub with you.

And there will not be a Vice President around to ask Mr. Coolidge how he is feeling every five minutes.

That's courtesy.

But it is not nice to ask the President how he is feeling every five minutes.

That's ambition.

Mr. Coolidge made a great executive. During his terms of office, our national defense was strengthened by 15 cruisers and the famous iron horse.

And Northampton, Mass., is a town where a veto will stick. When you tell the milkman his cream is skimpy, he doesn't drive the cow into your parlor and demand an extra session.

Cal is entitled to a rest after his seven years in Washington, and Northampton, Mass., is the ideal spot. Nearest traffic cop is paid by Boston.

YES SIR! I'LL HAVE TO THINK THINGS OVER GOOD BEFORE I AGREE TO LET OUR MR. WHITE PANIC HIMSELF INTO THIS FAMILY. TELL ME! HE PRACTICALLY INSULTED ME WHEN HE DIDN'T ASK ME IF HE WAS O. K. WITH ME BEFORE HE PROPOSED TO PEGGY AND.......
I SUPPOSE HE WOULD HAVE SAID SOMETHING TO YOU IF YOU SPENT AS MUCH TIME AT HOME AS YOU DO TRYING TO UPLIFT A LOT OF WORTHLESS GUINEA-PIGS.
LISTEN, KINDLY DO ME A BIG FAVOR AND GIVE ME A CHANCE TO KEEP MY MIND ON ONE TROUBLE AT A TIME. WHAT HAS THOSE GUINEA PIGS GOT TO DO WITH THE FACT—?
DID YOU SAY ANYTHING TO MY FATHER BEFORE YOU SPOKE TO ME ABOUT MARRIAGE GEORGE BUNGLE? THINK!
IN A ROUNDABOUT WAY YES, I DID. YOUR FATHER WASN'T SURPRISED. HE DIDN'T WALK INTO HIS OWN HOME ONE EVENING AND BE KNOCKED SILLY WITH THE INFORMATION THAT.....
MY FATHER WASN'T A BUG ON GUINEA PIGS EITHER. HE DIDN'T LOOK ON HIS HOME AS JUST A PLACE TO SPEND A WEEK-END. GUINEA-PIGS! OH EVERY TIME I EVEN HEAR THEM MENTIONED I WANT TO SCREAM.

Last Minute Tax Rush Finds Us Again in Line

You could have made your income tax report three months ago—but you didn't. You could have done it two months ago, a month ago, two weeks ago, last week—but you didn't. So sweat and struggle and get in line with a lot of others just like yourself. Serves you right for not keeping the promise you made to yourself this time last year that never again would you let your income tax report go until the last minute.

It is not The Sun-Telegraph speaking above, reader, but yourself. It is you who is calling yourself brother of a certain long-eared animal. We have had reports from scouts and we know it is you. The same scout reported that you went through the same performance last year, and classified yourself as every style of dumbbell, and said it would never happen again. But here it is—four days from March 15, the deadline, and you ready to make another pledge that you never will be caught this way again. You have plenty of company, for most of us are you.

D. B. Heiner knows you—he knows there will be many of you. So he is keeping his force at the income tax office in the Federal Building at work longer. Tonight and tomorrow night the office will be open until 6, Wednesday and Thursday nights until 9, and Friday night until midnight.

Our First Aircraft Show Another Step in Progress

Pittsburgh's first airplane show is being held in Motor Square Garden, where it opened Saturday night, with an impressive exhibition of airplanes, motors, accessories, models and miscellaneous things pertaining to aerial transportation.

We don't know much about airplanes now, but we will know a lot eventually. This exhibition and future ones will teach us. When first we used to go to automobile shows most of us didn't know the difference between a carburetor and a chassis. Try to stick us now!

The most significant thing about the show is itself—the fact that it is being held. For many years we regarded the airplane as something to be gaped at—a kind of mechanical oddity at which we could marvel, seeing nothing more remote than the possibility that some day we would go and look at it critically and compare one specimen with another as we do soap, cigarets, ginger ale and other necessities of life.

But the day has come. It is here. The airplane is here. It appeals to us and we are taking it up and it is taking us up. We progress. The aircraft show is part of the evidence.

Baby Worth $200 a Pound

THREE HIPPOPOTAMUSES, ACTUAL COMPARATIVE SIZES. THE LITTLE ONE WORTH $200 A POUND.

New York's Bronx Zoo has various hippopotamuses. In the picture above you see three samples. On the left is a big hippopotamus, weighing 8,000 pounds. Next comes a pygmy hippopotamus, weighing only 250 pounds. The tiny thing on the right is the child of the pygmy hippopotamus. It doesn't weigh much, and it didn't live long.

But the head of the Bronx Zoo thinks you might be interested in the fact that this baby hippopotamus was worth, in the open market, $200 a pound.

The gigantic Danish boarhound in the bench show is the same in build, character, blood construction, '''thought,'' emotion and everything else as the tiny terrier in the same show.

And the gigantic whale, almost as long as a city block, is said, by scientists, to be the direct descendant of the tree shrew, a creature that you could hold in the palm of your hand.

The fact that this baby hippopotamus was worth $200 a pound contrasts interestingly with the fact that the average human body isn't worth two cents a pound, except to its father and mother.

An average baby's actual commercial value, based on the various items, iron, fat, lime, etc., that it contains would not exceed ten cents.

However, the human baby has one advantage over the little hippopotamus, it may become very valuable as it grows older.

When he was a baby, for instance, Thomas A. Edison wouldn't have been worth fifty cents to anybody, but his parents.

Since then his brain has produced for the benefit of the entire world values not merely in thousands of millions of dollars, but values running into tens of billions and even hundreds of billions.

Thanks to his inventions, workmen and factories make billions a year. And what applies to Edison applies to others.

The important thing is to make your own baby, which is worth nothing at the start, worth more than many hippopotamuses at the finish. And let us not forget to improve ourselves.

Tales That Are Told

Dry Biscuits

A SMALL boy entered a grocer's shop.

"Please have you any dry biscuits?" he asked the man behind the counter.

"Yes, as many as you want, I dare say."

He reached down a large tin.

"Is that the only kind you have?"

"No; here's another."

"Are you sure they are very dry?"

"Quite sure."

"Very well, then"—the boy backed towards the open door—"why not give 'em a drink?"

Rough Stuff

MRS. BYRNE'S only lodger, an actor, gave her two tickets, for herself and daughter, to see him play the villain in the drama, "All for Love."

Spellbound, Mrs. Byrne watched the villain pursue his wicked way through three acts. It was a great shock to her to find she had harbored such a villain, but worse was to follow. In the last act the hero shot the villain through the heart.

"Oh, mother!" cried her daughter, "they've shot our lodger, and he owes us three weeks' rent."

His Difficulty

"Do you wish to make a claim, sir?" he inquired.

"I do."

"Very well, sir: would you please fill up this form?"

The young man studied it in silence.

'But, I say," he exclaimed, suddenly. "I'm puzzled about how I stand with your people. I've got fire, life, accident, and burglary policies, but my immediate trouble is that while I was away the moths got into my spats."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

OF course the kids don't actually talk up to the teachers the way they're supposed to in the jokes, I don't reckon. If they did they'd all be in the reform school as likely as not. What the kids say back to teacher in the jokes is just what the kids would like to say back to teacher in real life.

Anyway, Miss Jones was trying to make Bobby learn the names of all the presidents in order. He wasn't making much headway, and finally he complained that he guessed it was too hard a job to expect a boy to remember so many names anyhow.

"Why, Bobby," says Miss Jones, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Of course you can learn the presidents. I knew the presidents in order, and the vice presidents too, when I was your age."

"Yes," says Robby, "but the presidents and vice presidents then weren't half as many as the presidents are now."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

SOME day I'm going to do a messy murder right in the middle of Main street.

Then proceed to my doom turning handsprings of joy.

For whatever they do to me, it'll be worth it—

Mooching along, obstructing the traffic—

From your grateful groans, dear reader, I gather that you are a fellow sufferer. You, too, have had your progress gummed up by these amblers. You, too, have longed to side-swipe their running boards and knock off their tail lights. Yes, indeed. All right, I'll invite you to the murder.

Lolligagging, they used to call it when I was a girl.

"DOWN WITH LOLLIGAGGERS!" says I.

If the energy I've wasted trying to pass these pests—

And the words I've said—

Were laid end to end—

Am I trying to be funny? I am not. I am issuing a serious protest against one of our meanest modern problems.

Lolligaggers are more than a traffic obstruction; they are a STATE OF MIND.

They walk that way because they think that way and their method of thinking is an obstruction of civilization as well as of traffic.

And while they infuriate you and me, they also make life tragic for themselves. They lead futile, frustrated existences and then wonder why.

Their lives are frustrated because they have never been taught to think straight, to decide what they want and then go after it.

Then try to blame God or society for their own failure and confusion.

DON'T LOLLIGAG!

Don't bunk yourself. Make an honest audit.

Decide what you can reasonably hope to accomplish, how far you can reasonably hope to go. Then start in that direction.

Start and keep going!

Step on the gas and make it snappy.

You may not make Westminster or the Hall of Fame by this plan.

BUT YOU'LL GET SOMEWHERE, AND THAT'S MORE THAN YOU'LL DO IF YOU KEEP ON LOLLIGAGGING!

(Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn., Inc.)

EINSTEIN ON SCREEN

By Garrett P. Serviss

"My girl friends and I visited a cinema house yesterday and saw your movie explaining Einstein's Theory of Relativity. We understood everything quite beautifully down to the curves in lines and bends in rays and relativity of speed and size. But what we couldn't understand was the relativity of time. The illustration with the two lighthouses was perfectly clear, but when you shot the poor man forward to overtake time, and he went backward to 1492, we were left dangling somewhere in the universe, as we couldn't keep up with him. We have been thinking so much that we have contracted a miserable headache between the two of us, and it has availed us nothing. So we decided to write to you and ask to be set right.—Miss Anna Sydow, Stapleton."

YOU make me feel like Greatheart in "Pilgrim's Progress," when the charming widow and daughters of Christian besought him to conduct them safely past the dreadful castle of Giant Despair. Greatheart was a-wondered that the gentle sex should venture near such a place, but he was flattered by his mission and gladly and stoutly did his duty by destroying even the castle itself. I cannot pretend to such a feat, but I will do my little best to help you.

You have taken a twin headache from the dizzy experience of the man who shoots up the stream of time and finds himself arrived some four hundred years sooner than he started. But the headache comes from looking through the wrong spectacles. Try this: Imagine the picture of the world, as it is at any moment, being borne away through space by a spreading wave of light, which is followed by a similar wave bearing the picture of the world as it is an instant later, and these by others with like pictures ad infinitum. If you could ride with the speed of light on the first of these waves, evidently the picture of the world would never change for you, and you would forever seem to be living in 1929.

But, if you could go faster than light, as the man in the movie does, then you would (like him) overtake the waves ahead, one after another, and thus you would appear to be running backward in time, and living over in reverse order the past centuries.

If you traveled twice as fast as light, you would overtake the past centuries at the rate of one century every hundred years, winging its flight through the universe of space-time. If your speed was yet greater you would pass the fleeting years very rapidly. If the speed was infinite you would be back in the time of Columbus before one could say "Jack Robinson."

Perhaps this illustration will help you get rid of the headache: Suppose a long train of cars leaves the station just ahead of a train that carries you on a parallel track. By the time you are started the last car of the first train is speeding along just beside your window. But your train at once develops a speed say twice as great as that of the other. The result will be that you will pass its last car, then the next to the last, and so on until you have run by its whole series of cars, in reverse order, and the last one that you see will be the first one of the train. Substitute a century of time for each of the cars and a train of light waves for the railroad train, and let your own conveyance be the magic projectile of the man in the relativity film. Then you will be wearing the right kind of mental spectacles for viewing the film without nervous distortion.

Bible Passages

Folly of Idol Makers

(Isaiah 44; 9-18.)

THEY that make a graven image are all of them vanity; and their delectable things shall not profit; and they are their own witnesses; they see not, nor know; that they may be ashamed.

Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing?

Behold, all his fellows shall be ashamed: and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together, let them stand up; yet they shall fear, and they shall be ashamed together.

The smith with the tongs both worketh in the coals, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his arms: yea, he is hungry, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

The carpenter stretcheth out his rule; he marketh it out with a line; he fitteth it with planes, and he marketh it out with the compass, and maketh it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man; that it may remain in the house.

He heweth him down cedars, and taketh the cypress and the oak, which he strengtheneth for himself among the trees of the forest: he planteth an ash, and the rain doth nourish it.

Then shall it be for a man to burn: for he will take thereof, and warm himself; yea, he kindleth it, and baketh bread; yea, he maketh a god, and worshippeth it; he maketh it a graven image, and falleth down thereto.

He burneth part thereof in the fire; with part thereof he eateth flesh; he roasteth roast, and is satisfied: yea, he warmeth himself, and saith, Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire:

And the residue thereof he maketh a god, even his graven image: he falleth down unto it, and worshippeth it, and prayeth unto it, and saith, Deliver me; for thou art my god.

They have not known nor understood: for he hath shut their eyes, that they cannot see; and their hearts, that they cannot understand.

God's Gift

WHAT is the rarest gift that God
Has given to brighten Earth,
The sweetest flower from greenest sod,
The gem of truest worth?
Not wealth or loveliness or song,
Not rank or pride or fame,
Not strength to struggle well and long,
Not youth or ancient name.

Most priceless blessing, richest flower
That Heaven can impart
Is that recurrent tide, that power
Within the human heart
Which will not falter or retreat,
Though great the odds may be;
Which arms man, though he taste defeat,

Shirt Sleeves at The Opera

By Herbert Kaufman

THE several titled guests at the concluding Auditorium performance of the Chicago Civic Opera Company not only witnessed, but sat at elbows, with Romance.

Surrounding loges were filled with Horatio Alger stories, come true. Hardly a boxholder there but who sprang from humble parentage or early privation.

A great packer, whose father had slaughtered and peddled beef, faced a second generation of harvester kings, inheriting directly from the farm lad inventor of the reaping machine.

A pants salesman, become master merchant of all time and the foremost philanthropist of his race, chuckingly confided to a former newsboy (long since a financial magnate) how he had scrimped for a gallery seat at his first operatic attendance.

A stenographer, risen to presidency of a transcontinental railway system, harked back to an adolescent friend of days when that youth's own uncles were starting fortunes and political careers in a jerk-water Iowa town.

A red-headed office boy, who lived to control the biggest retail concern on earth, discussed World Fair plans with a legal authority, whose grandmother took in washing and boarders.

They heard of the millions and industrial power of a leading opera sponsor. Yet it's dimes to doughnuts, that no one told how he played cabin boy on that momentous voyage into possibility, when Edison launched his incandescent dream.

European conceptions of the American spirit would be much more accurate and correspondingly sympathetic, if our struggles and initiative were oftener sung, and the balance sheets of success less blatantly flaunted.

Continental races wouldn't grudge our riches half so intensely if Yankee brag weren't constantly gold-plating Uncle Sam and snobbishly clothing him with popinjay feathers.

No folk in history was ever so intrinsically simple and genuinely kind.

We are prodigious money-makers and inclined to crow about it. But our dollars are filled with imagination—with pity—with sense of duty.

The whole caboodle of previous centuries can't match the benevolence of these United States—its musical endowments—its educational and medical foundations—its gifts to art—or its contributions to charity.

It's his check book that brings the supreme exponents of their works here, and unselfishly guarantees salaries to the pipers, when the box office can't meet the obligation.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 11.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early with Meredith Nicholson, the Hoosier councilman, to wander through the Bowery, which has become a custom when he comes to town, and we bought a green, pink and yellow hook-on tie from a pushcart to send Kin Hubbard.

Then to a horologist with my desk clock which began merrily to run backward, and he tells me there are still old time clock winders in New York who go to private homes weekly to wind clocks. So walking about and picked up a lady's purse and returned it, but received scant thanks.

In the evening with Tom and Marie Hogg, from San Antonio, and Will Rogers to Dinty Moore's for corn beef and cabbage, and Will could eat but little for people who came over to inquire if he remembered them when he was playing Walla Walla or Oshkosh, and he remembered them all, the liar. To bed.

New York's doormen are becoming so important they are being apotheosized in pen and ink drawings in fashionable periodicals. From a simple uniform of blue with cap to match, they have progressed to gorgeous costumes, caparisoned in gold and silver, and patent leather top boots.

Some uniforms cost $500. It has been found a flossy doorman is as important as a glittering window display. Jewelry and specialty shops, perfume parlors and dressmaking establishments discovered women adore the queenly feeling of attention by a major domo in all his splendor.

The doorman is no petty grubber these days. With salaries as high as $40 a week and tips often doubling that, he has almost left the glorified head waiter in the well known shade. Most of them are husky young Celts, fine of figure and full of blarney.

They stand as a symbol of class and distinction, and because they have an unerring instinct for a counterfeit humanity it becomes highly important in New York to know them. On Broadway their dress is a little more garish—especially in front of movie palaces.

Here they duke it up with high furred headgear with chin straps, carry swords and such trappings, but over eastward they have that dignified mangnificence of an English butler. And they rule their portals as Czars.

* * *

A new hotel on an upper strip of the avenue tried to wean a well-known doorman — a fellow who knew all the Onderdoncks and Vangilts personally—from another hotel in the neighborhood. A spirited bidding began, and in the end the new hotel got him at a salary that came within a small sum of equaling that of the managing director. Every delicatessen and sandwich parlor of importance now has its doorman for the carriage trade.

And the page boys, not much bigger than Roger Wolfe Kahn, with tambourine caps and pouter pigeon-cut uniforms in the afternoon tearooms rate a few lines. They have become a striking part of the scenic flubdubbery with their costumes of flaming red, lavender, snow white and green. Many have been imported from the swank establishments of London and Paris. And are considered "cute" as everything.

In the ultra hotels the elevator operators change to evening costumes at 6 o'clock. At the Ritz they wear braided tail coats, with knee length silk pantaloons, black silk long stockings and silver buckled pumps and to ride with them and chew gum is a perfect circus.

* * *

A newspaper columnist friend—you have to mix up with all sorts in this kind of work—just asked me what had become of those middle-aged elevator operators who wore derby hats, puffed a pipe on duty and also had a high stool upon which to rest when duties were not rushing.

From a bank's essay on thrift: "Saving requires intelligence. The penny wise and pound foolish are like those whose idea of thrift is in saving old strings, rubber bands, corks and letter clips. They get nowhere."

Certainly no comfort there for a paper bag putter away.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

IT IS a mark of weakness to seek sympathy.

To allow yourself to be pitied is to lessen your chance of recovering the position lost.

There are those who are sincere in offering sympathy, especially when bereavement comes.

It should be accepted in the spirit which prompts it, but it should not be from your seeking words of comfort at the hands of your friends.

There are those who go to extremes in offering sympathy in financial troubles.

Usually it is about all they have to offer—no practical help.

The one you approach with this attitude loses confidence in you.

If you are a good sport and want to be admired you will insist upon standing on your own foundation.

None admires a weakling, a weak-kneed, poor sport who is ready to cry out when hurt and wants to be babied.

But hats off every time to the one who has the courage and the grit to keep going in the face of bitter trial and disappointment.
